In these days when book reading is the privilege of the many and not the luxury of the few, it is natural that PRESENTS OF BOOKS should be popular. The prices are so low that it would be better to give two Books too many than one too few, and we would remind our friends that too much of a good thing is AN ABSOLUTE IMPOSSIBILITY.

PRESS OPINIONS:—

The Herald says: "Under Mr. Geo. Rignold's management 'The English Rose' has been superbly staged and strongly cast, with the assistance of several artists not previously seen with the company. Chief amongst these stands that sterling English comedian, Mr. Lionel Rignold, whose first appearance on the Australian stage was very cordially welcomed by the great audience."

The Telegraph says: "A first-class production, strongly cast. Mr. Lionel Rignold is irresistibly funny, without being clownish. To a great capacity for humour he adds exceedingly clever technique in which nothing is wanting or inconsistent."

The Evening News says: "The scenery and stage management is perfect as usual, the steeplechase scene, in which two real horses are introduced, creating much excitement. Mr. Lionel Rignold invests the character of Nickodemus Dickinson with a rich humour all his own, and makes it stand out as a lifelike sketch."

The Star says: "It would be difficult to conceive a more emphatically favourable reception than that accorded on Saturday night to 'The English Rose.' The reception accorded to Mr. Lionel Rignold was quite worthy of the actor's high reputation, and so indeed was his performance."

The Echo says: "The production was a triumph for authors, actor, and all concerned. The audience never wavered for an instant in its approval. Mr. Lionel Rignold received a most demonstrative welcome, and retained the favour of the house from first to last."

The Sunday Times says: "Mr. Lionel Rignold's first entrance was the signal for a storm of applause, and with his halting gait and peculiar chuckle scored a legitimate success."

Truth says: "The production was complete in every respect, and was received with every demonstration of approval."

Medical, Chemicals, &c.

ABRAHAM'S PILLS are prepared entirely from the vegetable MATERIA MEDICA, and do not contain any mercurial or mineral preparation whatever, and as they gently stimulate the liver and act mildly on the bowels, will be found exceedingly useful where habitual costiveness exists, and being also tonic in their character, no feeling of weakness or prostration will be experienced after taking them, as is often the case after ordinary pills.

As a GENERAL FAMILY MEDICINE they are invaluable, for they may be safely taken by either sex at any time; and as no alteration of diet or confinement to the house is necessitated, they will be found particularly beneficial, for they can thus be taken directly any symptoms of indisposition appear.

In Boxes, 1s, 2s, and 5s.

TO THE RATEPAYERS OF MACQUARIE WARD.

Gentlemen,—I have again to thank you and the electors of East Sydney generally for the kindness you have shown me in re-electing me without opposition to a position of honour amongst you as one of your representatives in the Municipal Council of Sydney.

As a public man of long standing, your unswerving confidence, so often shown, is a clear index that I have had the good fortune to retain fully my personal and political friendships.

In returning you my sincere and grateful thanks, I cannot conclude without expressing to my esteemed colleagues, Messrs. Michael Chapman and S. E. Lees, M.P., deep appreciation of the effective manner in which they have borne the responsibility of the full representation of the ward; and to the Aldermen generally my fullest assurance that the municipal work carried out by them in the city of Sydney will bear more than favourable comparison with the results produced in cities of far greater magnitude, where municipal institutions have been in existence—not as with us for a comparatively short period, but for centuries.

I have the honour to be
Yours obediently,
SYDNEY BURDEKIN.

THE MYSTERIOUS DISCOVERIES.

CONCLUSION OF THE INQUEST.

VERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER.

The inquiry which was opened at the City Coroner's Court on Monday, the 7th instant, into the circumstances surrounding the deaths of the five infants whose bodies were found buried in the back yard of the house known as 25 Burren-street, Macdonaldtown, was concluded yesterday morning by the City Coroner (Mr. Woore). John Makin (aged 50), Sarah Makin, his wife (aged 46), and their two daughters, Blanche (aged 17), and Florence (aged 14), who have been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the deaths, were present at the inquiry, and were represented by Mr. T. M. Williamson.

The taking of the evidence was concluded last Friday, and the inquiry was then adjourned till yesterday morning to enable the Coroner to go carefully through the depositions, which were of such length as to cover 333 pages of foolscap.

The Coroner, on taking his seat yesterday, proceeded at once with his summing up. He said he did not think it necessary to review the evidence except in so far as it threw light upon what he regarded as the more important facts of the case, viz., the identity of the body distinguished as No. 4, and the cause of death. There was before the jurors a chain of circumstantial evidence, which he trusted would enable them to arrive at a definite and satisfactory conclusion. With regard to the question of the identity of the deceased, he wished to remind the jurors that the remains were so decomposed they could not be recognised. Dr. Milford had, however, stated that, at the time of death, the deceased was from six to eight months old; and that it had been buried from 12 to 15 weeks. The doctor had further said that, although there was really nothing to indicate the sex of the deceased, yet he was convinced that it was a female. Some hair had been shown by Dr. Milford, and both Minnie Davies and Horace Bothamley had stated that it was like the hair of their child. The coroner reviewed the evidence, and pointed out that the time that the No. 4 body had been buried would correspond with the time that Minnie Davies's child had been dead. The question for the jury was whether the No. 4 body was Minnie Davies's child. He (the coroner) did not think that it required any strain of reason to arrive at the conclusion that the No. 4 body was that of Minnie Davies's child. He would ask, which would be the more reasonable to believe—that No. 4 body was identical with Minnie Davies's child or that it was not? What evidence was there to justify the belief that it was not hers? He was of opinion that if the jury believed the evidence they would be justified in finding that No. 4 body was identical with Minnie Davies's child. Of the six other bodies found in the yard at Burren-street, none could have been Minnie Davies's child. Touching the cause of death, he said that, according to the evidence, Minnie Davies's child was a strong one at birth and perfectly formed. It had thrived extremely well on the food (Nestle's milk) which had been given to it. There being no evidence of any cause of death, would it not be most reasonable and logical to conclude that the child had died from some form of starvation? Dr. Milford had said that no food or insufficient food would cause marasmus, which was really starvation. There was no doubt that the child taken to Dr. Agassiz was Minnie Davies's child; the evidence showed that it was, and Dr. Agassiz had said that the child was suffering from marasmus. If the jury believed the evidence they would be perfectly justified in finding that the cause of death was starvation. If so, then they would have to answer the question whether it was wilful starvation, and, if so, who was culpable. The Makins had entered into a direct contract to keep and take care of the child for 10s a week. According to the Coroners Act, the omission of a duty to protect life, imposed by a contract, was murder or manslaughter; and so if any person who, having the custody of any person who is helpless, left him or her without food or with insufficient food, and so caused the person's death, such person was guilty of murder. If the Makins had not wilfully caused the death, why had they told so many lies about the child? Why had they sworn they did not take any child with them to Burren-street except their own little boy? It had been proved they took Minnie Davies's child with them to Burren-street. Why did they say the parents had taken the child away? It had been proved the child died in that house, and Bothamley paid John Makin £2 for its burial. Why was the death not registered? Why was not a certificate obtained? Was it because the Makins feared the risk of inquiry? Perhaps they thought it safer to keep the death quiet, and bury the body like a dog in the back yard. If they did not bury the body in the back yard, where did they bury it? If they employed an undertaker to bury it, why did they not call the undertaker to give evidence? Why did the Makins change their name twice within a short period? Why did they move so quickly from house to house? Then there was the story of the pick and shovel borrowed by Makin from his neighbour, Hill? Makin said, when he borrowed the tools, that he wanted to do some gardening. The tools bore earth marks when they were returned to Hill, but the evidence given proved that Makin had done nothing in the shape of gardening. On the contrary, the few plants that were growing when Makin took the house were trodden down and dead when he left. It had been said the child appeared to be well cared for. Was it well cared for? It might be asked, "What motive had the Makins for starving the child?" They were to get 10s a week for its maintenance, and the clothes were found by the parents. Why, then, should they kill it? If they gave the child just food enough to keep it alive it would live long enough to answer their purpose. They would take the 10s a week, and then when the child died they would get a sum for burying it, and there would be a further sum obtained by pawning the clothes. The child was always clean and decent and apparently well cared for, and was taken about freely among the neighbours. Was it used as a stalking-horse? Was it used to prevent suspicion? Miss Todd's child was adopted for a sum of £3. How was it the neighbours never saw that child at all? What did the jury gather from all this? Did it mean innocence or guilt? If the jury believed that the No. 4 child was identical with Minnie Davies's child, and if the jury believed its death was wilfully caused by John and Sarah Makin, it would be open for the jury to return a verdict of wilful murder. As to Blanche and Florence Makin the case was different. Possibly their mouths were shut by their parents. The matter brought to light by the present inquiry, and the inquiries which preceded it, were too strongly and horribly suggestive of immorality and crime of the deepest dye. There had been disclosed a state of things which was a scandalous disgrace to a civilised community, and which would be an enduring blot upon the fair fame of this city. Failure of justice would be a national calamity. He trusted justice would be done, and that the ghastly revelations of the past few weeks would increase the vigilance of the officers of the law and of the public generally. It was morally, if not legally, the duty of every person to assist the police by giving information when any suspicious circumstance came under his notice.

Mr. T. M. Williamson (solicitor for the Makins): Will your Worship, before the jury retires——

The Coroner: I will say no more, sir.

Mr. Williamson: But I was going to say——

The Coroner: I will say no more.

Mr. Williamson: But——

The Coroner: Will you sit down, sir?

Mr. Williamson: Perhaps your Worship will hear me?

The Coroner: Will you sit down?

Mr. Williamson: Surely you will not manifest an autocratic position.

The Coroner: Sit down, sir.

Mr. Williamson: Of course, if you won't listen to me, it can't be helped.

At 19 minutes to 11 o'clock the jury retired to consider their verdict, and took with them the whole of the evidence in the case, covering 333 pages of foolscap, and a book of Coroner's Instructions.

After a retirement of 65 minutes, the jury returned into court. As they came in the Makins became slightly agitated, and Mrs. Makin moaned occasionally.

The Coroner: Have the jury agreed upon a verdict, Mr. Foreman?

The foreman: Yes, your Worship.

The Coroner: What is it?

The foreman: We find that the infant No. 4 is identical with the child of Minnie Davies and Horace Bothamley. We further find John and Sarah Makin guilty of manslaughter. There is not sufficient evidence before us to connect Blanche and Florence Makin with a guilty knowledge.

The Coroner: Very well, sir.

The verdict was then taken down and read over by the deposition clerk.

The Coroner: Is that your verdict, Mr. Foreman?

The foreman: Yes, your Worship.

The Coroner: So says your foreman, so say you all?

Mr. Williamson: Will your Worship allow me to point out——

The Coroner: Will you sit down, sir?

Mr. Williamson: But, your Worship, I would like to point out——

The Coroner (excitedly): Sit down, sir; sit down!

Mr. Williamson: But I am in duty bound——

The Coroner: You are not in duty bound at all.

Mr. Williamson: I am in duty bound——

The Coroner (excitedly): Sit down, will you?

Mr. Williamson: (continuing) ——to point out, that the jury never said anything about marasmus, as was read out by the clerk.

The Coroner (very excitedly): Will you sit down? This is not a time for you to address the jury. Please allow me to address them.

Mr. Williamson: The jury did not say anything about marasmus.

The Coroner: Will you drive me to extremes?

Mr. Williamson: You may take extremes; there is another place to follow it up.

The Coroner (to the jury): Do you wish the verdict altered, gentlemen?

The foreman: No, sir, we do not. That is our verdict, and we do not wish it altered.

The Coroner: John Makin, Sarah Makin, you are committed to take your trial at the Criminal Court now sitting at Darlinghurst.

At this stage, Blanche and Florence Makin embraced each other and cried. After remaining in that position for one or two minutes, Florence partially fainted. Some water was thrown on her face, and she started up and was taken outside, where she quickly revived. As she was being taken out, Blanche Makin cried out, "God help my poor mother!" and wept bitterly.

Mrs. Makin: Don't cry, my child; there's a God in heaven, and I will get justice in a higher Court. I will get justice.

Mr. Williamson (to the Coroner): At this stage, I will ask for bail.

The Coroner: Certainly not.

Mr. Williamson: You can only take cognisance of the fact that the verdict was manslaughter, and that they are entitled——

The Coroner: I have a discretion and I intend to use it. I refuse bail.

Mrs. Makin (moaning): "Oh! why didn't they tell the truth? Oh! oh! God forgive them; God forgive them! Oh! they will kill me." Shortly after she fell down on the floor in a partial faint, but speedily recovered and was removed to one of the court forms, where Blanche and Florence were also then seated.

The witnesses were then bound over to appear at the trial at the Criminal Court.

POLICE.

Captain Arthur Money Fisher, S.M., presided at the Central Police Court yesterday. Elizabeth Woodhouse, 32, having used obscene language in Belmore Park, was fined £3; in default, two months' imprisonment. Phyllis Tollis, 23, was fined £2, with the alternative of one month's imprisonment, for having behaved in a riotous manner in Sussex-street. John Henry was ordered to be imprisoned for six months, with hard labour, for having stolen some boots valued at 25s, the property of John Murphy. Ah Sing was charged with having stolen a £5-note, the property of Tommy Chong. The evidence tended to show that as the prosecutor was taking some money out of his purse the accused snatched the note and made off. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Mr. Brooks, D.S.M., presided at the Water Police Court. Robert Shaw, aged 34, labourer, was charged with soliciting alms. The evidence showed that on Sunday afternoon the accused was in Charlotte-place, and within the space of a few minutes asked seven gentlemen for money. When refused he used foul language. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment. Richard H. Thompson was charged on remand with unlawfully supplying seamen to the s.s. Tweed. Mr. Schraeder, who appeared for the defence, asked for an adjournment, as the captain of the Tweed, a material witness, was absent. Mr. John M'Lachlan, who appeared for the prosecution, said that there was now no chance of the case which had been brought to the Supreme Court being decided before February or March next. Mr. Schraeder said he only wanted a postponement until the arrival of the captain. After some discussion, the defendant was further remanded until Wednesday next, on the same bail as before. Edward Rowland, aged 28, no occupation, was charged with vagrancy. Two constables deposed that they knew the accused for three or four years, during which time he had done no work, and was the continual associate of the larrikins and loafers of Woolloomooloo. The mother of the defendant, a respectable looking, elderly woman, asked that the accused be discharged. If he was let off she would at once send him to his brother in the country. Mr. Brooks said there were no less than 11 previous convictions against the accused. He must go to gaol for four months with hard labour. A young man pleaded guilty to having used foul language. Mr. Brooks asked what the words complained of were. Senior-sergeant Garrick stated that the constable who had arrested the accused was unable to be present, as he was engaged at the sittings of the Criminal Court at Darlinghurst. Mr. Brooks said he could not deal with the case unless he knew what was the language used. The accused was discharged. Henry Sinclair, or Richard Sweetman, aged 21, labourer, pleaded guilty to having been drunk in Palmer-street. The accused came into court with his eyes blackened, and his face very much disfigured. He appeared to be very weak. Senior-constable Griffiths said that before being arrested the defendant had been assaulted and badly illused by a number of larrikins. The accused said that he had been treated in the hospital, where two of his ribs were found to be broken. He was fined 10s; in default, 24 hours' imprisonment. Michael O'Halloran, aged 21, labourer, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly in Ocean-street, Woollahra, and with having assaulted Constable Freeland when arrested by him. He was fined £4; in default, nine weeks' imprisonment. Peter Granall, a young man, pleaded guilty to having stolen wearing apparel, value £2, from the schooner Malcolm, and also to having stolen a boat, value £8, belonging to the same vessel. The accused was seen by a watchman taking the boat, and the wearing apparel stolen was subsequently found at his lodgings. He was sent to gaol for six months. C. Raove, aged 24, seaman, was fined 10s, in default three weeks' imprisonment, for having stolen a lantern, value 10s, from where it was placed at an excavation at the Circular Quay to warn passers-by and vehicles. Chas. Marath, aged 28, chemist, was charged with having made use of an illicit still in premises in Frenchman's-road, Randwick. The accused pleaded guilty, and said that he had been out of employment for a considerable time, and as he could not get anything to do he was obliged to resort to this practice. Senior-sergeant Strahan said that the still appeared to have been in work for some considerable time. Mr. Edgar and himself, from information received, proceeded to the house in question about noon on the previous day, and found in the kitchen a still in full blast. There were about 10 or 12 gallons of white spirits in the place. The magistrate fined the defendant £150; in default, six months' imprisonment.

At the North Sydney Police Court, before Mr. Smithers, D.S.M., Thomas Scanlon, 45, labourer, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly on St. Leonards railway station, and further with having damaged a filter, the property of the Government. Scanlon was fined 20s, with an alternative of seven days' imprisonment, for the first offence, and 20s, with 50s damages, or one month's imprisonment, for the second offence. John Uejinsky, 44, a Pole, was charged with having a brush in his possession supposed to have been stolen. Accused was found in the early hours of the morning with the brush in his possession, for which circumstance he could not satisfactorily account. He was sentenced to undergo 48 hours' imprisonment.

At the Redfern Police Court, Hector Colquhoun, 26, was fined 10s, or seven days' imprisonment, for having behaved in a riotous manner in Buckland-street, Waterloo; and for having used profane language, Colquhoun was fined a similar amount, with the same alternative.

Mr. Giles, D.S.M., occupied the bench at Newtown. Margaret Conroy, 60, for being without means of support, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour. James Dalton, 28, a labourer, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour, for having committed a common assault upon a boy of tender years.

Messrs. F. M. Edwards, P.M., and R. Harper, J.P., disposed of the business at the Parramatta Police Court. George Strettles was charged with stealing three pairs of trousers, valued at £2 8s, the property of Thomas Olver, Church-street North, Parramatta. Constable Barter stated that he arrested accused on Saturday. He heard someone sing out, "Stop thief," and he saw the prisoner running away. At the lockup prisoner was charged, when he said he supposed he would get six months. Thomas Olver, tailor, identified the trousers as his property. A young man named Burns said he saw the accused coming out of the shop, and he raised the alarm. When he did, accused threw the bundle into the shop and ran away. Accused pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to four months' imprisonment in Parramatta Gaol. The same prisoner pleaded guilty to a charge of using obscene language. The police stated that the prisoner used the language all the way to the lockup. He was fined £5, in default three months in Parramatta Gaol. The same prisoner was then proceeded against on a charge of being an idle and disorderly person, with no visible lawful means of support. The police gave him a very bad character. Sentenced to two months' imprisonment in Parramatta Gaol, sentences cumulative.

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY.

The annual meeting of the women's branch of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was held in the Centennial Hall on Friday afternoon. By half-past 2 o'clock many hundreds of boys and girls from the Public schools were seated in the body of the hall. On the platform were the Mayoress, Mrs. F. B. Suttor, Miss Suttor, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Severn, Mrs. Allt, and Mrs. M. Harris, with the members of the committee and the hon. secretary (Miss Levvy) and others. Messrs. Trebeck, J. De V. Lamb, Hargreaves, and the Hon. F. B. Suttor, M.L.A., who presided. A large table was covered with handsome prizes for the society's essay competition. A silver medal was the gift of Messrs. Fairfax and Roberts, and a health exerciser was given by Mr. J. C. Oakman. The meeting was opened by singing. Mr. Wiegand presided at the organ; Miss Sheridan Reed led the singing. Before the report was read Mr. Suttor expressed his pleasure in presiding. It was a reproach to mankind that such a society was necessary; but though Australian boys were not more cruel nor thoughtless than those of other countries, a necessity did exist that the claims of animals for just and kind treatment should be placed before them by essay writing and every educational means. He was glad to see that the essay competition had proved so attractive to the pupils of the schools. He deplored the cruel and silly waste of animal and bird life that was going on under the name of "sport," and the consequent destruction of many beautiful creatures that were not injurious to the interest of mankind. He complimented their secretary, Miss Levvy, on her devotion to the work of the society. The report for 1892 was then read, and the adoption of report was moved by Mr. P. N. Trebeck (chairman of the Animals' Protection Society), who in a short address expressed his regret that his society, which by its inspectors watched over the treatment of animals, and punished all cruelty to them, could only number 120 members in this rich and powerful country. Mr. J. De V. Lamb spoke briefly on the work of the woman's branch, and warmly commended its efforts. The Mayoress, with the Minister for Education (Mr. Suttor), then came forward, and, as each book was received from the secretary, the name, with that of the school, was called by Mr. Suttor, and the prizes presented by the Mayoress. About 20 boys from the Vernon were present to receive their prizes, and as each book was handed to the recipient a Xmas card was given. Two hundred prizes had been awarded to the competitors, and 500 essays had been sent in.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28.

No. 1 Jury Court.—(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE and a jury of four.)

CONNELL AND OTHERS V. CLIFFORD AND OTHERS.

Mr. Want, Q.C., and Mr. O'Connor, instructed by Messrs. Sly, Hamilton, and Russell, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Rogers, Q.C., and Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Mr. W. H. Pigott, for the defendants. This was an action brought by plaintiffs, trading as John Connell and Company, against defendants, Clifford, Moore, and Company, to recover damages for breach of contract for the delivery of salmon. The plaintiffs' case was that in January last they entered into a contract with defendants for the purchase of a large consignment of American salmon to arrive, the quantity being 150 half-barrels (no heads) at the price of 4½d per lb., duty paid. Subsequently they agreed to purchase 300 barrels salmon at 4d per lb., duty paid, and 500 half-barrels salmon at 4½d per lb., and by the sale-note all the salmon were guaranteed to be in good merchantable condition. The goods were sold to arrive, and after they were landed they were examined by the plaintiffs' surveyor and apparently found in good condition. In consequence, however, of certain complaints which had been received from plaintiffs' customers who had purchased portion of the consignment of salmon, the rest of the casks were examined, and it was found that while the fish were sound for two-thirds of the depth of the casks the remainder were perfectly rotten, and the fish when lifted tumbled to pieces. Plaintiffs claimed £1215.

The case stands as part heard.

No. 2 Jury Court.—(Before Mr. Justice INNES and a jury of four.)

FINCH V. SIMPSON.

This action, which is one to recover compensation for injuries received by the collapse of the West Sydney hustings during the last general elections, was by consent postponed until next sittings.

ALBERTSON V. ELLIS.

Mr. E. Barton, Q.C., and Mr. Halston, instructed by Mr. T. M. Slattery, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Wise, instructed by Messrs. Sly, Hamilton, and Russell, for the defendant. This was an action under the Employers' Liability Act, brought by Alfred Albertson, a seaman and wharf labourer, against James Cole Ellis, to recover compensation for personal injuries sustained owing to the alleged negligence of defendant's servants. According to the plaintiff's version of the matter, it seems that in September last year he was in the service of the defendant on board the Jubilee, and had been employed by him for three years. Subsequently he went to defendant's office in George-street to be paid off, when he was engaged to go down to defendant's yard to assist in unloading the barque Darra, which was discharging timber and lathes. He was engaged for some time carrying timber from the stern port to the stacks in the yard, and there being a stoppage of work in the hold he was ordered by Lorensen, one of defendant's servants, to go into the hold and bring bundles of laths out. On the morning of the 6th October he had been engaged in this duty for about an hour and a half, and in conveying the laths to the stern port he had to walk partly on a strip of deck and partly on a narrow plank. He was stooping on one occasion to pick up a bundle of laths with both his feet on the loose plank, when he felt the plank tip, and he fell into the after hold on to some timber which had been left on the bottom of the vessel. He received serious injuries to one of his hips, and was laid up and unable to work for a considerable time. He also stated that he was still lame, and believed that he was permanently injured and unable to work as he had done before. Damages were laid at £500. The defendant denied that any negligence had been shown either by him or anyone in his employ.

The case stands as part heard.

No. 3 Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER and a jury of four.)

AKTIEBOLAGET MOLNBACKA-TRYSIL V. BURNS.

Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Dr. Sly, instructed by Messrs. Johnston, Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the plaintiffs; and Sir Julian Salomons, Q.C., Mr. Bruce Smith, and Mr. Butterworth, instructed by Mr. Lewis Levy, for the defendant.

In this case the plaintiffs, the Aktiebolaget Mölnbacka-Trysil, a Norwegian Timber Company, sued Alexander Burns, timber merchant of Sydney, for £500 damages for alleged breach of contract. In 1886 the son of the defendant paid a visit to Europe, and, as it was alleged by the plaintiffs, ordered a cargo of timber from the plaintiffs. The ship Border Chief was chartered to convey the timber to Sydney, but some difficulty arose, and the plaintiffs alleged that the defendant instructed them to sell the timber on his behalf on the best terms obtainable, he bearing any loss. The plaintiffs now sued for damages for the alleged breach of contract by the defendant in refusing to accept the timber, and for the loss involved by the reselling of the timber. The defence set up was a denial of the contract to buy the timber. The defendant further alleged that the plaintiffs had not been ready and willing to deliver the timber to the defendant in accordance with the alleged agreement, and that the plaintiffs had not resold the timber on behalf of the defendant on the best terms obtainable. The transaction out of which the suit arose took place in 1886, but owing to delays, due to the taking of evidence on commission in Norway, and the selling of the timber, the case was not set down for hearing till June last.

The case stands part heard.

In Chambers.—(Before the Mr. Justice INNES.)

GRANT V. CHAUNCEY.

Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Mr. Cecil Way, appeared for the plaintiff, and moved for an order setting aside the decision of Messrs. Vincent Brown, J.P., and W. G. Newton, J.P., at Urana. It appears that on the 22nd June last defendant, Alfred Snell Chauncey, a drover, was charged on the information of Lachlan M'Bean Grant, of Butherwah station, in the Urana district, with neglecting to give complainant notice under the 17th section of the Diseases in Stock Act while taking travelling sheep through complainant's unenclosed run. Counsel stated that the defendant while droving the sheep came to what was known as a "sheep break" on the complainant's run. He drove the sheep through there and came to an enclosure of between two and three acres, which the evidence showed was really a yard used by Grant. There was also evidence that a portion of this was fenced and the remainder surrounded by a lagoon. The Bench decided that under the circumstances stated the run was enclosed within the meaning of the Act, and that the defendant was therefore not called upon to give the pastoral tenant notice. They dismissed, then, the information. Mr. Stephen now contended that whether the lagoon was to be deemed a fence or not, this was merely a yard of two or three acres, and the Act required that the run should be fenced off from the road, which it was not. The enclosure spoken of by the defendant in the case was included in the run itself, and no one had a right to camp there without giving proper notice.

His HONOR said he would look at the case and give his decision on a future day.

BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES V. COWAN.

Mr. Schraeder appeared for the defendant, and moved for a change of venue from Sydney to Goulburn. The action was one of ejectment by the bank to recover possession of land situated in the Goulburn district and at present in the possession of the defendant. Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, appeared for the plaintiff to oppose the motion. Mr. Schraeder contended that as the action was one of ejectment it should be locally tried; but Mr. Stephen submitted that if the case was removed to Goulburn it would involve very heavy expense to the plaintiff.

His HONOR reserved judgment.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN, Chief Judge in Equity.)

UNION BANK OF AUSTRALIA V. FISHER AND OTHERS (PART HEARD).

Sir Julian Salomons, Q.C., Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Mr. Knox, instructed by Messrs. Johnson, Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the plaintiff, the Union Bank of Australia, Limited; Mr. Want, Q.C., Mr. A. H. Simpson, and Mr. Lingen, instructed by Mr. H. Macaush, appeared for the defendants, Donnelly Fisher, Henry Ralfe, and Herbert Salwey. The defendant Jane Robertson (administratrix of the estate of Thomas Robertson, deceased) was not represented by counsel.

The hearing of this matter was commenced on 8th November. The plaintiff bank sued for the recovery of the title deeds of certain lands known as Dover Heights, loaded on the 10th July, 1888, to the defendant Salwey, then a partner in the firm of Fisher, Ralfe, and Salwey. The plaintiff bank sought to have it declared that the defendants or some of them were liable to restore the title deeds to the bank, or make good the loss sustained by the bank in consequence of the acts of Salwey; that the defendants Donnelly Fisher, Henry Ralfe, and the defendant Jane Robertson, the lastnamed as administratrix of the estate of Thomas Robertson, might be ordered to make good or perform the undertaking given by the defendant Ralfe to the bank; that it might be referred to the Master in Equity to ascertain the amount of loss and damage sustained by the bank; and that, if necessary, the estate of Thomas Robertson might be administered under the direction of the Court.

Argument was continued, and the case stands part heard.

In Bankruptcy.—(Before His Honor Mr. Justice MANNING.)

MOTIONS UNDER SECTION 130.

RE JAMES TANCRED, EX PARTE THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE; HILL, CLARKE, AND CO., RESPONDENTS.

Mr. Gordon and Mr. R. K. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, appeared for the official assignee, and Mr. H. E. O'Connor and Mr. Knox, instructed by Messrs. Norton and Co., appeared for the respondents. This was an application on behalf of the official assignee for an order declaring void as against the official assignee a certain deed dated April 15, 1891, made between the bankrupt and William Charles Hill and William Clark, and for an order directing the respondents, or one of them, to hand over to the official assignee certain goods, chattels, and effects included therein, and being in and upon certain premises occupied by the bankrupt, and seized and taken possession of by the respondents, or one of them, on or about May 10, 1892, or for an or for an order directing the respondents, or one of them, to pay to the official assignee the value of the goods on the grounds:—1. That the deed was void against the official assignee within the meaning of the statute 13 Elizabeth C. 5. 2. That the goods were at the time of the filing of the petition herein in the apparent possession of the bankrupt within the meaning of the Bills of Sale Act 19 Vic. No. 2. 3. That the said goods were the property of the bankrupt, and formed part of his estate. 4. That the goods were in the order and disposition of the bankrupt at the commencement of his bankruptcy by permission of the true owner thereof under such circumstances that he was the reputed owner.

This matter was settled. The respondent to pay £125 and taxed costs. Respondent's proof to be admitted at £193.

RE CHARLES ALFRED TURNER, EX PARTE THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, CHRISTOPHER HADE RESPONDENT (PART HEARD).

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—MONDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge MURRAY and juries.)

Mr. Healy prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

DEFAULTING JURORS.

Terence Frederick Sweeney, publican, 44 King-street, Sydney, and George Jones, timber merchant, Ashburn-street, Manly, were fined £3 each for non-attendance as jurors.

THE CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY AGAINST NATHAN.

Mr. J. C. Gannon mentioned the case of John Hyam Nathan, a former director of the late Australian Banking Company, who is under committal on a charge of conspiring with Francis Abigail, Roderick M'Namara, and Alexander Hastings Malcolm to defraud William Stimson, Alexander Carlisle, and the shareholders, depositors, and creditors of the Australian Banking Company and the public generally by means of a false balance-sheet. He said he understood that the case was to be heard the first that day. The jury had disagreed at the criminal sittings before the last, and at the last criminal sittings accused formally appeared, and was remanded over until the next sittings, the intention being to take the case at the Quarter Sessions. The case was not taken there, and he understood it was not to be taken that day. Perhaps his Honor would tell him when it would be taken.

His HONOR: It seems to me that it would be inexpedient to take that case before the others, as it is likely to occupy a long time, and all the other cases will be delayed.

Mr. Gannon: Cases of a similar character were taken first last time, and it is four months since Nathan was committed for trial.

His HONOR: I cannot do anything.

Mr. Healy: I shall not be prosecuting in that case, but I do not think it is possible for it to come on before the end of this week.

His HONOR: It would be as well for the Crown to fix a day when it will be taken.

Mr. Gannon: I take it it will not be taken this week.

Mr. Healy: I can't say that, but we will give you formal notice when it will be taken.

The matter then dropped.

UTTERING FORGED BANK NOTES.

James Toogood, a middle-aged man, was charged with uttering a forged bank note on the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney for the payment of £1 at Sydney on 10th November.

The case for the Crown was that on the date in question the accused went into the Paragon Hotel and asked for a drink, tendering in payment what purported to be £1 note on the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney. He received change, then the barmaid discovered that the note was a forgery, and directed the attention of Mr. Watson, the landlord, to the matter. He sent for the police, and Toogood at once admitted that he had passed the note, and said that he had found that one and 12 others near the Mercantile Rowing Club's sheds while gathering rags and bones. On the way to the police station he handed over a dozen forged notes. An officer from the bank said that the forgeries were evidently effected by means of a photograph, and were clumsily executed. The colour was not the same as in the new issue of notes, and although the paper had been specially prepared it was not the same as that on which the genuine notes were printed. The defence was a reiteration of the statement that accused found the notes. He was, however, found guilty and remanded for sentence.

Frederick Davel, a young man, was charged with uttering a forged bank note for £1 on the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney with intent to defraud, at Sydney, on 9th November. The evidence for the prosecution was that on 9th November the accused went into the Port Jackson Hotel and called for a flask of whisky, tendering in payment what purported to be a £1 note on the Commercial Banking Company. He received 18s 6d in change, but, as soon as he had left the hotel, the barmaid discovered that the note, which was the only one she had taken that evening, was a forgery. The barmaid swore positively to the identity of Davel, and other witnesses said that earlier in the day the same man had gone into the Exchange Hotel, and, after having drinks, had received 18s 9d in exchange for another note, which was also found to be forged. He also went into a cigar shop and got off another spurious note. When arrested on the 10th instant, he said that he had received the notes, which he admitted uttering, from a bookmaker coming in from Randwick on the previous day. As a matter of fact there was no race meeting at Randwick on 9th November. The jury found the prisoner guilty, and a number of previous convictions were proved against him, and he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, with hard labour in Goulburn Gaol.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

Malcolm M'Pherson Leslie, a young man, pleaded guilty to a series of embezzlements from the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank at Paddington, where he was employed as a clerk. It was stated that the prisoner's defalcations, which had extended over several months, amounted to about £500, and he was remanded for sentence.

ALLEGED ASSAULT AND ROBBERY.

Geo. Thomas and John Donahue, young men, were charged with assaulting a Chinaman named James Ah Sow in company, and robbing him of 10s 6d, on 14th November. The Chinaman's story was that at about 20 minutes past 11 o'clock on the night in question he was proceeding along Essex-street when the two men came up to him. Donahue put his arm round Ah Sow's neck and pulled him on to the ground, and while he was lying there put his hand in his waistcoat pocket and took 10s out. Thomas then demanded some more money from him, and received sixpence, all the Chinaman had left. The Celestial at once gave information to the police, and the men were arrested about 1 o'clock the next morning. Both denied having assaulted Ah Sow, but admitted having received sixpence from him.

The accused were found not guilty, and discharged.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.

William Morris Rogers, a middle-aged man, was charged with obtaining a quantity of furniture and £2 10s from a Chinaman named Sun War Hop, by means of a valueless cheque. It was stated by the witnesses for the prosecution that on the 23rd October accused went to the Chinaman's place in Castlereagh-street and purchased from him a quantity of furniture. In payment he gave a cheque on the Australian Joint Stock Bank, Kempsey, for £14 4s, and received £2 10s in change. It was shown that the cheque, which was signed W. M. Rogers, was valueless, as accused had no account in the bank. Accused gave evidence, and swore that when he gave the cheque he was under the impression that an account had been opened in the bank in his name. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and prisoner, who had several times been convicted of false pretences, and amongst other sentences had received four years' penal servitude, was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol, to begin at the expiry of a sentence of six months he is now serving for a similar offence.

The Court then adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

PARRAMATTA QUARTER SESSIONS.

MONDAY.

(Before his Honor Mr. District Court Judge BACKHOUSE.)

Mr. Walter Bevan appeared for the Crown.

NEW MAGISTRATES.

George M'Credie, Mayor of Prospect and Sherwood, and William Champion, Barranjoey, Broken Bay, were sworn in as magistrates of the colony.

BIGAMY.

Alfred Loftus was presented on an indictment charging him with that he did on 16th May, 1892, at Waverley, marry Minnie Whittaker, his wife, Catherine Shields, to whom he was married at Auckland, New Zealand, on December 18, 1885, being then alive.

The accused made a long statement, in which he said that he came over to this colony with his wife and went to manage a farm for his mother. His wife acted all right at first, and then began to neglect her home and devote her attention to amusements. She went to a picnic and did not return for a fortnight, when she asked him to take her back, saying that she had been at service. He took her back, and after he had saved some money his wife again ran away, taking the money with her. He was then arrested for wife desertion, but discharged. He went back to his work and was then sued for maintenance, but his wife did not appear against him. They then obtained a situation as a married couple, to manage a farm, but his wife again left him. He then fell in with Minnie Whittaker, and after a time her father came to him and demanded that he should marry her. The father explained that a new law was coming into force and it would be all right. He also promised to get him a Government billet. He told Whittaker that he was a married man. He eventually married the girl, and afterwards found out that she had had a child some years before, and had registered its death as a married woman.

Catherine Loftus denied that she left accused. He had illtreated her, and she had to leave him and go to service.

Minnie Whittaker gave evidence to the effect that she went through a form of marriage with accused, and lived with him for about six months. He treated her badly. She had been a widow for seven years before she married accused. She had registered the death of her child in her proper name.

His HONOR said the accused had not made his case any better by his statement, and he had made assertions which he (Judge Backhouse) believed to be absolutely untrue. He ordered him to be imprisoned with hard labour in Parramatta Gaol for a period of 18 months.

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

David Barter, aged about 19, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting Ellen Smith, aged seven years, at Bossley Park, near Liverpool, on the 6th October last. Mr. W. Lindsay appeared for the accused.

His HONOR said, after questioning the child as to the nature of an oath, that it was a pity the child had not been instructed in this matter before she came into court. He had to be satisfied that she understood the duty of speaking the truth before she could make the declaration. The section under the Amended Criminal Act made it more difficult than it had been before. His Honor suggested that the Crown Prosecutor should enter a nolle prosequi, and then there would be nothing to prevent him taking further proceedings. The Crown Prosecutor accepted the suggestion. The prisoner and the jury were then discharged, his Honor remarking that it was great pity, in the interests of the public, that the innocence or guilt of the accused could not be determined on.

The Court then adjourned sine die.

THE LOSS OF THE STEAMER MARVEL.

The Marine Board held an inquiry yesterday into the cause of the foundering of the steamer Marvel off Shoalhaven pilot station last Thursday night. Captain Hixson, R.N., presided. Mr. Walter Thompson, of Messrs. Richardson and Thompson, attended on behalf of certain insurance companies to watch the proceedings.

Robert Arthur, master of the steamer, deposed that he held a master's coast trade certificate from the board. No one was lost or hurt. The Marvel was a screw steamer, 49 tons, owned by George Dent. The steamer foundered about four miles east of Kinghorn light, off Shoalhaven pilot station. Witness saw her founder, and he was quite sure she went to the bottom. It was at half-past 10 last Thursday night. Witness and crew—four all told—took to the boat. The steamer was on a voyage from Jervis Bay to Sydney, and was laden with hardwood logs. She was loaded up to within 6in. of the Plimsoll mark. The wind was E. to E. by S.E. There was a heavy sea on. The boat landed at Abraham's Bosom at 2 o'clock next morning. He had been in charge of the vessel 12 months last June. She was a new vessel. He had been engaged in the same work before. He left Jervis Bay at 7 p.m., and cleared the Heads at 8 p.m. All was well on board then. At half-past 8 he gave the mate charge of the vessel, which was then off Crocodile Head. At 20 minutes past 9 the engineer called witness, and told him the water was over the crank shaft. He told him to keep her west by north-west. Witness took the wheel himself. He started the deck pump. At that time three pumps were being worked by the engine, and they were discharging freely. He kept her in west with the intention of beaching her. About 20 minutes after that the engineer sang out that the water was putting the fires out. The boat was launched and all hands got in it. They waited in the boat 10 minutes before the steamer went down. Finding he could not beach the vessel he went in the boat to Abraham's Bosom. He attributed the leakage to the wear and tear the vessel was subjected to in getting in coal at South Bulli, where coal to the amount of seven and a half tons was dumped into the hold at one time. He was not sure that was the cause of the leakage. The steamer was a wooden vessel. She had not a Marine Board certificate. She was last sighted in Rowntree's Dock in February. She was then in good condition. He had known her to leak before then and take up again. When he left Jervis Bay he thought the vessel was perfectly safe. The water came in the main hold underneath the logs. He was sure of that. Coming out of Carrabeen Creek the vessel struck, bumping once. At the time he did not attach any importance to that. The leak was where the coal was dumped. The easterly sea worked the vessel very much. The vessel foundered 10 minutes after the fires were extinguished. Witness superintended the loading of the logs. The logs were so stowed that when the vessel got to sea the ends of the logs could not work through the sides of the vessel. The logs were thoroughly stowed. After crossing the bar the weather was fine; wind E.S.E. The well was sounded at about half-past 7, and was found to be dry. He was between 7 and 8 miles off the coast before he headed the steamer for land. When he left the vessel there was, he believed, water 3ft. 6in. deep in her. John Austin, the engineer, deposed that he had been on the vessel for 5½ months. He put the ejector pump on before he called the captain. The bilge pump was also going. Both were pumping freely. He did all he could to pump the water out of the ship; but the water continued to gain upon them. The ship's pump—a double-action pump—was also set going. The water gained so much that it put the fires out. He saw the vessel founder. She went down about a quarter of an hour after they got into the boat. He believed that the leakage was caused by some of the planks starting. He first noticed that the water was gaining on the bilge pump at 10 minutes or a quarter past 9. When he called the captain there was about 18in. of water in the vessel. Witness held a second-class engineer's certificate. He attributed the leakage to the working of the vessel by the sea. James Windham, mate and deck hand, deposed that he had been in the vessel a little over two months. He took charge off Crocodile Head. All went well till they were past Beecroft. The captain then came up, relieved him, and told him to go to the deck pump. He did as he was ordered. Everything was done that could possibly be done to clear the vessel of water. He saw the vessel founder. He did not save his effects. He lost all his clothes. Going out they touched a rock. They generally touched that rock. He thought they were about three or four miles off land when water was first reported to be in the vessel. There was a good easterly ground swell. The vessel had laboured a great deal. Richard Davies, fireman, was also examined. Everything was, he said, done that could be done to get the water out of the vessel. The steamer was a stanch vessel. She was quite seaworthy when she left Jervis Bay. The water came in the hold underneath the logs. The logs did not work at all. The vessel bumped on a rock coming out of the creek. That was not a common occurrence.

The President said that the board would reserve its decision in that case until the next meeting.

A NEW STEAMSHIP AGENCY.

Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co. have received the appointment of agents for the Northern Pacific S.S. Company. The company was formed last May, and is engaged in the Vancouver, Japan, and China steam trade. It is possible Australia will be included in the company's business in the course of time. The visits paid to Tacoma by the company's vessels are to connect with the North Pacific Railway Company and the coasting lines to San Francisco. Their present service is a tri-weekly one, but changes are in contemplation. This service is in opposition to that known as the Canadian Pacific line, about which much has appeared with respect to the trans-Pacific service to Australia.

THE PORT PIRIE.

By way of Calcutta, under arrangement with the British-India Company, the above well-known Port liner yesterday arrived with part original cargo. She comes inwards to the consignment of Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., representatives of the British-India Company in Sydney, but after she has completed discharge—that is about to-morrow night at the A.U.S.N. Company's Wharf—she will be taken over by the managing agents of the Port line, Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co., by whom she will be despatched home with a wool freight, part of which will be loaded at Newcastle. The Port Pirie left Calcutta on the 23rd October, and experienced fresh south-easterly winds in the Bay of Bengal to Singapore, reached on 31st October. She was detained at that port for three days for cargo, and left on the 4th instant. Strong south-easterly winds were fallen in with off the Australian coast to within 200 miles of Cape Leeuwin, and thence to Adelaide fresh winds and fine weather were experienced. Adelaide was reached on Saturday night, and after the South Australian cargo was discharged a departure was made for Melbourne on Tuesday morning last. Very strong S.W. winds were experienced at starting, increasing to a heavy gale with high seas, which continued to arrival. The steamer lightered her Melbourne cargo, made a short stay, and came along here to follow the Port Chalmers as fast as possible with wool.

THE THERMOPYLÆ.

Again the splendid Aberdeen White Star steamer Thermopylæ is in Sydney waters to take in the wool awaiting shipment by her. The vessel will berth at Messrs. Dalgety's wharf first thing this morning. She has 6300 bales on board from Newcastle, besides sundries. Her Sydney cargo is ready, and she goes hence to Melbourne on Saturday, and thence through Canal for the January sales, which she is bound to catch, and Captain Simpson has no kind of doubt about it.

THE HERMAN WEDEL JARLSBERG.

This steamer arrived from Melbourne yesterday in ballast to load wool here for Europe. She has voyaged to this port before, and lately made a successful run round to Java from Newcastle, and thence with sugar to Melbourne. She left Panarookan on 18th October with over 4000 tons of sugar, and met with southerly winds and a high head sea to Cape Leeuwin, which was reached on 27th October. Strong E.S.E. winds and a high beam sea succeeded, lasting until 30th October, when the wind went northerly. Cape Otway was passed at 11 a.m. on the 3rd instant, and the Heads were entered at 6 p.m. on the same day. When coming out of Melbourne she came into collision, and had to undergo some slight repairs. The vessel is a splendid carrier, and last year took an immense cargo of wool from this port to the old country.

STORMS IN THE SOUTHERN OCEAN.

It was, it is alleged, in one of the wildest storms that blow in the roaring forties along the Southern Ocean that the new steel barque Port Glasgow, bound to Sydney, had such a lively time of it, terminating in a disagreement between the crew and the master. Other vessels bound to Australian ports have been overtaken in similar tempestuous weather. The Atalanta, Hamburg to Melbourne, reports:—On the 7th November the barometer dropped to 28.60, presaging a hurricane. At 7 a.m. Captain Specht took all sail off her except two lower topsails and the foretopmast staysail, the wind at this time blowing with tremendous violence. A high and dangerous sea got up, and at 1 p.m. the barque was hove-to. Another vessel was observed about five miles to leeward, and was made out to be a barque in ballast, also making bad weather of it. She also was hove-to. The wind kept on increasing in violence, and Captain Specht states that in his 40 years' experience at sea he never knew it blow so hard before. He next took the foretopmast staysail in, and soon afterwards both the fore and main lower topsails were blown away, leaving the vessel without a stitch of canvas on her. The sea seemed to come at the Atalanta from all quarters of the compass, and enormous quantities of water were taken on board. In this predicament it became necessary to keep the vessel's head to sea, and as it was impossible to bend new sails on the yards men were sent up into the weather-mizzen rigging, against which they laid a sailcloth, thus driving the vessel's stern to leeward and her head to sea. It was an anxious night for all on board, but when the morning broke the wind moderated slightly, and new topsails were bent. The Marpesia, from New York, reports that on 19th November a hurricane broke from the south, veering to S.W., and after running for a few hours under the topsails the vessel was hove-to. The wind blew with tremendous velocity, and enormous quantities of water came on board, filling the decks fore and aft. The gale continued all through the night, and at 11 o'clock an alarming rumbling noise was heard under the forehatch. It was found that a portion of the cargo had broken adrift and taken charge, thundering about from side to side in the hold as the barque lurched and rolled to the top of the bulwarks. As the decks were full of water it was impossible to get at the cargo to secure it, but gradually the weather moderated, and next day men were sent down to make all fast.

THE WRECK OF THE NORMAND.

STATEMENT OF THE TWO SOLE SURVIVORS.

In our Thursday Island telegram last week it was stated that two men had been found on one of the Pescadore Islands. They were castaways, and at first it was supposed that they would turn out to be two more survivors from the wreck of the P. and O. steamer Bokhara. Such, however, proved unfortunately a mistake. They are the sole survivors from the wreck of another large steamer which went down in the Bokhara typhoon. The men arrived at Hongkong just prior to the departure of the steamer Airlie for Sydney, and they state that the Normand sailed from Nagasaki with a cargo of coal for Singapore on Thursday morning, the 6th October. Till Saturday there was nothing in the weather to call for special notice. It then began to get hazy, so that the crew could not see far ahead. There was a strong N.N.E. gale, increasing in violence and accompanied by a mountainous following sea, which caused the steamer to labour heavily. At 10 o'clock on Sunday night, whilst a S.W. course was being steered, the steamer struck a rock—believed to be Tortoise Rock. Her bottom was torn out, but she remained fast on the rock. As the seas were breaking over her, the crew took to the rigging. On the mizzen mast breaking the survivors were carried away. Both wore lifebelts and managed to secure some of the drifting wreckage, on which they were carried to the island of Pa-chau. The men were tossed about for 17 hours before being cast up on Pa-chau, where they were picked up by fishermen, who treated them with the greatest kindness. When the Normand struck a rush was made by the crew, which was composed of 26 Norwegians all told, for the locker in the forecastle where the lifebelts were kept. All the crew were not successful in securing belts or buoys, and as the men were making for the rigging Captain Jonassen was seen to take off his lifebelt and throw it down on the deck. The second engineer, who is one of the two men saved, urged him to keep the lifebelt, but he obstinately refused, saying the sooner they died the better. The outlook was certainly none too encouraging, and the captain probably thought there was no use battling in such a tremendous surf. The other survivor, a young fellow who formed one of the deck crew, thereupon picked up the lifebelt and fastened it on as he made his way into the rigging with his affrighted shipmates. To the captain's refusal to retain the lifebelt this young man undoubtedly owes his life. Upon the mast going the second engineer was lucky enough to come up near the gangway, and on this he remained more or less till drifted upon Pa-chau. By that time he had been rendered unconscious by the exposure and severe tossing about in the angry sea, and the first thing he was conscious of at Pa-chau was the tugging of the fishermen at a ring on one of his fingers. As soon as the natives discovered that he was still alive he was cared for in such a manner as to receive his most heartfelt thanks.

LOSS OF AN OLD SYDNEY TRADER.—TOTAL WRECK OF THE GRETNA.

Yesterday the steamer Airlie brought news of the total loss of the fine ship Gretna, one of the best known of Guthrie's Village line and an old Sydney trader. A statement of the occurrence given by the third officer of the ship is as follows:—After loading 2400 tons of Cardiff coals at Barry Docks for the Admiralty of Hongkong, she sailed from Cardiff Roads on 9th July last, and had a fair voyage round Cape of Good Hope. Singapore was passed on 19th October, and light winds and calms were encountered till 23rd October. For two days the weather was squally, a moderate sea running the while, and on the evening of 24th October a heavy squall put the vessel aback. She was put on the starboard tack, and about 5 o'clock next morning she was again struck by a heavy squall. However, she came up to her course, which was north, and almost immediately afterwards she ran upon a sunken coral reef. It was getting light at the time, but neither the lookout-man nor the mate saw the slightest indications of the shoal before the vessel struck, while Captain Webster was under the impression that he had passed the Rifleman Shoal. Immediately on striking soundings were taken, with the result that five fathoms of water were found fore and aft. She was making no water, and the captain endeavoured to back her off, and two lifeboats and the longboat were got out and provisioned. Striking a second time, the Gretna remained fast, and she began to leak, water coming in rapidly, and when it became evident that nothing further could be done, the forepart of the vessel settling down and the seas washing over, the boats were pushed off, lying about in the vicinity of the wreck till 6 o'clock. The captain and second mate commanded the first lifeboat, the first mate and third mate the second lifeboat, and Swift, able seaman, the longboat. The crew of 24 hands were divided amongst the three boats. It was decided to make for Saigon. The sails having been lost, the men took some canvas that was in the boats and rigged up rough sails. On Friday, 28th October, there was a strong wind which compelled them to heave to for the night, and on the following morning the boats parted company. After a good deal of suffering the crews were picked up and landed.

A MAIDEN VOYAGE IN BALLAST.

The new steamship Alberta arrived yesterday from West Hartlepool direct, having accomplished the run out to Australia without a stoppage. It will be remembered that a steamer of the same name was wrecked some time ago near the Tweed River Heads, and this new vessel has been built to replace her. The Alberta is owned by Messrs. W. Tapscott and Co., of Liverpool, who are also owners of the Algoma, Alderley, and other steamers. The Alberta is a cargo carrier pure and simple, her capacity being equal to 7000 tons dead weight. She was built by Messrs. W. Gray and Co., Limited, at West Hartlepool, and launched in September last. Her tonnage is 4693 gross, 4408 underdeck, and 3162 net register. The dimensions of the hull are: Length 356ft., beam 46ft. 6in., and depth of hold 26ft. 5in. The vessel has a poop-deck 80ft. long, forecastle deck 38ft., and has a bridge deck amidships measuring 96ft. The engines were supplied by the Central Marine Engineering Works, West Hartlepool. They are on the triple-expansion principle, the cylinders measuring 27in., 44in., and 73in. respectively, with a 48in. piston stroke. The Alberta is fitted with all the latest improvements for working cargo. The officers' quarters are neatly arranged, and there is a cosy saloon tastefully fitted up and decorated with bird's-eye maple, mahogany, and walnut. The electric light is installed throughout the ship. The Alberta is commanded by Captain G. W. Davies, and the deck officers are Mr. Adams, R.N.R. (chief), Mr. Minister, R.N.R. (second), and Mr. Thom (third). Mr. Murray has charge of the engine-room, and is able to give a good report of the working of the machinery on the run out. The captain and chief officer are now on their first visit to Australia. Mr. Minister, the second officer, was in the ship Sobraon at the time she was taken over by the New South Wales Government for a training ship. The Alberta left West Hartlepool on 25th September, had variable winds in the North Sea and English Channel, light north-easterly trades and crossing the equator in 19° W., met with strong southerly trade winds. After rounding the Cape of Good Hope the steamer had strong westerly winds across the Southern Ocean, the highest parallel of latitude being 44° S. The Alberta called at Adelaide for orders on the 23rd instant, and was sent on to Sydney. Entered the Heads at 11.30 a.m. on the 28th, and berthed at Moore's Wharf to load wool. Her agents are Messrs. Balchin, Johnston, and Co.

Honolulu: The Scottish Hero, at 7s. Manila: The Parthenia, at 10s. Antwerp: The Cutty Sark has been taken up for wool at current rates (Sydney loadings). Ruling rates are: For coal (Newcastle loading)—Hongkong, 7s 6d; Manila, 10s; Iloilo, 11s; Java (sail), 10s 6d to 12s, (steam) 8s; Singapore (steam), 6s 6d; San Francisco, 11s 6d; San Diego, 17s; San Pedro, 13s; Honolulu, 11s; Valparaiso, for orders, 10s to 12s; Mauritius, 10s; Macassar, Padang, Cheefoo, Amboyna, Amoy, Penang, and Colombo, nominal. Wool and produce export:—The arrivals to date amount to 37,198 bales, being an increase on the corresponding period of 1891 of 4978 bales. Heavy floods inland have delayed transit and shearing considerably, although the rain has had a beneficial effect in other respects. The departures for the period under notice were:—On the 2nd instant, Damascus, with 3503 bales; 3rd instant, Port Albert (s.), with 2042 bales; the 22nd instant, Port Chalmers (s.), with 1605 bales. The Thermopylæ has left with 6000 bales. All these steamers are for January sales. The Genista clipper ship is also on the berth for March sales, and will have prompt despatch. Mr. R. B. Wallace, in a Newcastle report, says:—Our freight market has shown little animation during the month. The inquiry for tonnage has been only moderate, and the fixtures show no advance on last quotations. The rates of freight given below are now the best obtainable, with little prospect of improvement. Tonnage can be placed for Manila, San Francisco, Singapore, and the West Coast South America. For San Francisco: The departures have taken 8807 tons coal. There is one vessel here to follow with about 2150 tons. Tonnage can be placed at 11s 6d. For San Diego: The Comet has sailed with 920 tons coal, chartered at 15s. There is nothing here at present to load. For Manila: The Treasurer and [illegible] have gone forward with 4243 tons coal, under home charter. The Parthenia is loading about 2000 tons at 10s freight. Further tonnage can be placed. For Honolulu: The Irmgard has sailed with 1076 tons coal on ship's account. The John Smith takes about 850 tons to owner's order. For the West Coast, S. A.: The export is for Valparaiso 12,208 tons, Coquimbo 1552 tons, Antofagasta 1302 tons, and Callao 1000 tons. The tonnage in port to follow is: Estimated capacity for Valparaiso 23,500 tons, Antofagasta 1000 tons, and Totoralillo 2000 tons. The freight now current for orders is 10s to 12s.

Mr. W. Scott Fell, in his Sydney shipping report, says:—Coal freights show a hardening tendency, but owing to most vessels seeking wool and grain charters, coal chartering has been restricted. For outward cargoes to United Kingdom or Continent the demand continues good, and very fair rates are offering. Shale, if anything, rather firmer at the low rates now ruling. Lumber, a little more inquiry. The following fixtures have been effected during the month:—The Comet, 673 tons reg., for San Diego, at 15s; the Gloria, 726 tons reg., for Costa Rica, home charter; the Emerald, 798 tons reg., wool from South Australia for London, private terms; the Dato, 474 tons reg., coal to Western Australia, thence Jarrah timber to London, private terms; the Parthenia, 1353 tons reg., for Manila, home charter; the Mary Jose, 625 tons reg., copra from the islands to Europe, lump sum, private terms; the Signe, 707 tons reg., lump sum, copra, islands to Europe; the Lady Lampson, 412 tons reg., Sydney loading for Honolulu, at 12s; the Orange Grove, 385 tons reg., Rocky Island to Dunedin, N.Z. (guano), 25s; and the Chanca, general to Fiji, thence copra to Europe, private terms. Freights: I quote to-day (Sydney rates) as follow:—San Francisco, 10s; San Pedro, 11s; Honolulu, 12s; Singapore, 8s; Shanghai, 13s; Manila, 9s. Wool: Steamer ½ and ⅜, sailer ⅜ and ½. Tallow, 30s; hides, 15s. Shale: Rotterdam, 19s; Barcelona and Genoa, [illegible] 6d; Liverpool, 19s; Europe for orders, 20s. Mauritius: Manures, 22s 6d. Intercolonial: I cannot report any improvement; rates are dull, and in many cases quotations must be taken as nominal. Auckland, 8s (bonedust, 12s 6d); Bluff, 8s; Timaru, 7s 6d; Port Chalmers, 7s 6d; Nelson, 10s 6d; Oamaru, 8s; Wellington, 8s; Lyttelton, 8s; Napier, 12s 6d; Wanganui, 18s; New Plymouth (Breakwater), 14s 6d; Cleveland Bay (Queensland), 13s; Rocky Island to Dunedin (guano), 25s."

Messrs. C. F. Stokes and Co., Newcastle, report:—We have little of importance to add to our advices of the 29th ultimo. Our freight market has shown little animation during the month. The inquiry for tonnage has been only moderate, and the fixtures show no advance on last quotations. Tonnage can be placed for Manila, Java, San Francisco, Singapore, and the West Coast South America.

A series of prints at the Vienna Musical Exhibition illustrates the history of theatres in Hungary, which dates back to very remote times. In the accounts of 200 years ago it is mentioned that an English troupe of actors played English dramas in Hungary at the Court of Francis Rakoczy when he resided with great pomp and splendour in Transylvania. The actors had come all the way from England in carts and carriages, carrying all their property with them.

THE Customs receipts yesterday amounted to £9103. Towards this the 10 per cent. ad valorem duty contributed £2223, and the 15 per cent. £499.

It is needless to say that the District Government Bill, with its 430 clauses, and its schedules, one of which alone, setting forth a code of building regulations, consists of 67 more, will supply the House with plenty of work in committee. Before reaching that stage, however, there will be some highly debateable questions to be dealt with upon the motion for the second reading. Foremost amongst these is that of the basis of the assessment. Here a radical change is proposed upon the present system. The present basis is nine-tenths of the fair average rental in the case of buildings and improved lands, and 5 per cent. upon the capital value of the fee-simple of unimproved land, and the rates are limited to 1s in the pound for ordinary purposes, and 1s in the pound for special purposes. Under the bill the rule is that the rate shall be charged upon the unimproved capital value of the rateable property. There are two exceptions, viz.: In the case of land leased from the Crown the rent payable will be the value for rating; and in the case of incomplete conditional purchases the whole sum which will have ultimately to be paid will be the rating value. The rule, however, is the unimproved capital value, which is defined as meaning the capital sum for which the fee-simple estate would sell for cash under such reasonable conditions of sale as a bona-fide seller would require, after deducting from such sum the cash value of all improvements on or under the land (with provisoes for certain contingencies). It is further provided that in any borough or urban division of a municipal district the general rate shall not exceed three halfpence, or be less than three farthings, in the pound of the unimproved capital value. These sums represent a maximum of 12s 6d and a minimum of 6s 3d for every £100 of value for the general rate, in addition to which local and special rates may be levied to the aggregate of three farthings in the pound or 6s 3d in the £100 of the capital value. This question of the taxing of unimproved land values has been much discussed, both before and since the visit of Mr. HENRY GEORGE to the colony, and there is a strong current of what may be termed municipal opinion in favour of the principle. The matter, however, is not one to be determined by men who, as members of municipal bodies, are disposed to look upon it through a coloured medium. The idea is that, by adopting it, expenditure on improvements could be forced upon the landowners before their time. It is for the public generally to consider whether the introduction of the project would not produce, in the midst of the present depression, disturbance and a feeling of insecurity which would be the cause of evils greater than those which now arise from the holding of land unimproved in expectation of the unearned increment of value.

The Government, however, has not shown the full courage of its opinions in the adoption of this theory of unimproved values. Whilst making it the rule that is to operate unless anything intervene to set it aside, the bill provides that under certain conditions the ratepayers may set it aside if so disposed. If these conditions should be fulfilled within any municipal area, the council will then have to adopt as the basis of valuing within the municipality the nett annual value, which is defined to mean the amount by way of rent at which the property might be reasonably expected to let from year to year free of all usual or customary tenants' rates and taxes, and after deducting from such amount the probable annual average cost of insurance and other expenses. In that case the rate would in urban divisions and boroughs range from 1s 3d to 2s 6d in the pound of nett annual value, and in rural divisions or shires the range would be from 7½d to 1s 3d in the pound of nett annual value. In this way the Government practically declares itself unable to decide which is the better system, though throwing a certain amount of influence into the scale on the side of the unimproved value taxers; and it also practically declares its disbelief in the competence of the Legislature itself to decide the same question. If the bill should be carried in its present shape, Parliament will accept this disparaging estimate of its own courage or ability, and will leave the country to work out as best it may a sort of piebald system, under the influence, probably, of many forms of local caprice and personal prejudice. It is not a healthy sign when Governments or Parliaments are prepared to evade difficulties by shirking their proper work, and throwing the responsibilities of legislation upon accidental gatherings of electors or ratepayers, neither rightly organised nor placed in circumstances for the just discharge of them.

The conditions under which the unimproved land value basis may be set aside and the nett annual value, with improvements, may be substituted for it, are these: twenty ratepayers may demand in writing that the matter shall be submitted to a ratepayers' vote; this vote will be taken as at an election; and then, if an adverse vote be given that represents one-third of the total number of votes which the voters on the roll are entitled to give, the rule of the law will be superseded, and the nett annual value basis will be adopted instead for the next seven years. This expedient of submission to the ratepayers' vote is proposed in connection with two other matters, the striking of local and special rates and the raising of loans. It may therefore be regarded as one of the distinctive features of the measure. On that ground, as well as upon the general merits of the question, which has a wider import than is given to it even by this comprehensive piece of legislation, it should be well threshed out if necessary, in both Houses. The principle of "local option," or popular legislation, is not new to our law, although it stands, so far as it has been introduced, in violent contrast with its general spirit. We are supposed to live under a system of representative Government. The question is, how long shall we continue to do so if, first at one point, and then at another, we introduce the principle of direct popular Government, and thereby damage the credit, and lower the standing, of our representative legislators or administrators? It is apparently a light thing to many to do this. There is an indisposition on the part of some eager reformers to look forward. But, whether it be in the Parliament itself or in the representative local governing bodies, the sure tendencies of measures like this, which would relieve members of their sense of responsibility, would be to lessen or destroy the interest of public life for high-minded and capable men, and to fill the places vacated by them with men of inferior character. The community would not gain by such a result.

Of commercial depressions it may be said that in some shape or other we have them always with us. We are always either in the midst of one depression, recovering from the last, or preparing the necessary conditions for the next. It may be cited as proof of the incurable pessimism of human nature in matters of business that though so much has been written on commercial depressions, on their causes and their periodicity, nobody has ever thought of similarly enumerating and considering the intervening periods of prosperity and of treating these as at all of equal importance. On the memory and in the retrospect it is always the hollow of the wave which makes the permanent impression; never the upward slope or the crest. Mr. STANLEY JEVONS, in his pocket political Primer, in describing the successive periods of inflation and collapse which have visited England in the last 120 years, showed that they came in periods of between 10 and 11 years each: Each cycle, he argued, passed through a regular succession of phases. "In the first three years we have gloom and bad times; second three years, trade recovery and active business; seventh year, excited speculation; eighth year, boom business; ninth year, bubbles and kite-flying; tenth year, collapse." Then, on again in the same order of suffering, recovery, and wild speculation. Mr. JEVONS was so impressed by this regularity of sequence that he sought to explain it by an outside cause recurring with the same regularity and in the same period, and thought that he had discovered this cause in the ten and a half years sun-spot period, the assumed connection between the two phenomena being the bad harvest over the whole world, supposed to be a consequence of the solar-spot period. A dozen years or so ago it was thought to be a distinctive note of advanced economical thought to explain the regular recurrence of depressions by the sun-spot theory, although we fear that that explanation is now as widely questioned as the solar theory of mythology which was confidently thought 20 years ago to supply what Mr. Casaubon in "Middlemarch" called the "Key of all Mythologies." What has most served to invalidate this and any mechanical explanation of the regular sequence of commercial depressions is the fact, now generally recognised, that each depression has a history of its own; that it depended on circumstances of time and place, and that it would not have been the same had these been different. And then as to the assumed fixed cycle of depression, we have to remember the fact that the supposed universality of depressions is greatly overrated, and that cases are by no means infrequent when one commercial nation is in the depths of depression while another is enjoying normal prosperity.

It is quite apparent that we require no sun-spot theories or any theory of necessary periodical recurrence to explain the depression which now prevails throughout these colonies. The proximate conditions are quite adequate to furnish the requisite causes. Before the depression set in these colonies were fairly sharing in the trade activity which was manifested in England in 1888, 1889, and the early part of 1890. Our share in that prosperity was not an immoderate one, and the Australian colonies did not as a whole participate in this period of inflation to anything like the degree that South Africa and South America did. Our share was represented by the facility with which during this time we raised fresh loans, and the equal facility with which we spent them. But, with the exception of a single case there was nothing in these colonies to correspond to the reckless prodigality with which money was in those golden years poured into the Argentine Republic and squandered there. There a country which in 1875 had a national debt of £10,000,000 raised it in 1889 to £70,000,000, besides an enormous sum borrowed for private undertakings. It is simply inexplicable now how such experienced financiers as the BARINGS and the MURRIETAS could have committed themselves to such extravagant advances to these South American States. When the reaction and the inevitable crash came these colonies not unreasonably suffered in their credit as a result of the ruin which had befallen speculation in Argentine securities. The effect was for the time to stop and doubtless permanently to restrict our borrowings for even the most necessary public works, and no one in these colonies now doubts that, in spite of the temporary difficulty this has occasioned, it will prove in the long run a highly salutary consequence. For the time being it checked the flow of money into the colonies, roughly squeezed flat everything in the nature of inflation, and seriously interfered with the employment of labour. So far, however, as these are evils they are but passing ones. We shall in the end be sounder and stronger from the brake being applied to the increase of our indebtedness. Values will be more secure when artificial inflation is got rid of. It is satisfactory to see that the large amount of labour thus set idle is being absorbed in many ways, and were it not for the results of the Broken Hill strike, the unemployed difficulty would by this time have nearly disappeared. The lesson of caution and self-reliance which has been taught us will in its consequences be worth every penny of the price we have had to pay for it. It is noticeable, as showing the complexity of commercial affairs, that England, which found herself compelled as a result of her own painful experience in other quarters to administer this lesson, is herself a large sufferer by its effects, and in the shrinkage of British exports, and the diminution of industrial and commercial activity we see the issue at home of that curtailment of advances to the colonies which has produced passing results of a similar kind here.

The results of these considerations upon the causes of our depression are encouraging to the hope that it will not prove of prolonged continuance. After all, countries live and prosper not by what they borrow but by what they earn. There is nothing in the visible prospect to discountenance the belief that our earnings at the present time are satisfactory. Our chief industry—the pastoral one—is enjoying all the advantages which can be derived from a succession of exceptionally fine seasons, together with those resulting from works of improvement executed over a large part of our territory. The most serious material drawback is that of the spread of rabbits, and the reduction of this forms one of the gravest problems before the country. As to the prospects of agriculture, our columns of country news afford daily evidence that these are of the most favourable order. It is doubtless the case that the price of wool is low and that that of wheat recently reached a lower figure than was ever touched before. But in taking these figures we must not forget that they are to a large, though difficult to define, extent the results of that appreciation of gold which is the main cause of the cheapening of money prices visible over so large a part of the world. We have at any rate for the time overcome our labour troubles, and overcome them in a way not encouraging to their speedy renewal. Whatever may have been our errors of over-borrowing in the past, it is impossible to say, in view of the rich resources of New South Wales, and its rapid rate of expansion, that we have in any degree compromised our future. We have been summoned with many other communities to curtail extravagance and to adjust our expenditure and speculation to more frugal conditions. But if this demand is reasonably met by the country, and, above all, if it receives effect in the administration of public affairs, there is no reason to despair of our soon entering upon a course of modest, perhaps, but sound and legitimate prosperity.

Are we to never have an end to the miserable charges which it is in the power of anyone, and evidently to the pleasure of some, to vamp up against the railway administration of the colony? The cases referred to in a recent issue, as involving complaints by the Messrs. NEILSON of unfairness in the acceptance of tenders, had already been the subject of inquiry by the Schey Commission and shown to have been without foundation, the tenders accepted having been lower, instead of higher, than those sent in by the complainants. This matter may be a small thing in itself, but surely there might be some way found by the Government for protecting high officers of the State from idle and purposeless worry, and for sparing the public time and attention from being wasted with mares' nests. If it were desired to invest any public department with immunity, it would be exactly done by the frequent calling out of "Wolf!" "Wolf!" when the immediate purpose served is to excite suspicion or sensation with no fact at the foundation of the scare. And no true friend of purity and correctness in the public administration would proceed in this reckless way, but, on the contrary, would seek out facts of something more than a mere shadowy kind, and on them rest a valid and substantial accusation, if grounds for accusation are really believed to exist. But a system of worry for worrying's sake is not only purposeless for good, but it cannot fail to have a disheartening effect on any department in the public service to which it may be applied. It is one of the unfortunate conditions of being in the service of the State that every unit of the body corporate assumes the right of master, and claims to exercise the privilege of drastic criticism on its servants. It may be assumed that those who voluntarily take upon them such service must have prepared themselves to bear the incidental conditions. All the same, the mischief wrought by this reckless and unwarranted worry may be of incalculable evil to the public interests; and it is the duty of a Government to be loyal to its servants and try to prevent their being harassed by wanton and baseless accusations. The public has been surfeited with these charges, and with the long-drawn-out inquiries which they have entailed. And it is not only wearying, but irritating, to find that after all, notwithstanding the unequivocal result of inquiry and the emphatic endorsation of the House of Assembly, the charges arise, phœnix-like, from their own ashes.

Hospital quarrels have been so frequent that we look for them as in the order of things; and an hospital in which they have not a struggle in esse or in posse we shall shortly come to regard as having lapsed into that condition of stagnation that ought to be looked after. That this condition of things, however, shows something defective in the organisation or relations of the officers goes without saying; and it is surprising that the frequency of the hospital rumpus has not suggested some prevision in order to guard against misunderstanding of relative positions and consequent friction. Just now one of these disturbances, in an aggravated and prolonged form, has been proceeding at Newcastle, and every effort to solve the difficulty seems to plunge them more deeply into it. Grave charges of neglect and malpractice have been laid by the paid medical superintendent in charge against some of the honorary medical staff; and while the committee back up their officer, the visiting staff have made common cause, and appear to stand by the accused. Into the merits of the dispute we do not desire to enter, nor do its merits affect the position we take. All parties seem to court a searching investigation; but no such investigation do they appear to be able to have. They applied to the Premier, and, in the graphic words of the committee, he threatened to "come down on them like a thousand of bricks," telling them that if they did not compose their quarrels he would take away their subsidy. The hospital committee then instituted a formal inquiry and, after hearing evidence, decided that the various statements regarding these several cases made by the medical superintendent were "fully warranted." On the other hand, a committee has been appointed by the subscribers to go in search of some competent tribunal to make further inquiry; and altogether about as confused a state of things exists as could well be imagined. As this must be injurious to the interests of any hospital, both as respects the welfare of the patients and for its bearing on the volume of voluntary subscriptions, there ought to be some system devised for intervening in such quarrels and making independent inquiry into their nature when necessity arrives. It is all very well to come down like a thousand of bricks when occasion demands, but a vigorous method like that might tend rather to the hushing up of controversy for the sake of the "filthy lucre," when possibly the controversy might be amply justified. And instead of the forcible suppression of complaint or protest, the Government should rather court such disclosures in the interests of good administration and for the well-being of the patients. But as a purely local inquiry, and especially among such a belligerent class—as doctors not infrequently are when they are aroused—is not likely to lead to satisfactory results, it surely should be possible to establish some machinery, independent of local influences, to investigate and promptly settle these unhappy differences when they arise.

The Legislative Assembly will meet this afternoon. There are 16 questions on the notice paper. Private members' business will be dealt with, and notices of motion will have precedence. Mr. Rose will seek to affirm that there should be no limit on amounts deposited at the Post Office Savings Bank, and that a note circulation should be issued equal in amount to the value of the deposits received. Mr. Danger will move,—"That this House will, on Tuesday next, resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole to consider the expediency of bringing in a bill to so amend the law regulating the liquor traffic as to enact that not more than one bar shall be allowed in each hotel, and to provide for the abolition of female labour therein, and for other purposes connected therewith." Mr. Barnes seeks for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into and report upon all circumstances connected with the forfeiture of Henry Crowe's conditional purchase and additional conditional purchases, county Harden, parish Gobarralong, forfeited for non-residence, 31st October, 1888. Mr. Neild will ask the House to place on record that the duties imposed by the Customs Duties Act of 1892, while adding to the burdens of the taxpayers, and hampering the commerce of the colony, have proved ineffectual as a means of providing employment for the people; and Mr. G. D. Clark will move,—"That this House, while in favour of every public servant being well paid for services rendered, is, nevertheless, of opinion that the present system of granting retiring pensions should be abolished, or be made to apply to every person in the employment of the State." A large number of other motions follow. To-morrow night some formal matters will be disposed of before dinner, and then the federation resolutions will be further discussed, and on Thursday night the Premier purposes to make a speech of about an hour's duration, in explanation of the Local Government Bill, after which the adjournment of the debate will probably be moved.

A meeting of the Cabinet was held last night. It lasted from half-past 7 o'clock until 11. The business under consideration was the Budget speech and finances generally. The Estimates were gone through in the rough, were "cut down," and everything was placed in readiness for future revision. A good deal of time was taken up in the consideration of the Treasurer's statement, which, according to present intentions, will be delivered on the 7th December. The finances are, the Premier states, "in as good a position as any reasonable man can expect them to be, considering the present condition of trade in the colony." The consideration of the Estimates will occupy the attention of the Cabinet at other meetings which are to be held.

With regard to the cable published in the Herald yesterday reporting the issue of New South Wales Treasury bonds in London, we understand from the Colonial Treasurer (Mr. See) that Sir Saul Samuel has received instructions from the Government here to dispose of bonds to the value of half a million sterling. They will bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent., be issued at par, and have a currency of four years. This, it should be explained, is not a new loan, the bonds being a portion of £1,000,000 of Treasury bonds lodged with Sir Saul Samuel some time ago. The Treasurer states that, when the Funded Stock Bill was contemplated, the million pounds' worth of Treasury bills were simply "suspended," and not "withdrawn" as was generally understood to be the case. Mr. See denies, therefore, that he has broken faith with the London financiers in any way. He insists that our stocks are not being "hawked about," and does not see that city investors can legitimately complain of unfair competition. So far as the colony is concerned, he says that the Treasury bills in question were taken into consideration by him when dealing with the country's finances at the time of the issue of the Funded Stock, and therefore there is no alteration so far as the colony's indebtedness is concerned. It is recognised by Mr. See that the London money market is extremely sensitive just now as regards colonial borrowing, and it is to this reason that he ascribes the fact that all colonial Government stocks have fallen a quarter.

The postal authorities in Sydney have received a cable from the London office intimating that the mails which left here per P. and O. Co.'s steamer Britannia on 24th October last arrived in London on Sunday morning, the 27th instant. The mails were due to reach London on 29th instant.

It has been arranged that a deputation from the Federated Seamen's Union of Australasia and several others, accompanied by several Ms.L.A., shall wait upon Mr. R. E. O'Connor, Minister for Justice, in reference to the release of the imprisoned crew of the Port Glasgow.

In accordance with a resolution passed by the Public Works Committee at one of its recent meetings, Mr. Hamlet, Government Analyst, left for Tamworth on Sunday night, his object being to take samples of the water and of the soil of Tamworth in connection with the proposed water supply. He will furnish a report to the committee on the matter, and will also report generally as regards the proposed site. Mr. Hamlet will probably remain in Tamworth for two days, but he will report to the committee as soon as possible; and there will be no meeting of the Public Works Committee until his report has been received.

The sectional committee appointed by the Public Works Committee to inquire into the line of railway from Glen Innes to Inverell left by the quarter to 6 o'clock train on Sunday night for Guyra. From there the committee will go on to Inverell by way of Tingha, and then from Inverell to Glen Innes. The committee consists of Mr. W. H. Suttor, M.L.C. (chairman), and Mr. Humphery, M.L.C., and Messrs. Dawson, Ewing, Wall, Neild, and Collins, Ms.L.A. They were accompanied by a surveyor from the railway construction branch, who will explain to the committee matters connected with the route of the line.

The Railway Department has accepted the tender of Mr. J. Russell for the working of the coal shipping appliances at Newcastle. The contract is of the value of between £4000 and £5000 per annum. Tenders were opened by the department yesterday for the erection and completion of a goods-shed and landing-stage at Nyngan. There were two tenders, the lowest being that of W. Hudson and Co., £597 13s 7d. For tramway uniform clothing, there were seven tenders, at schedule rates, and for railway uniform clothing, eight tenders, at schedule rates.

With reference to Mr. J. P. Garvan's claim for compensation on account of land resumed in connection with the Lismore-Tweed Railway, which was referred to arbitration under the arbitration clause of the Public Works Act, a final decision has been arrived at. Mr. J. H. Kirkpatrick, J.P., acted as arbitrator for the Crown, and Mr. A. Armstrong, J.P., for the claimant. Mr. Garvan claimed £1500, and the Crown offered £450. The arbitrators failed to agree upon a verdict, and the matter was then referred to Sir Joseph Abbott as umpire for decision. The umpire's award has now been sent in, and it allows to Mr. Garvan the sum of £1050.

Mr. Russell, the Government Astronomer, has received a cablegram from Kiel, in Germany, stating that the comet Brooks, which was discovered on the 29th August, is now moving rapidly to the south. Yesterday its right ascension was 11 hours 18 minutes, and its declination, 13 deg. 46 min. south. On 2nd December it will be—right ascension, 11 hours 39 minutes; declination, 17 deg. 48 min. south. It will be visible from 2 a.m. up to daylight, with a telescope. The cable was only received by Mr. Russell yesterday, so that no opportunity for searching for the comet had occurred at the Observatory last night. With regard to its antecedents, Mr. Russell says it is probable that it is a new comet. Mr. Brooks, after whom it is called, is a resident of New York, and devotes a large amount of time to the study of comets. As the Brooks comet is travelling fast into Southern skies the cable from Kiel has no doubt been sent to observers here to keep a lookout for it when it appears sufficiently above the horizon. Last night the Biela comet could not be seen from the Observatory though a sharp watch was kept for it. The night was clear, too clear indeed for the moonlight proved apparently too strong for the weakly glow of the more distant celestial luminary.

Arrangements are being made for lighting the Post Office clock by electricity. Owing to the lack of space underneath the tower for an engine-room, a temporary agreement has been entered into with the Electric Material Company, of Pitt-street, for the supply of electricity to the clock tower and to the lamps in Martin-place. This is the company which formerly had the contract for lighting the Theatre Royal by electricity. The terms under the contract are £23 per week. The cables will be brought under Pitt-street through the new tunnel which has just been completed. There are six ornamental lamps in Martin-place, with five lights on each lamp. The clock will be lighted with incandescent lamps from the inside, and there will be 16 lamps for each face. So soon as an engine and boiler room can be provided at the Post Office the clock will be lighted by the department. The Colonial Architect has the matter in hand, and the necessary alterations will be made shortly.

The first batch of exhibits for the Chicago Exhibition was despatched yesterday per the s.s. Alameda, when 999 packages, measuring about 250 tons, and of the value of £6901, were sent away. The contract with the Union Steamship Company is to take the goods to the final port of destination, and the amount of freight in regard to the present shipment is £583. Arrangements have been made for assurance against fire in Chicago, and a policy has also been taken out in Sydney not only to cover the transit by the Alameda, but also to keep the goods insured whilst in the cars between San Francisco and Chicago. Among the things sent away yesterday were 101 bales of wool and 560 packages of minerals. This consignment is only a small portion of the wool exhibit, the Wool-selling Brokers' Association alone having promised about 400 bales. With regard to minerals, there are still 100 packages of ore in the stores unshipped, and exhibits of coal, timber, furniture, and other things, including specimens from the Technological Museum, the Government Printing Office, the Observatory, and Australian Museum, are not yet to hand. These will be despatched by the steamship Mariposa, which will leave Sydney on the 26th December, and it is thought that it will be possible for nearly the whole of the Australian exhibits to be sent away by that time.

In connection with the shipment of exhibits to the Chicago Exhibition, a complete manifest describing each individual package shipped, and showing the section and number of the package, the address of the exhibitor, the nature of the exhibit, its measurement, weight, and other particulars, has been supplied to the shipping company, to the officer in charge of the United States Customs at San Francisco, the officer in charge of the Customs at Chicago (these manifests having been sent through Mr. William Kappus, Consul for the United States in Sydney), to Mr. Robert Hudson, general superintendent at the exhibition, and to Mr. Thomas Pugh, assistant superintendent, who was a passenger by the Alameda. The preparation of these long manifests was a heavy task, and kept Mr. Cumming, the secretary, and his staff at work almost night and day for some time past.

The trustees for Shark and Clark Islands paid a visit to those places on Saturday afternoon. They found that the work on both islands was proceeding in a satisfactory manner. A good road is now being cut all round Shark Island, and additional trees are being planted there. The same gentlemen who are trustees for Shark and Clark Islands have also been appointed trustees for Schnapper Island. This island is also to be beautified by planting upon it either the English oak or the Norfolk Island pine. Seats will be placed in convenient places, and a landing-place will be made. In connection with Goat Island, where the Government ammunition stores now are, Mr. Copeland states that he is under the impression that this island was given to the colony, along with other land, in 1883, when an exchange was made of Garden Island. The matter, however, is one that would be transacted in the Colonial Secretary's department, and he has asked that strict search be made with regard to it. The Minister for Lands thinks that Goat Island could be more extensively used than it is at present. It would, he states, make a capital place for the quarantining of stock, and then the public would be able to obtain full possession of Shark Island, which could be used as a recreation ground.

In view of their approaching departure for Europe, some of their friends in the University of Sydney propose to tender a complimentary picnic to Professor and Mrs. MacCallum next Saturday.

Active preparations for the forthcoming municipal election are being made by the candidates for the positions of aldermen in the Sydney Municipal Council to represent the Brisbane and Phillip Wards. Last evening Mr. Thomas Jessep addressed a meeting of the electors of Brisbane Ward from the balcony of the Queen's Hotel, Market and Kent streets, and he received a good hearing. The committee for the retiring alderman for this ward (Alderman John Taylor) met at Millthorpe's York Hotel, York and King streets, last night, and made further arrangements for the contest. For the Phillip Ward Mr. Justin M'Sweeney, who announced his candidature at the last moment, is prosecuting his canvass. Mr. M. Simmons, another of the candidates for this ward, addressed two meetings, one at the Victoria Park Hotel and the other at the Castle Connell Hotel, last night, and was well received.

The sittings of the Supreme Court for the hearing of causes were commenced yesterday. In the No. 1 Jury Court the case of Connell and others v. Clifford and another was commenced, in which the plaintiffs are suing to recover damages from the defendants for breach of contract in regard to the sale of American salmon in good order and condition. In the No. 2 Jury Court Alfred Albertson, a seaman, is suing J. C. Ellis to recover damages for injuries sustained by him while unloading timber from the barque Darra. Both cases are part heard.

In the No. 3 Jury Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Windeyer, an action was commenced by the Aktiebolaget Mölnbacka-Trysil, a Norwegian timber company, against Alexander Burns, timber merchant, of Sydney, to recover £500 damages for breach of contract alleged to have been committed by the defendant in failing to accept delivery of a cargo of timber. The case stands part heard.

The stamp duty paid on probates and letters of administration last week amounted to £5997 15s. Towards this the principal contributors were the estates of the late E. J. Sparkes, of Sydney (which estate was of the net value of £55,905), £2795 5s; E. G. Ellis, Sydney (net value of estate, £45,950), £1838; S. Marsden, Blayney (net value of estate, £14,870), £446 2s; L. T. Jung, Balmain (net value of estate, £10,470), £209 8s. The net value of the other estates upon which duty was paid was:—B. F. Boson, Woollahra, £7525; A. H. M'Kechnie, Newtown, £7085; R. D. Fitzgerald, Sydney, £6070; A. K. Bovill, Sydney, £5025; A. Bain, Hastings River, £4925; A. T. Stevens, North Sydney, £3770; John Gray, Balmain, £2790; J. Jastein, Blandford, £455; D. Delaney, Gumley Gumley, £330; A. Woodward, Boggabri, £745; C. H. Degner, Moore Park, £145; J. W. Collins, Whittingham, £1015; E. J. Dew, Brewarrina, £505; J. Walsh, Lismore, £120; F. A. Brenner, Barbingal, £130; J. Drinan, Terry Hie Hie, £220; W. H. Swan, Dapto, £1400; J. Jackson, The Murrah, £60; P. Kelly, Tenterfield, £135; M. Kelly, Waterloo, £100; G. Whitworth, Glebe, £150; Margaret Gatty, Peel, £1035; M. Hourigan, Sydney, £60; M. Williamson, Balmain, £65; M. Hourigan, Glebe, £65; P. Hourigan, Woolloomooloo, £75; Susan Jones, North Sydney, £115; D. Wenham, Spring Terrace, £185; J. Gorman, Forbes, £170; E. M. Denny, Gosford, £155; F. Davis, Broken Hill, £70; K. S. M'Donald, Parramatta, £310; G. A. Brinck, Concord, £115; J. F. Bennett, Currabubula, £175.

The Attorney-General has declined to prosecute in the case of Bessie Twyman, who was committed to the Quarter Sessions with John Twyman on a charge of having possession of stolen property.

In the Central Criminal Court yesterday the case of John Hyam Nathan, who is under committal for conspiracy in connection with the affairs of the Australian Banking Company, was mentioned by Mr. Gannon. He stated that it was four months since Nathan had been committed for trial, and at the last sittings of the Criminal Court the case was formally remanded until the present sittings, the understanding being that he would be presented at the Quarter Sessions. That had not proved to be the case, and counsel was anxious to know when the charge would again be proceeded with. His Honor Judge Murray said he could do nothing in the matter, but Mr. Healey, who was prosecuting on behalf of the Crown, expressed the opinion that the case was not likely to be taken before the end of the week. He, however, promised that Mr. Gannon should be informed of the day selected as soon as possible. During the day two men, James Toogood and Frederick Davel, were found guilty of uttering forged notes on the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, and the latter was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, while the former was remanded. Both men went into hotels and ordered drinks, which they paid for with the forged notes, receiving change before the valueless nature of the paper was discovered. No less than a dozen forged notes were found on Toogood, and it was shown that Davel had uttered three spurious £1 notes. An officer of the bank described the forgeries as clumsy imitations, as the colouring was different to that in the notes now issued from the bank. He, however, stated that they had evidently been made by means of a photograph, and as there are evidently a good many in circulation, shopkeepers and others would do well to scan any notes before accepting them. A young man named Malcolm M'Pherson Leslie, who pleaded guilty to embezzling large sums of money from the Paddington branch of the E., S., and A. C. Bank, was remanded for sentence; and for obtaining money by means of false pretences a man named William Morris Rogers, who has a criminal record, was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment.

The Marine Board held an inquiry yesterday relative to the foundering of the steamer Marvel off Shoalhaven pilot station on Thursday night last. The evidence was taken of Robert Arthur, the master; John Austin, the engineer; James Windham, mate and deck hand; and Richard Davis, fireman. The president (Captain Hixson) then announced that the board would reserve its decision until the next meeting.

We learn that although the Marine Board has received a letter regarding what has occurred in relation to the Port Glasgow, no definite charge has so far been forwarded to the board. As the board exercises judicial functions in relation to matters of this kind it cannot act until a definite charge has been formulated. So soon as that has been done the board will hold an investigation.

Among the passengers who arrived by the Arcadia on Saturday was Professor Murray, who has returned to Sydney, his native city, on a brief visit, after an absence of 16 years. Professor Murray, whose brilliant academical career is well known in Sydney, is a Fellow of New College, Oxford, and Professor of Greek in the Glasgow University. For some time past he has suffered from ill-health, and he has recently obtained 12 months' leave of absence, with the double purpose of paying a visit to the land of his birth and restoring his health by a long ocean voyage. The trip by the Arcadia was most pleasant throughout, and Professor Murray states that he has already derived much benefit from his holiday. He intends staying in Sydney about three weeks, and will then pay a visit to New Zealand, returning to England by one of the New Zealand lines of mail steamers, via Cape Horn.

The following candidates have passed the concluding examination in connection with the course of University Extension Lectures on Greek Life and Art, recently delivered by Miss Macdonald, M.A., at St. James' Hall, Phillip-street:—Misses L. Russell, B.A., P. Russell, Mrs. C. Kirkland, Misses E. M. Humphries, E. C. Molesworth, M. A. L. Doak, A. Smith, A. Bennett, C. J. Dey, E. Newton, D. Baass, K. Baass, M. C. Livingston, M. M'Master, K. M. Burge, R. Robertson, J. D. M'Master, L. J. Baass, S. S. Miller, and E. L. Ryrie.

The Mayor of Newtown (Mr. Alderman Rigg) presided over a meeting of the shorthand class at the Newtown Branch of the Department of Technical Education on Friday last, and presented three gold medals to the three students who had gained the highest marks at the recent class examination. The first, presented by Mr. Rigg, was awarded to Mr. W. G. Lewis and the second to Mr. S. Brooks for reporting at 80 words per minute. The medal for theoretical shorthand was awarded to Mr. W. B. Rigg. At the conclusion of the proceedings the Mayor, on behalf of the students, made a presentation to the instructor, Mr. H. C. Coxe, in recognition of his efforts in connection with the Newtown Branch. A vote of thanks to Mr. Rigg for presiding and to Mr. T. Preston for conducting the examinations was carried.

The ceremony of opening the new wing of the St. Vincent's Hospital was performed yesterday afternoon by Lord Jersey, in the presence of about 300 persons, including the Hons. R. E. O'Connor (Minister for Justice) and T. M. Slattery (Minister for Mines and Agriculture), the Mayor of Sydney (Alderman W. P. Manning), and a large number of the clergy and several representative citizens. Cardinal Moran presided, and gave an outline of the history of the institution. His Excellency, in the course of a somewhat lengthy speech, spoke in high terms of the noble work performed by the Sisters of Charity, and complimented all those concerned upon the sound financial position of the hospital. Lord Jersey and the Countess of Jersey, accompanied by Captain Leigh, A.D.C., inspected the wards. During the afternoon several selections of music were contributed by the band of H.M.S. Orlando.

First among the mail steamers yesterday to get away was the French Company's liner Armand Behic. She received 62 passengers in transhipment from Noumea, and by the time she leaves Adelaide will be well patronised. It was thought that the chief inspector of the Messageries Maritimes, M. Cacheloт, would take passage home by her, but he has decided to remain some time yet in the colonies, and is expected to arrive in Sydney from Noumea to-day or to-morrow by the company's steamer Dordogne. General Coronnat, who has been on a tour of inspection in the East and to other French possessions, including New Caledonia, is a passenger to Marseilles by the mail steamer. Mr. O'Malley Clarke was a passenger to Melbourne. The Armand Behic was followed by the Oceana for London. Crowds of friends witnessed this ship's departure, and her lines were cast off amidst much cheering. As mentioned, the late Naval Commander-in-Chief, Rear-Admiral Lord Charles Scott, and Lady Scott, Captain Barlow and Mrs. Barlow, and several other naval officers late of the flagship, are passengers by the Oceana. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Fairfax are also taking a trip to the old country by the mail steamer. Later in the afternoon the American mail steamer Alameda headed out of Woolloomooloo Bay, and, with the stars and stripes at the peak, rounded to and shaped a course down the Western channel. In the outward list of passengers is Mr. Rothe, of the Colonial Sugar Company, who is on a trip to London. Mr. B. T. Lacy, of Messrs. Parke and Lacy, Limited, returns to the United States by the vessel, and a great many of his friends were down to see him off. By the Alameda the Bank of New Zealand shipped £100,000 in gold specie.

The Airlie's fast passage from China brings Eastern news to a recent date, correspondence as late as 17 days ago being delivered by the steamer. Salvage operations are going on at the wreck of the P. and O. steamer Bokhara, and a portion of the sunken treasure has been recovered. Subscriptions are flowing in to a committee in Hongkong in aid of the relief of those dependent or support upon late residents of Hongkong who lost their lives in the shipwreck, also for the erection of a suitable memorial of the catastrophe, and the recognition of services rendered to survivors. Ninety-two bodies were recovered from the wreck, but no more survivors have been discovered. The details of another terrible calamity at sea, namely, the loss of the steamship Normand, also came to hand by the Airlie. Two Norwegian sailors survived that catastrophe, and they claim to have swam a distance of 18 miles with the aid of lifebelts before they were seen by some fishermen who rescued them. The Normand went down in the same storm as the Bokhara. Sydney shipping people, as well as many other friends of the well-known iron ship Gretna, belonging to the Village line of Glasgow ships, will regret to hear of the total wreck of that vessel. She was on a voyage to Hongkong from Cardiff with coal when she ran upon the Rifleman Shoal. The master, Captain Webster, and his crew were knocking about for five days in open boats before they were picked up and conveyed to Saigon. When the Gretna went ashore all sail was set with the exception of staysails, they having been taken in during a squall. There was no wind at the time of the accident, the ship bodily drifting on the shoal. The chapter of marine casualties in Eastern waters also contains an account of the loss of a Shanghai steamer, the Feima, sunk in collision with the Hangchow, a vessel not long ago in Port Jackson. So far as is known no lives were lost in that instance. Perhaps the most remarkable escape from wreck during the typhoon season is that of a small vessel named the Santa Cruz. It is wonderful how these little vessels ride out a storm when powerful steamers are carried to destruction. The Santa Cruz was in three typhoons in quick succession. She was on a trip to the Caroline Islands, and on the 17th of September in a typhoon she sprung a leak. A course was laid for Hongkong, but on the 25th September a second typhoon assailed her and still more seriously crippled her. When just off Luzon on the 7th and 8th October another storm almost completed the destruction of the unfortunate craft. Everything about the deck was carried away along with the jibboom and the starboard boats. The cabin was flooded and the cargo shifted. Next day she was thrown on her beam ends, completely borne over by the sheer weight of the wind, and the crew cut away her bare poles and she righted. Mastless and leaking she was in imminent peril of foundering, and the crew set to throwing the cargo overboard. On the 11th the storm abated, and jury-rig was got up, under which she was navigated to Hongkong.

An anti-foreign outbreak amongst the Chinese is stated to have again taken place in the province of Hunan, and the posting of incendiary placards is being extensively carried on. In the Kienyang district riots frequently occur, and so much hostility to mission work is shown there that the missionaries have been asked by the Chinese authorities to give up the field for a time. This, however, they have declined to do. Mr. Nicholas Roderick O'Conor, the new British Minister to China, arrived in Hongkong on the 2nd instant, and was well received. Before leaving for Peking he was entertained by the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce.

The annual song service and forty-seventh anniversary meeting in connection with the Balmain Wesleyan Sunday school, Darling-street East, took place last night in the church, there being a crowded congregation. Mr. Jacob Garrard, M.L.A., occupied the chair. The proceedings were opened with prayer by the Rev. B. J. Meek, and two selections were given by the adult choir and scholars. The pieces were "Golden Bells" and "Go Forth to the Field." The annual report submitted by Mr. W. J. Laws (the secretary) was of a gratifying character. It was stated that it would be an impossibility to meet under more favourable circumstances. There were on the roll 25 male and female teachers, being an increase upon last year, with a total of 200 scholars, and an average attendance of 170. The Sunday School Union was well sustained, and the following scholars upheld the honour of the school, which stood on the top of the list in the order of merit:—Percy Loutit (third prize in the 5th division), and Emily Wright, Ethel Lawson, John Lawson, Charles, Harold, and Arthur Garrard, who were awarded certificates of merit. The Sunday school officers elected for the year are as follow:—Mr. J. Garrard and Mr. T. M. Tinley, superintendents; Mr. W. J. Laws, secretary; mission secretary, Mr. E. Bogle; Mr. T. M. Tinley, treasurer; Mr. Frank Garrard, librarian. The Band of Hope officers being:—Rev. B. J. Meek, president; Rev. P. J. Stephen, Messrs. Garrard and Tinley, vice-presidents; Mr. W. C. Laws, secretary; Mr. H. Stanger, treasurer; executive committee, Misses Covell, F. Nash, and L. Garrard, and Messrs. W. C. and W. J. Laws. The report was unanimously adopted, as was also the treasurer's balance-sheet, which showed that a debit balance of £12 12s 8d had been paid off last year's account, after an expenditure of £40 17s 10s. Mr. Jacob Garrard, M.L.A., the chairman, statated that he had been associated with the church and school for a period of 25 years, and he congratulated the officers on the encouraging reports they had just heard, which was the best one in the church's history. Discourses were also delivered by the Rev. B. J. Meek and Mr. William Druce (superintendent of the Balmain Central Montague-street Church). Recitations were given by Master Walter Stanger and Emily Wright, Tilly Balchin and Ethel Laws. Musical selections were given by the choir, under the conductorship of Mr. T. M. Tinley, and Miss L. Garrard officiated as accompanist on the organ.

The memorial stones of the new Primitive Methodist Church, St. John's-road, Forest Lodge, were laid on Saturday afternoon. The proceedings were opened by singing and prayer, after which the circuit minister introduced the ladies and gentlemen who had consented to lay the stones. Stones were laid in the following order:—Mrs. James Fletcher, Mrs. W. G. Yeates, Mayoress of the Glebe, Mrs. H. Carruthers, Rev. J. E. Metcalfe, Mr. A. T. Hoile, and Mr. Richard Gill, on behalf of the Sabbath school. An adjournment was made to the schoolroom, where an address on the "History and Polity of the Connexion" was given by the Rev. G. James, and a financial statement read by the Rev. J. E. Metcalfe. It was shown that the receipts for the day were £135 4s 2d, and this, added to £224 10s 8d already in hand, makes a grand total of £359 14s 10d towards the new church fund. The Revs. W. Sparling and M. Rowley took part in the proceedings.

On Sunday evening, a mission week in connection with the Parramatta Baptist Church, was brought to a conclusion, when services were conducted by Messrs. Warner and Chivers. During the week the services were conducted by the Rev. W. R. Hiddlestone, of the Burton-street Tabernacle.

The anniversary services in connection with the Granville Baptist Church were held on Sunday. There were large congregations. The church was prettily decorated. The sermon in the morning was preached by the Rev. F. Hibberd (chairman of the Baptist Union), and in the evening by the Rev. J. Hodgson, of Woollahra.

The visitors to the Art Gallery during last week (Sunday inclusive) numbered 10,635, the attendance on the weekdays being 6108 and on Sunday 4537.

A meeting organised by Mr. W. G. Spence, the general secretary of the Australasian Workers' Union, with the cognisance of the Trades and Labour Council of New South Wales, was held in the Protestant Hall last night, under the presidency of the Rev. G. Walters. The attendance was only moderate. Mr. Spence, who explained the outlines of the new labour movement, was listened to with a good deal of attention. He advocated facilities being given to the unemployed to get on the land and co-operation among the workers. A resolution setting out that in view of the alarming increase in the number of honest workers who cannot secure employment while so much land is lying idle, it is essential that there should be a reform of the land laws to enable the people to get homes on the land, was carried without dissent, and similar treatment was accorded to a second motion expressing the opinion that it is absolutely essential that the labour organisations should unite and present an unbroken front to secure the aim set forth in the first resolution.

It will be remembered that about a week ago the residence of the Hon. F. B. Suttor was entered, and a shot was fired at Mr. Suttor's son Reginald by the would-be burglar. On Sunday night another attempt at burglary was made at Mr. Suttor's house. Reginald Suttor noticing that something had been disturbed in the building made an investigation, and on approaching the front gate found two men standing there. He heard them speaking about having been discovered at a burglary, and they gave no answer to his challenge, but decamped. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police.

Yesterday afternoon while a son of Mr. Thomas Bursall, of No. 93 Bourke-street, Woolloomooloo, was handling a revolver the weapon exploded. The bullet entered the hip of Mary Ann Stevenson, aged 17, a domestic servant in the house, and she was conveyed to the Sydney Hospital, where she was admitted for treatment.

Thomas Collins, a carter, aged 25, residing in Bourke-street, Woolloomooloo, was knocked down at the Circular Quay yesterday afternoon by a horse and dogcart driven by Mr. Hassall, M.L.A. The injured man was conveyed in Mr. Hassall's vehicle to the Sydney Hospital, where he was admitted for treatment.

Yesterday, Mrs. Hicks, aged 66, residing at Prospect, was found in an unconscious state on the Western-road, and was removed to the Parramatta District Hospital. So far as can be gleaned, she left Prospect in a light trap with a view of meeting her husband at the Parramatta railway station. What befell her on the road no one knows; but a party of men found her underneath the horse, which had both its knees badly cut.

An inquest was held yesterday with respect to the death of James Forrest, a presser, who lately resided in Myrtle-street, Darlington, and who died on the previous evening from drinking sulphuric acid in mistake for gin and peppermint, which he wished to take to relieve cramps in the stomach, from which he was suffering. A verdict was given in accordance with the facts as already published.

The inquiry by the City Coroner into the circumstances surrounding the death of an infant whose remains, in conjunction with the remains of four other infant bodies, were found on the 3rd instant by the police buried in the back yard of the house known as No. 25 Burren-street, Macdonaldtown, was concluded yesterday. The Coroner reviewed the evidence, so far as it could throw any light upon the identity of the deceased infant and upon the cause of death, and the jurors, after deliberating for a little over one hour, returned a verdict as follows:—"We find that the infant No. 4 is identical with the child of Minnie Davies and Horace Bothamley. We further find John and Sarah Makin guilty of manslaughter. There is not sufficient evidence before us to connect Blanche and Florence Makin with a guilty knowledge." The Coroner committed John and Sarah Makin for trial at the Central Criminal Court. Application was made for bail, but was refused. On Wednesday morning the City Coroner will commence an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the deaths of the four infants whose remains were found buried in the back yard of No. 109 George-street, Redfern. After the proceedings at the Coroner's Court the Makins were conveyed to the Central Police Court, where fresh charges were preferred against them. John Makin and Sarah Makin were charged with having caused the death of the child of Amber Murray; and Florence Makin and Blanche Makin were charged with having been concerned in causing the death of the said child. The two girls who were discharged on the previous charge against them, were therefore re-arrested. The hearing of the cases was postponed until Wednesday, and bail was refused.

We are requested to state that Mr. Thomas Curran's furniture, which is to be sold by Messrs. Newton and Lamb, will be on view on Saturday next.

An advertisement in another column announces that the Mayor of Sydney has decided to open a fund for the relief of the sufferers by the landslip at Cascades Bay, Norfolk Island.

A lecture on "Humbugs: Social, Political, Literary, and Religious" is announced for this evening, by Rev. George Walters.

We are requested to state that Thomas Walker passed the Junior Public Examination from the Public School, Wallsend, and not from Wickham P. S. as stated in list published on Thursday last.

The Sydney Hospital report for the week ended the 26th November is as follows:—Admitted, 64; discharged, 52; died, 9; remaining, 253; casualties treated but not admitted, 690.

The Prince Alfred Hospital report for the week ended 26th November is as follows:—Admitted, 64; discharged, 49; died, 5; remaining in hospital on 27th November, 201. Number of out-patients treated during the week, 369; number of casualty cases treated but not admitted, 216; total, 585.

BRIDGE OVER THE MURRAY AT SWAN HILL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The plans prepared by the Public Works Department of New South Wales for a bridge across the Murray at Swan Hill have been received by the Public Works Department, Melbourne. The Inspector-General points out that they show that the bridge is to be built several chains away from M'Callum-street, which would necessitate the construction by the Victorian Government of a costly approach. A letter has been sent to the Sydney Works Department pointing out these facts and asking the reason of the alteration.

LIBEL ACTION.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A libel action for £2000 damages, in which Mr. W. Duncan, formerly M.L.A. for Borung, was plaintiff, and Mr. Charles Cutts, of Birchip, was defendant, was commenced before the Chief Justice and a jury of six in the First Civil Court on the 22nd. The libel complained of was contained in a letter written by the defendant and published in the Northern Argus, at Warracknabeal, on the 21st of May last, in which the defendant charged the plaintiff with "deliberately overstepping the bounds of truth and cringing to falsehood" in denying that he had told a deputation that waited upon him in Queen's-hall, Parliament House, that he would do nothing to jeopardise the Government in matters of railway construction. The action was concluded to-day, and resulted in a verdict for plaintiff, with damages amounting to £500.

TRAGEDY AT RUTHERGLEN.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A shooting case occurred on Saturday night near the Great Northern Mine, about five miles from Rutherglen. A couple of months ago a woman named Pender opened what was supposed to be a shanty near the mine, and after a few weeks Patrick Hourigan, apparently an old lover, began to pay her frequent visits. On Saturday evening the woman's husband, Thomas Pender, was making inquiries in the district. He was directed to his wife's shanty, and knocked at the door, which Hourigan opened, when Pender fired a revolver, the bullet lodging in Hourigan's neck close to the collar-bone, and nearly penetrating the lungs. Pender rushed past Hourigan and fired at Mrs. Pender, the bullet taking effect in her breast. Hourigan, who was the more powerful of the two, grappled with Pender, wrenched the revolver from him, and escaped with Mrs. Pender to a neighbour's house, and sent for the police. Meanwhile Pender wrapped the two young children who were sleeping in the hut in a coat, and took them out and laid them near a log, and set fire to the shanty. He sat on the log to watch it burn, remarking that he was waiting for the police. He surrendered himself as soon as they arrived. Mrs. Pender is in a critical condition, and her dying depositions have been taken. Hourigan is not dangerously wounded. Pender expresses regret that he had not killed both. He has been remanded for eight days on a charge of attempting to murder. At the time of the occurrence Pender was awaiting trial at Albury for stabbing his wife during a quarrel about Hourigan. Pender is about 45, Mrs. Pender 38, and Hourigan 28.

NARROW ESCAPES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Mr. A. E. Clarke, architect, had a narrow escape on Saturday afternoon. He was crossing the Blackburn railway line in a buggy in front of a train. The engine killed the horse on the spot and smashed the buggy, throwing Mr. Clarke some distance from the rails. He received serious injuries to the spine and three deep cuts on one leg.

This afternoon Charles Jelliffe was driving a horse and dray across the railway line at Warrnambool, when the engine of the train struck the horse, killing it and splintering the dray into fragments. Jelliffe was thrown clear of the line, and escaped with slight injuries.

Mr. Edwin Gaunt, proprietor of the Alfred Woollen Mills, recently proceeded to Sydney to make preliminary arrangements to open mills there. He was returning to Melbourne by the steamer Elingamite, and yesterday morning he was found dead in his berth. Death is supposed to have ensued from natural causes. The steamer arrived to-day.

The Cabinet had no time to consider what attitude it intends to assume with regard to the bill introduced by Mr. Taverner dealing with the dispute between Chaffey Bros. and the settlers at Mildura. The Cabinet has decided to publish Mr. Howitt's report on the difficulty, and also his comments on the letter sent by Mr. Chaffey to the Government.

A butter factory was opened at Hamilton to-day. It is the largest in the Western district, costing between £4000 and £5000.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Dixon will case came to an unexpected conclusion to-day, when, on the opening of the court, Mr. Purves, who appeared for the proponents, announced that an arrangement had been arrived at between the parties, and asked for an hour's adjournment, that the details might be arranged. On the Court reassembling, Mr. Purves informed Mr. Justice Holroyd that it had been agreed that probate be granted, all the costs on both sides to be paid out of the estate, that £9000 be paid to Mrs. Dixon under the settlement of 1890, the balance of the estate to be equally divided between the Melbourne University on the one hand, and the widow and children on the other. Option was given to the family to purchase one or both businesses of the testator at a valuation to be arrived at by arbitration. The effect of the settlement is that Mrs. Dixon, in addition to £9000 under the deed of settlement, shares one-half of the remainder of the estate with her two sons and daughter. The estate was originally worth £40,000. After payment of the settlement and the costs, there will probably be from £20,000 to to £25,000 to divide. His Honor congratulated the parties on the settlement arrived at.

THE MAURITIUS SUGAR MARKET.

[By Telegraph.]

(From our Correspondent.)

MAURITIUS (via Albany), Nov. 11.

The weather is favourable for the manipulation, of the sugarcane, which is going on actively all over the island, and there is a slight improvement in the yield, although the crystallisation is still effected with difficulty. The young plantations are now much in want of rain. The quantity of sugar received in town up to date as compared with that at this time last year, shows a deficit of about 35 per cent., and it is feared the total deficit at the end of the crop will exceed that proportion. Some large sales have been effected during the month for Bombay and Australia, and although there has been a slight fall in prices, holders are now firm at the undermentioned quotations:—Grey syrups, 6 and under, 6.40r. to 6.55r.; 7, 6.70r. to 6.85r.; 8, 7r. to 7.15r.; 9, 7.30r. to 7.45r.; 10, 7.60r. to 7.75r., very scarce; Vesou's, extra-fine whites, 15r., very scarce; very fine whites, 14.80r; good to fine, 14.40r. to 14.50r.; medium, 14.20r. to 14.30r.; yellows, fine to very fine crystals, at 14.20r.; second quality, 13.80r.; very fine counters, 13.80r.; good to fine ditto, 13.50r.; good to fine browns, 11.40r. to 11.80r.; good to fine rations, 11.00r. to 11.20r., very scarce; brewers' crystals, good to fine, 14.60r. to 14.80r., very scarce.

THE DISTRESS AT BROKEN HILL.

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF AUSTRALIA FOR HELP.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

A meeting of the citizens' relief committee was held this afternoon in the Town Hall, the Mayor occupying the chair. The Mayor wired this morning to the directors of the Silverton Tram Company asking that free passes to the border might be granted to the unemployed, and this afternoon he received a reply asking for further information, which was duly forwarded. At the afternoon's meeting it was decided to wire to the South Australian Railway Commissioners, asking that free passes might be issued from the border at Cockburn to Petersburg to those unemployed at the Barrier who desire to seek employment at harvesting. The following circular was drafted at the meeting, and it was decided to send a number of copies to the Mayors of the various Australian municipalities, and also to the directors of the different mining companies:—"Broken Hill, 28th November, 1892. The Broken Hill Relief Committee appeal to the people of Australia for help. As the result of the late unhappy strike we have a large number of men, estimated at present at 2500, out of work. Since the strike was declared off on the 6th November the labour defence or strike committee have continued supplying the necessaries of life to the families of the unemployed. This relief cannot be continued any longer, owing to the depletion of funds, and unless other assistance is speedily forthcoming destitution and starvation must ensue. Since the strike has been declared off hundreds of men have obtained employment, and many more will no doubt gradually do so. It is plain to this committee, however, that hundreds of men will be unable to find work here again, owing to the large influx of unemployed who have taken their places. Some of those who have returned to work are contributing to the relief of those who are still out, but this is only a tithe of what is required. It is understood that the mines here will shortly extend their operations and afford employment for several hundreds of additional men; and if relief can be extended for a few weeks, we confidently believe that by this and other means the difficulty will to a very great extent be overcome. Efforts are being made to assist those who are desirous of seeking work elsewhere to do so. This committee earnestly appeals to the people of Australia for help in the present emergency, not on the ground of sympathy with the strikers, or their leaders, but because of the want and suffering entailed upon the innocent women and children. We are impressed with the magnitude of the distress, and we rely with hope upon your generous assistance to cope with it. Contributions may be posted direct or left with the Mayor of any municipality in Australia."

ALBURY, Monday.

Persons living near wayside stations on the Southern Railway complain of a rather strange inconsistency in the table of fares. For example, a first-class ticket from Albury to Sydney costs £3, but if a ticket for Sydney is taken at Ettamogah, three miles nearer to Sydney, the fare is £3 9s. This anomaly is continued, though of course to a smaller extent, at stations nearer to Wagga Wagga.

Haymaking is general throughout the district, and the yield promises to be exceptionally good. In many places a portion of the crop is cut for hay, in order to guard against the risk of fire. A strip a chain or so wide is taken off all round, and the land so left bare serves as a fire-break.

The wheat crop looks very well indeed. The straw is tall and well headed, and so far no sign of rust is reported. A little smut is noticed here and there, but nothing to speak of. In some of the early parts of the district harvesting will begin next week.

The shearing is now pretty well over, except in the Upper Murray district. The results generally are quite up to, and in many instances beyond, owners' expectations.

CROOKWELL, Monday.

A good deal of damage was caused to the orchards by the wind storm on Saturday last. A large quantity of young fruit and the branches of trees were blown off. The apple crop this year promises to be most abundant. All other fruits promise abundant yields.

Yesterday Dr. Lanigan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Goulburn, administered the sacrament of confirmation to about 60 boys and 40 girls at the Grabben Cullen church. During the ceremony the bishop delivered an address in which he condemned the system of Scripture lessons in Public schools, holding that Catholic children should not be allowed to take part in such lessons.

The harvest in this district is expected to be rather backward this year, owing to the wet spring. The crops, however, promise well.

Another agitation in regard to the Crookwell railway is on foot. It is proposed to hold a public meeting here on the 10th December, at which the members for the county and the member for Goulburn are expected to speak.

GOSFORD, Monday.

Scarlatina is prevalent in Gosford and its surroundings. A large number of scholars are excluded from the Public school in consequence of members of their various families being laid up with the epidemic.

GUNDAGAI, Monday.

The Quarter Sessions were commenced to-day before Judge Forbes. Mr. Harris was Crown prosecutor. The case against James Reardon, for obtaining £200 by false pretences from the firm of J. H. Geddes and Co., Sydney, occupied nearly the whole day, and resulted in a verdict of guilty. Reardon was sentenced to 18 months in Albury gaol. Farrel Claffey, of Tumut, charged with stealing, was found not guilty. There are two other cases for to-morrow.

HILLGROVE, Monday.

John Lewis and John Knox were arrested on Saturday, at midnight, for stealing amalgam from Baker's Creek battery, where they were employed as feeders. Twenty-four ounces of amalgam, estimated to produce 11oz. of smelted gold, were found planted in their cottage. They were brought up at the Police Court this morning. Sergeant Edwards asked for a remand till Thursday for the production of important evidence. The accused were remanded. Bail in £200 each was granted.

INVERELL, Monday.

A Hospital Sunday demonstration took place yesterday afternoon and was most successful. The friendly societies of Inverell and Tingha, and the Good Templars' lodge marched in procession, headed by the Inverell band, to the show-ground, where about 1000 people assembled. The Rev. W. Henry and Mr. G. A. Cruickshank, M.L.A., delivered addresses. A collection of over £17 was taken up.

The Sectional Committee of the Public Works Committee arrive from Guyra, via Tingha, to-morrow. The Railway League has arranged to lay evidence before them on Wednesday or Thursday, and on Friday they will be driven through the district, and its resources will be pointed out to them. They will then traverse the Glen Innes-Inverell line.

KATOOMBA, Monday.

A tennis match, Lithgow v. Katoomba, was played at Katoomba on Saturday last, and resulted in a win for the local team by 48 games to 9. The Lithgow team were completely overmatched, and did not succeed in winning a single set. A return match at Lithgow is shortly to take place.

Rear-Admiral Bowden-Smith, accompanied by his family, left for Sydney by the afternoon train to-day. During their visit they have seen all the noted sights of the district, and are loud in their praise of the beauties of the mountains. Owing to the Admiral's social duties in Sydney having necessitated his frequent visits there, the party has not visited the Jenolan Caves.

KIAMA, Monday.

The District Court was opened to-day punctually at 10 a.m., Acting Judge Coffey presiding in the absence of Judge Murray, who is engaged in the criminal cases at Darlinghurst. There were originally some 22 cases set down for hearing, but most of them were settled out of court. Two jury cases caused a good deal of local interest. In one case the City Bank was sued by Wood Brothers for overcharge of interest, the contention being that the bank agreed to make an advance at 7 per cent. per annum, and that contrary to such agreement 8 per cent. was charged during part of the time. The bank denied any such arrangement, and after a good deal of evidence the jury returned a verdict for the bank. In the second case James Byrnes and wife sued A. and J. M'Sweeny for £200 damages, alleged to have been caused to female plaintiff through the negligence of defendants' servant. The evidence in this case was most conflicting, but after a patient hearing the jury found for the plaintiff, with damages £45.

MOSS VALE, Monday.

A flower service was held at Christ Church, Bong Bong, yesterday. The church was beautifully decorated. There was a procession of children, who made floral offerings. The service was choral, and the anthem "Consider the Lilies" was sung. The incumbent (the Rev. W. A. Leech) delivered an address to the children, basing his remarks on the love towards each other taught by flowers.

The land board sat to-day, and dealt with four cases.

The second stage, at 500 and 600 yards, of the quarterly prize competition in connection with the Reserve Rifle Corps, was completed at Browley range on Saturday, with the following results:—T. Conlon, 14 handicap, total 56; H. G. Lambert, scratch, 55; H. Coleman, 2 handicap, 53; G. Bailey, 5, 53; D. Clifford, 11, 47; W. Jones, 11, 47; F. Wotton, 9, 46; and J. Prigg, 21, 44.

MURRURUNDI, Monday.

A fire occurred on Saturday evening at the residence of Mrs. Young, by which a building used as a kitchen, together with its contents, was totally destroyed. A crowd of people soon gathered, and the furniture, &c., was quickly removed from the main building to a safe distance. By dint of great exertions on the part of the spectators the fire was prevented from spreading. The building was insured in the Australian Mutual Fire Society for £150. The damage done amounts to about £50.

TAMWORTH, Monday.

An exhibition of spraying fruit trees was given at Little Paradise Gardens on Friday by Mr. T. G. Treseder, inspector of orchards under the Agricultural Department. Thirty or 40 fruit-growers were present, and Mr. Treseder explained how to mix various kinds of insecticides and fungucides, which he recommended. He then, by the aid of a Nixon pump, sprayed a tree suffering from pear mite, and answered several questions put to him. A vote of thanks to him was moved by the Mayor (Alderman Bourne), and heartily carried.

The Bishop of Newcastle held a confirmation service at St. John's Church on Sunday as a substitute for the Bishop of Grafton and Armidale, whose health precluded his attendance. The church was crowded at the morning, afternoon, and evening services. The confirmees numbered about 50. The Bishop delivered a sermon in the evening.

Mr. Hamlet, Government Analyst, arrived at Tamworth from Sydney this morning to take observations and collect samples of water from the sources of schemes for supplying Tamworth with water. He will report to the Public Works Committee, and on his report the committee will make a recommendation to Parliament.

Piallaway station, which is using the Silver shearing machines, cut out on Friday, having shorn 50,000 sheep.

TEMORA, MONDAY.

A hut belonging to a miner named Leary has been burned down. Some dynamite which was stored in the hut exploded. Luckily, it injured only one man, and he was only slightly wounded.

A great yield of wheat is expected. Many farmers anticipate getting from 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

WAGGA, MONDAY.

The funeral of the late Mr. Oliver Cox, who was well known in sporting circles, took place yesterday, and was very numerously attended.

The land board continued its sittings to-day.

MEETINGS.

LADIES' SANITARY ASSOCIATION.

It contained a résumé of the work done by the society. The annual winter course of lectures was delivered at the School of Arts. Lectures have also been delivered by Mrs. R. H. Todd at Alexandria and at North Sydney in connection with the association. The treasurer read the balance-sheet, showing a credit balance of £14 0s 11d. Harris; hon. secretary, Miss Montefiore; hon. treasurer, Miss Mullens; committee—Mrs. M. Harris, Mrs. T. The monthly meeting of the State Children's Relief Board was held at the Central Home, Paddington, yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the following members being present: The president (the Hon. W. J. Trickett, M.L.C.), the Hon. L. F. Heydon, M.L.C., Lady Windeyer, Mrs. Garran, Mrs. Goodlet, Mrs. Austen, and Lady Manning. Accounts amounting to £680 11s were passed for payment, and it was announced that during the month of November the sum of £56 2s 6d had been collected from parents for the maintenance of children and paid into the Treasury. The monthly statistical table showed that there were at the present time 2472 children (1422 boys and 1050 girls) placed out under the supervision of the department, there having been 29 children discharged to relatives during the month, and 28 admitted to departmental control. Mrs. Drought was appointed to act as lady visitor in conjunction with those already appointed to all children placed out, in, and around the district of Crookwell. Ten applications for restoration of children to relatives were received, of which two were refused and eight granted, while for the care of State children 77 applications were dealt with, 14 being refused and 63 approved.

The report of the finance committee was read, and showed that the accounts for the fortnight amounted to £127, while there was a debit balance of £1038. The works committee report was read, and it was resolved that a specification of all the works required within the borough be made and referred to the committee for investigation. The report was adopted. The inspector of nuisance's report was read, and stated that he had made his usual inspection of the yards and premises within the municipality, and found them all very clear. The dairies had been inspected and found in a satisfactory condition, while the cattle had been examined and were free from disease. Several persons had been cautioned for allowing cattle to stray in the reserves, and several dead animals had been buried. The report was received. The turncock reported that there were now 74 houses connected with the water supply. Some repairs had been effected during the week, while he recommended that 8in. pipes be ordered for repairs still to be done. The report was adopted, and council clerk instructed to attend to the ordering of the necessary pipes. In reply to Alderman Vivian, the Mayor stated the Manly Vale road was next on the list. Attention was drawn by Alderman Vivian to the discreditable state of the cemetery, and the council clerk was instructed to again write to Cardinal Moran and other trustees for the purpose of their resigning their trust into the hands of the council. Alderman Farmer moved,—"That the council clerk be instructed to furnish a list of all within the municipality who bury nightsoil on their premises." Alderman Fletcher seconded. Carried. Dr. Thomas drew attention to the stench arising from the nightsoil punts, and a letter was directed to be addressed to the Health Department on the subject.

THE TOWN HALL—A MISLEADING DATE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I wish to draw attention to the date "1892" placed on that which is now practically the front of our Town Hall. It is cut in three places, each in the form of a monogram, on the new porch facing George-street, and the thousands of passers-by in that very busy thoroughfare cannot help seeing it. I understand that the term "Centennial" Hall is to be dropped.

My objection to the new date, 1892, is that in a few years numbers of citizens will imagine that the erection of the whole building is claimed for that year. There is nothing whatever on the George-street front to show that it merely applies to the porch. It is, consequently, very misleading, if not false. As the building is a great and will be an historical one it is of importance that the date of its erection should not be misstated, and that citizens in the future should not be led to think that it does not belong to the first century of our national life. There can be little doubt that such a date as 1892 in the most conspicuous place it is possible to give it is a blunder that should at once be rectified at least by its removal.

I am, &c.,
F. B. BOYCE.

ST. VINCENT'S HOSPITAL.

OPENING OF THE NEW WING.

The ceremony of opening the wing recently erected at the St. Vincent's Hospital, Darlinghurst, was performed by his Excellency Lord Jersey yesterday afternoon. The institution was gaily decorated with bunting, and a platform was erected in the grounds of the hospital for the accommodation of the visitors. His Excellency Lord Jersey and the Countess of Jersey, accompanied by Captain Leigh, A.D.C., arrived shortly before 4 o'clock, and were met by the Cardinal, the Mayor of Sydney, the Mother Superior, and several members of the committee of the institution. Upon the arrival of the vice-regal party the band of H.M.S. Orlando played the National Anthem. The proceedings commenced shortly after 4 o'clock, and about 300 persons accepted the invitation of the Sisters of Charity to be present. Cardinal Moran occupied the chair, and among those present were the Hon. R. E. O'Connor (Minister for Justice), Hon. T. M. Slattery (Minister for Mines and Agriculture), Hon. John Toohey, M.L.C., Captain Arbuthnot (Flag Captain), Staff-Surgeon Pollard (H.M.S. Orlando), Very Rev. Dr. Carroll (Vicar-General), Very Rev. Dr. O'Horan, Very Rev. P. Keating, S.J., Very Rev. P. Le Rennetel, S.M., Dean Slattery, Dean M'Carthy, Rabbi Davis; Drs. M. L. Clune, G. Mullins, Scot-Skirving, Fairfax-Ross, W. O'Neill, G. O'Neill, C. M'Carthy, Williams, Percy Wood, A. J. Brady, O. Maher, and P. Kenna; Aldermen Landers, Waine, and Henry Chapman; and Messrs. Lautley Mort, W. Hughes, A. De Lissa, B. F. Marks, O. H. Lewis, J. F. Hennessey (Mayor of Burwood), H. M. Makinson, W. P. Plunkett, R. Prendergast, Tarlton, John Hughes (hon. treasurer), and John Lane Mullins (hon. secretary). Apologies for non-attendance were received from the following:—His Excellency Rear-Admiral Bowden-Smith, Lord Charles Scott, Hon. Edmund Barton (Attorney-General), Hon. W. L. Lyne (Minister for Works), Hon. D. O'Connor, M.L.C., Hon. Thomas Dalton, M.L.C., Sir Julian Salomons, Q.C., Acting-Justice Backhouse, Staff-Sergeant Hamilton, Messrs. J. C. Neild, J. Toohey, B. R. Wise, M.L.A., Right Rev. Dr. Murray (Bishop of Maitland), Rev. A. W. Pain (St. John's Anglican Church, Darlinghurst), Dr. Waters (H.M.S. Boomerang), Dr. Milford, and Alderman M. Harris. During the course of the proceedings over £200 was handed in, including donations of £10 10s each from his Excellency and the Cardinal, and £5 5s each from the Hon. R. E. O'Connor and the Mayor.

Cardinal MORAN, in opening the proceedings, said that a very pleasing duty devolved upon him, and that was to invite his Excellency to inaugurate the new building which had just been completed to bring to perfection that home of charity. It was now a little more than 24 years since the first beginning of that hospital was undertaken, on the very spot upon which they were then assembled, by his venerated predecessor Archbishop Polding, who had by his unaffected piety merited the veneration and the esteem not only of his own flock, but by his unaffected and universal sympathy he had gained the love and veneration of many of those who were outside that communion. During these 24 years, step by step, that beautiful building had arisen. Not only had the ground been purchased and the material walls erected, but the work of charity and of munificence of the Catholic body and of their fellow-citizens of every denomination had increased. And he was happy to attest that for every £ contributed by the Catholic body their friends of other denominations had contributed a £ and very often more. (Applause.) In these 24 years the sum of £53,000 had been collected, and as offerings of charity had been expended in the purchase of ground and the erection of buildings. Not only material work had been carried on, but everything that could add to the convenience of those who sought for relief from their sufferings, everything which the medical staff could suggest, had been carried on as far as possible to make the institution, as it was that day, as perfect in its kind as could be carried out in this country. If the material work had prospered, and had been worthy of this capital of Australia, he thought he might fairly add that the heroism of charity which had been exemplified from day to day in carrying out the work of that hospital was truly worthy of the noble sisters and of the name which they bore. There had not been a day in the 24 years but had witnessed a deed of charity, and although they were not chronicled by the daily newspapers he was sure that there was not one of them but what was chronicled in the Book of Life. And perhaps he should also add that during these 24 years the work of the institution had merited the applause of those who were worthiest of the esteem of our fellow-citizens. There was not a name written in the annals of the enlightenment of Sydney or of Australia that would not be found reckoned among the friends of St. Vincent's Hospital. He might be permitted to mention a few names, but there were so many of them. He might perhaps especially mention the late John Hubert Plunkett and Richard Coveny, and also the Right Hon. W. B. Dalley, who was ever ready with his silvery tongue and eloquence to defend the interests of our citizens, and, above all, to advocate the cause of universal charity. There was a proverb, which perhaps he might be allowed to refer to, which said, "A gem requires a casket, and a casket one to guard it." The gem in the present instance was the priceless, the most pure and most precious gem of charity, and the casket was that very beautiful edifice which had been brought to completion that day, and which, as far as the resources of the friends of St. Vincent's would permit, was in every way prepared to be worthy of the priceless gem which it guarded. And those who defended the casket containing the precious gem were the devoted Sisters of Charity. (Applause.) In that institution there were no differences recognised. Young or old, rich or poor, Jew or Gentile, heathen or pagan, Christian or non-Christian, all were received and admitted as friends—(applause)—and they endeavoured to follow in the footsteps of our Saviour, who preached universal charity, of which He was a model. (Applause.)

Alderman JOHN HUGHES (hon. treasurer) gave an outline of the work done by the institution. The hospital and grounds as completed had cost £53,000. A part of the land was granted by the Government in 1855; in 1865 an adjoining allotment was purchased for the sum of £1232 10s; in 1870 a further purchase of land was made for £1500; and finally, in 1889, another strip of land was bought for £2800. The total cost of the land had therefore been £5532 10s, and the extent of the land was over three acres. About £48,000 had been spent on the buildings, and this included £5000, the amount of the contract just completed. The present overdraft remained at only £4600, and he felt sure that it would be reduced that day. He had just received a cheque for £250 from the executors in the estate of the late Mr. Hale, and with other legacies of which they were aware, and the subscriptions of the public, he thought that they would be enabled to wipe off another £1000 of the overdraft before the close of the year. During the time the hospital had been in existence until the present year only one grant of £500 had been received from the Government towards the building fund, but, owing to the representations of Mr. Octavius Beale, the present Government made them a grant of £1000. (Applause.) It had been asserted that pauper patients were not received there, but he wished it to be plainly understood that that was perhaps the only institution in Sydney where pauper patients were received, because in those hospitals where they were admitted payment was made by the Government, but in this instance the Government did not grant any money towards carrying on the works of the hospital.

His Excellency Lord JERSEY, who, on rising, was received with loud applause, said he had great pleasure in saying a few words before he declared the new wards open. His Eminence had beautifully described that hospital as a casket containing a priceless gem. They all must have agreed with his Eminence in those words, and he was glad also to think that this casket had amongst its guardians not only the Mother Superior and the Sisters to whom such touching allusion had been made, but they also had a very sanguine treasurer. He thought that the treasurer was quite right in being sanguine, because it was wonderful when it was known that anything was going on all right how people would flock to support it. And the hospital deserved to be supported, because it opened its doors to all, and as they had just heard, no one was refused admission. And that glorious afternoon saw a fresh link in the chain which bound together the Mother Superior and the Sisters of Charity with the people of Sydney and of the whole world. For more than 20 years they had been forging those links of love and aid in carrying on the good work. He had no doubt that during that time they had had severe struggles, and those who had been the guiding directors of that hospital had had severe struggles and some misgivings, but they had always gone on with the full confidence that their work would be recognised by the public, and as was now seen they were justified, as that day saw the completion of the last wing of the hospital. And what had been the work that had been carried on there? Last year he observed no less than 1320 patients had been admitted into the hospital, besides the outdoor patients. As the hospital had been going on for more than 20 years everyone could understand what a great boon it had been to those who had been in misfortune, and what a boon it would yet prove to be to many who perhaps at that moment were rejoicing in health and activity. (Applause.) These figures told a glorious record, but the figures could not tell one-tenth or one-hundredth of what had really been going on within those walls. Figures could not tell the tender care or the sympathising words of the Sisters; figures could not tell how much hope, how much help, how much strength and health and life, under God's mercy, had been obtained through their aid. Figures were dumb upon points like these, and even sympathising and grateful hearts could not express all they felt. The other day he came there unexpectedly to see a friend who had met with a severe accident, but it would be no compliment to the Mother Superior or the sisters to say that he had found everything in perfect order. They always kept everything and everybody in perfect order. (Applause.) Well, his friend had said to him, "I have been thinking as I have been lying here what ought we to do for such a good institution," and that was a question, put, perhaps, in a more positive form which they might ask themselves, "What ought we to do for a simple St. Vincent's Hospital?" The answer was a simple one—"We ought to give it our steady and constant support." For, as had been pointed out, an hospital like that could not be continued unless it met with the liberal, constant, and steady support of the public. (Applause.) There were no great funds to fall back upon, except that great fund of common charity which he believed lay deep in the hearts of everyone of them. (Applause.) It had been stated that Parliament had last year voted £1000 towards the erection of the new wing. That was a good act of Parliament with which he imagined no one would differ. He had no doubt whatever that the members felt that their recognition was due to the broad-hearted manner in which this hospital was conducted. They recognised that here there was no haggling over the creed or the nationality of anyone who might be brought in, and that ready help was given to everyone that was in need of assistance, or had been stricken down by disease or accident. They were asked during the course of the coming years to wipe off the debt which now lies upon the hospital. It would be unnecessary for him to appeal to them for help, neither need he dilate upon the non-sectarian character of the institution. Everyone knew, or ought to know, that the "Open sesame" of the wards of St. Vincent's Hospital was the simple word "Need." Everyone knew, or ought to know, that though religion was its inspiring motive, yet by its very nature it had an attractive grace and not a deterrent force. The devotion of the Mother Superior and of the sisters was elevated by that inspiring motive of religion, which to them at times seemed to be almost divine in its power and in its effect. They realised that they were always reaping something new, and what they had done in the past was but the earnest of things which they yet should do. It had been stated that the age of chivalry had passed, and he thought that they as men must sometimes acknowledge that that was true. But they could allow that the age of charity was still in its zenith, because woman had placed it upon the highest pedestal. (Applause.) They were about to hand over these wards to the Mother Superior and the Sisters of Charity as the wisest and sincerest form which their respect and admiration could take. They knew that in their hands those who would unfortunately have to come to these wards would always be tenderly cared for and well looked after. That building might now be complete from an architect's point of view, but the work of the noble spirits could never be completed. Human suffering there must always be as long as the earth remaineth. They might well thank the Divine Author of all good that He thus inspired the hearts of the Sisters of Charity to relieve the suffering of their fellow-men by acts of kindness, of help, and of self-sacrifice. They could admire them even if they could not follow the line which they had marked out, and they could pay them the best tribute in their power by doing everything to enable them to carry on their work of charity in the best possible manner, and in accordance with modern science and modern nursing. He wished to express the thanks which he thought were due to the medical staff for the help which they rendered. (Applause.) They must not forget that this staff also did a great work of charity when they came to a hospital and gave their services. There was another matter which he would like to mention, and that was that St. Vincent's Hospital had a special claim upon the whole Empire, because it was the worthy hospital to which those of our gallant jack tars who might meet with misfortune or disease came in order to obtain assistance, and he felt quite sure that the late Admiral and the present Admiral, had they been able, would have been present to render their tribute of thanks to that hospital. They recollected that last year after the dreadful accident on the Cordelia the wounded sailors were brought there and were carefully attended, and there was not a sailor who had been to Sydney Harbour who did not know and revere the name of St. Vincent's Hospital. (Applause.) He concluded by wishing continued success to St. Vincent's Hospital and continued gratitude to those who worked inside its walls.

The Hon. R. E. O'CONNOR, in moving a vote of thanks to the Governor for his admirable address, said that his Excellency had always shown a keen interest in everything appertaining to the benefit and happiness of this country. If there was one thing more than another which had distinguished his Excellency's career, it was that warm, earnest, and intelligent interest which he took in their works of charity. During the 24 years they had been carrying on that work many of the founders had passed away, and among them was his own mother who had been one of the first benefactors of the hospital, and who as far back as 1857 presented one of the first beds there. And the rev. mother had pointed out to him that there were a number of instances where the interest in the institution had passed through two and in some cases three generations, and many of the first benefactors were represented there that day by their children and grandchildren. This fact alone proved to his mind most conclusively that these were noble women who were carrying on this splendid work. His Excellency had made reference to this hospital as being especially the hospital for our British sailors. He was quite sure that if there was one institution which might be called in every sense "Imperial" it was St. Vincent's, and he was glad to see present representatives of her Majesty's Navy to testify to that interest to which he had alluded. (Applause.)

The Hon. T. M. SLATTERY, in seconding the vote of thanks, said that since his Excellency had been in this colony he had more and more endeared himself to the people every day—(applause)—and it was not only in the constant and never-ceasing performance of high duties in which his Excellency was admired, but he had made himself, by his kindness and his generosity, a part and parcel of the people. The Countess of Jersey, too, seconded his Excellency's efforts in the advancement of the interests of all classes and all sections of the people. He was sure that if it were possible they would make his Excellency's term of office in this colony a very long one, because they not only respected but loved him. (Applause.)

The motion upon being put by the Cardinal was carried with loud acclamation.

His EXCELLENCY, in responding to the vote of thanks said that both Lady Jersey and himself were delighted to be there to help a noble work like that. He was glad to learn that something like £450 had already been collected that afternoon.

The vice-regal party and a number of the visitors then inspected the wards of the institution, after which the assemblage dispersed.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. J. J. Hasker took his benefit at the Royal Standard Theatre last night, when the attendance was not so large as the admirers of the veteran Australian actor could have wished. Mr. Hasker himself appeared in "Taming a Tiger," one of the many farces associated with the name of Charles Mathews, whose effervescent spirits gave vitality to the not too brilliant dialogue of these little pieces. Mr. Hasker's part last night was that of Chilli Chutnee, the peppery old East Indian who denounced his landlord for daring to "fresh paint, fresh paper, and fresh whitewash him." Mr. Hasker, wonderfully erect and vigorous under the weight of his 74 years, gave a capital impersonation of the ferocious Chutnee, whose hard heart had ever a soft place for his loved daughter Angela; Mr. Lancelot Booth played with spirit as the volatile Charles Beeswing; and Mr. Allen Cargo was well placed as Jacob Mutter. Mr. Hasker had a hearty reception, and was warmly called before the curtain with his colleagues at the end of the play. The farce was preceded by "A Golden Harvest," which was performed by the Government Printing Office Dramatic and Musical Society, with Miss May Granville once more as the patient heroine. This piece was produced by the same band of amateurs a short time back under the title of "The Farmer's Story," so that comment on last night's repetition is not needed. It is thought that there will be a very small surplus for Mr. Hasker when the necessary expenses have been defrayed.

The usual change of programme at the Alhambra Music Hall last night attracted a large audience. The items were listened to with enjoyment, and many members of the company received encores. "Silent Heroes," sung by the company, was the opening selection, and was followed by the song "Our Army and Navy," by Mr. A. W. Hulme. Miss Lucy Fraser contributed a military song, "The 18th Royal Irish Brigade," and was encored. "Only a Picture" was nicely given by Master E. Snell, and Mr. W. H. Downes sang sweetly "Dad's Sweetheart." Miss Millie Herbert who made her reappearance in "The only one of the rank and file," and received a hearty welcome. "Sally Horner" was sung by Mr. W. King. In the comic part of the entertainment Messrs. Horace Bent, Irving Sayles, Charles Pope, and Charles Bovis were prominent. The olio was opened with feats on the horizontal bar by Messrs. Martini, Francis, and Trevo. Horace W. Bent appeared in his specialties, "Sweetmeats." "The Rival Sisters," a farcical sketch, was given with vigour by Mr. George K. Fortescue and Miss Viola Fortescue. In this sketch were introduced the songs "He was Whistling," "For Goodness Sake," and "The Same Thing Over Again." Miss Alma Obrey sang capitally "A Lot of Little Sillies" and "Poor Weak Man," and her contributions met with a hearty reception. The whole entertainment concluded with the farce "The Arrival of Jackson."

SUSSEX-STREET FINANCING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The announcement in your issue of to-day that the Government are issuing Treasury bills with four years' currency at home (an issue which will cost them a commission of ½ per cent.) will not tend to encourage our investors here. Either the "local loan" should be withdrawn, or any outside loan should be kept back until the "local loan" has been subscribed. In any case it would seem like a breach of faith, or inability to see the harm that will ensue.

I am, &c.,
"E VETHICK."

THE NEW SOUTH WALES COMMANDANT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I notice that the "successor to our retiring Commandant, Major-General Richardson, is to be recommended by the War Office in London, and that the Agent-General is to communicate with a secretary of the Duke of Cambridge, &c." Now, Sir, the point I wish to draw attention to is this:—

Will the War Office, when considering such recommendation as above referred to, take into their consideration the officers of our own colonial forces who have borne the heat and burden of the day, especially such veterans as Colonels Roberts, Spalding, Eden, and others, all gentlemen whom we know, and as to whose ability there can be no doubt; or shall we be saddled with an officer whose principal qualification is that he has influence at home, combined with a somewhat doubtful knowledge of the duties devolving upon a colonial command (let alone the late Royal Commission, or the life of a gun),

I am, &c.,
"721, CAPTAIN."

MILITARY.

CADET ENCAMPMENT AT MIDDLE HEAD.

The encampment of metropolitan cadets on the military camping ground at Middle Head was commenced yesterday morning, when No. 2 Battalion, composed of the cadets from Cleveland-street, Redfern, Redfern West, Waterloo, Gardener's-road, Darlington, Blackfriars, Glebe, Forest Lodge, Macdonaldtown, Camperdown, and Annandale; and No. 6 Battalion, composed of the cadets from Parramatta, Parramatta South, Castle Hill, Auburn, Auburn North, Ryde, Granville North, and Granville South went under canvas. The different corps paraded at Circular Quay at 9 a.m., and half an hour later the transport steamers were under weigh for Middle Harbour. The run down to the landing stage at Middle Harbour occupied three quarters of an hour, and as the weather was gloriously fine and the sea calm the youngsters enjoyed themselves to a degree. From the landing stage they were marched to the camping ground. Everything was in readiness for their reception, and no time was lost in telling them off to tents and in issuing stores. The camp was pitched by a fatigue party of Permanent Artillery men, assisted by a fatigue party of cadets, under the direction of Quartermaster Sergeant Smith, and with its surroundings of water and timbered country it presented a very picturesque appearance. Lieutenant-colonel Paul, with his staff, went into camp on Saturday, and saw that everything was made ready for the reception of the cadets. The result was all the arrangements worked so smoothly that by midday the camp looked as though it had been occupied for several days. The total of all ranks under canvas is 579, made up as follows:—Permanent staff: 1 lieutenant-colonel, 2 majors, 1 captain, 2 first lieutenants, 1 medical officer, 1 sergeant-major, 1 quartermaster-sergeant, 1 trumpet and bugle major, 1 corporal; total, 11. Regimental staff: Attached, 4; band and drummers, 97. No. 2 Battalion—4 captains, 4 first lieutenants, 1 second lieutenant, 31 sergeants, 19 corporals, 2 buglers, 207 privates; total, 268. No. 6 Battalion: 4 captains, 2 first lieutenants, 8 colour-sergeants, 20 sergeants, 15 corporals, 2 buglers, 156 privates; total, 187. Ambulance Corps: 12. Grand total, 579.

The staff consists of Major Dettmann (general staff duties), Major Strong (brigade adjutant), Captain Mulholland and Lieutenant Hilliard (orderly officers), Lieutenant Beale, Mr. Warrant-officer Murphy, and Quartermaster-sergeant Smith. Among the officers on duty with the 2nd Battalion are Captain Thornton (commanding), Captain M'Coy (adjutant), Captain Riley, Lieutenants M'Creary, Hunt, Smith, M'Donald, Anderson, Bennett, and Mr. Thomas (teacher). With the 6th Battalion there are on duty Captain Walker, Captain Lovell, Captain Mills, Captain Swanston, Captain Milne, and two teachers. The camp includes a fully equipped field hospital, attached to which is the cadet ambulance corps. Surgeon W. Roth has charge of this department, and has the assistance of Captain Dart. The band arrangements are under the care of Bandmaster Norris.

The cadets were required to do but little yesterday. Shortly after the midday meal they were formed up on parade, and received camp instruction. Tea was served at half-past 5 o'clock, and was followed by an open-air entertainment, and at 10 o'clock "lights out" sounded. Captain Thornton acted as field officer for the day. The belt of trees surrounding the camp was considered as the boundary of the camp, and beyond this limit the cadets were not allowed to pass unless under the care of an officer or teacher.

The time-table for to-day is as follows:—Reveille, 5.15 a.m.; bathing parade, 5.45 a.m.; parade for company drill and instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers, 7 a.m.; breakfast, 8 a.m.; guard mounting, 9.30 a.m.; battalion drill, 10.30 a.m.; dinner, 12.45 p.m.; company drill, 2 p.m.; musketry instruction (including shooting), 4 p.m.; tea, 5.30 p.m.; open-air entertainment, 7.30 p.m.; retreat, sunset; tattoo, first post 9 p.m., last post 9.30 p.m.; lights out, 10 p.m. On Wednesday the greater part of the forenoon will be devoted to drill in battle formation, and in the afternoon a sports meeting will be held. On the fourth morning (Thursday) the cadets will have an early breakfast, and will then be conveyed back to Circular Quay. Their places in camp will be at once taken possession of by the cadets in the 4th and 5th Battalions, and by the Roman Catholic school corps ordinarily attached to the 3rd Battalion, viz., St. Joseph's, St. Mary's, St. Benedict's, St. Patrick's, St. Francis', Sacred Heart, and North Sydney.

THE ENGINEER CORPS.

The work of the members of the P.P. Engineer corps on Saturday was watched with a great deal of pleasure by Colonel Renny-Tailyour, R.E., the commanding engineer, who attended the parade for the purpose of making his first official inspection. The number of men on parade reached 100, and included the staff instructor, Warrant-officer C. Patron, R.E., the successor to Warrant-officer Masters, who is now garrison instructor in light field works and signalling. The corps, drawn up in line, received the inspecting officer with the customary salute, and after an examination of arms, accoutrements, and clothing had been made, the companies were put through the manual and firing exercises by Major Parrott and Captain Stuart Cansdell. Lieutenant-Colonel Rowe then exercised the corps in battalion movements, and subsequently the two companies were drilled by their respective subalterns, Lieutenants H. P. H. Copeland and Griffin, of No. 1 Company, and Lieutenants Stokes and A. Spain, of No. 2 Company. Prior to an inspection of the books of the corps, four working parties were told off from each company for engineering work, comprising single-lock spar bridging, tracing of field kitchen and ovens, constructing brushwood gabions and fascines, and signalling by flags. Trestle-frames for bridges were also put together, gun-pits and epaulments traced out upon the ground, and field-filters constructed, all these duties being performed until about 1 o'clock, when the bugles sounded "dinner." The whole afternoon was spent in placing a barrel-pier bridge across Kippax Lake in Moore Park. The material required was stored in the large shed lately erected for the corps as part of their new depot, adjacent to the cottages on the old rifle range, and situated about 400 yards from the field of operations. Work was commenced by companies simultaneously from both sides of the lake, which was supposed to represent a stream. The piers, composed of casks and baulks of timber lashed together, were formed into rafts. The shore bays or spans, where the water was shallow, were supported by trestle piers. The rafts were boomed out and warped into position, anchored and connected up by baulks, and the whole length of the bearers covered with chesses, or planks, which were racked down with lashings to form the roadway. The total length of bridge was 150ft., made up of four 15ft. spans of trestle work, and nine 10ft. spans of barrel work, the latter being made up into four rafts of two piers each. A large amount of timber was necessarily required, which, with the 56 service casks, had to be obtained from store at some considerable distance. The corps had not done any of this drill since the camp held at Windsor in 1884, where a floating bridge of the same class, but much smaller, was put across South Creek; but it having been constructed of mostly improvised material, including leaky casks, it necessarily occupied some considerable time. On the present occasion, however, by reason of the supply of proper materials and appliances by the authorities on the recommendation of the commanding engineer, and the instruction imparted by Warrant-officer Parton, the bridge was completed in one hour and a quarter, which was considered very good time for a first trial—the regulation time of the service for men constantly practised in this drill being one hour. The transport waggons and the corps were moved on to the structure, and while they were stationed there several photographs of the scene were taken by the Government official for transmission to the Chicago Exposition. The work was then dismantled and all out of the water within 20 minutes, and the material off the banks of the stream half an hour after the signal had been given. Everything was returned to the depot, and the companies having been marched back to the barracks, were dismissed a little after 6 o'clock. Colonel Rowe complimented the corps upon the amount of useful work performed, which had been rendered all the more difficult by the oppressive and boisterously dusty weather, and insufficient transport, which had necessitated a large portion of the stores being carried by hand for a distance of half a mile. Colonel Renny-Tailyour spent the whole day in inspecting the corps in its multifarious duties, and expressed to Lieutenant-Colonel Rowe his appreciation of the manner in which the drill and work of the engineers had been performed. It is understood an inaugural meeting will be held in connection with the official opening of the new depot early next year. Mention should be made of an excellent piece of work exhibited in the sand-modelling shed at the barracks. It is what is termed a "blunted redan" for the cover and occupation of a garrison consisting of 200 infantry and two field guns. Bomb-proof cover is shown in rear and obstacles in front of this work. The model is quarter full size, the earthworks being riveted with fascines, gabions, and sandbags. It is an excellent piece of modelling, and reflects great credit upon those members who voluntarily worked overtime, under the guidance of their instructor, in order to show the usefulness of the corps.

N. S. W. CAVALRY REGIMENT.

A successful carbine competition took place on Saturday at Wollongong, between the A (Sydney) Troop and B (Illawarra) Troop, which resulted in favour of the Sydney men. The team from Sydney was met at Wollongong station by representatives of B Troop with a five-horse drag, and was driven to the Queen's Hotel for lunch, after which the visitors were driven to the rifle range. On completion of the shooting the visitors were taken back to the Queen's Hotel, where a substantial dinner was provided for them by the local team, during which several toasts were honoured, and were interspersed with songs from the different members. The winning team returned to Sydney by the 9 o'clock train, after having spent a most successful and enjoyable day. Lieutenant Clark captained the Sydney men, and Captain Pringle the Illawarra.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

With his accustomed punctuality Mr. Scarr had the weights for the Rosehill December Meeting ready for public inspection yesterday forenoon, and his adjustments are set forth in another part of this paper. Victor Hugo heads the long list of candidates for the Flying Handicap with 10st 7lb, which is his full share; but Oxenham, who comes next on the list with an even 9st, has not been ill-treated, and the same remarks apply to Neta, Assayer, Lady Lovel, Veno, Drummer Boy, Gingham, Lord Hobart, and Lockstitch. Cascade, who tops the tree for the Hurdle Race, could not have been let in much lighter; but Buckley, Patrician, Stomach, Martindale, and Tourist have not been overburdened. Lullaby, Ruskinite, and Diogenes are as well in as most for the Nursery Handicap; and Idle Boy, Artist, Melton, and St. Ilario should be about suited with their respective imposts in the Steeplechase. The lengthy list of those engaged in the December Handicap has E.K. at the head of affairs and even with 9st 12lb he should give a good account of himself, while Affiance, Vespasia, Assayer, Moscow, Danton, Flora, and Gaytime have none the worst of the figures.

The general entry for the A.J.C. Summer Meeting closed yesterday with a total of 316, of which the Hurdle Race was responsible for 22; Villiers Handicap, 47; Trial Stakes, 41; Selling Plate, 21; A.J.C. Handicap, 39; Christmas Handicap, 55; Nursery Handicap, 41; Steeplechase, 14; Two-Years-Old Plate, 22; and Welter Handicap, 44. The only entry lodged at Melbourne was that of Blue and White for the Steeplechase.

The withdrawals from the A.J.C. Summer Cup, yesterday, were Argos, Donizetti, The Stroller, La Cigale, Daredevil, Playmate, and The Swell.

Quirindi Gap, Marengo Jockey Club, Nyngan Traders' and Labour Demonstration, Aberdeen, and Gunnedah race meetings were yesterday granted registration by the A.J.C. authorities.

Mr. George Kiss reports the sale by public auction yesterday of the ch m Avon Lass (14.0), to Mr. E. M'Carthy, for 80 guineas, and the b g Marangaroo (14.0), to Mr. P. Fagan, for 112 guineas.

Messrs. Joseph Leeds and Co. yesterday received a telegram from Messrs. F. and A. Martell, of Dandaloo, stating that the thoroughbred sire Gloucester, by Fireworks from Sylvia, died at the station on Saturday last. It will be remembered that Messrs. Leeds and Co. purchased the stallion for Messrs. Martell at the dispersal of the Hobartville stud.

The candidates for the A.J.C. December Stakes were reduced to 27 yesterday, and among the acceptors for that event are a number of promising youngsters, including Wanganella, Iduna, Pharamond, Currawang, Salutation, Budgeree, La Perouse, Panoply, and Nimrod.

Satisfactory support was yesterday accorded to Tattersall's Club Annual Race Meeting, the general entry for which closed with a total of 371. The entries were distributed as under:—Hurdle Race, 27; Selling Race, 13; Juvenile Stakes, 43; Pace Welter, 47; Club Handicap, 52; New Year's Gift, 66; Disposal Stakes, 12; Steeplechase, 14; Nursery Handicap, 41; and Welter Handicap, 56. The Victorian contribution consists of one nomination for the Steeplechase.

The declaration of forfeits for the leading events of Tattersall's Club annual meeting took place yesterday. Out of the original 92 entrants for the Carrington Stakes, 59 have cried content, the most prominent of the absentees being Paris, Alchemist, The Swell, Candour, Ruenalf, Wanganella, Warpaint, Whirlwind, Tridentate, Bass, Doncaster, Budgeree, Kookaburra, Cumino, Skittles, Can Can, Dutch Hoe, and Miles Standish. The candidates for Tattersall's Club Cup were reduced by 16, among whom are St. Albans II., Penance, The Swell, Rebel, Daredevil, Ruenalf, Musician, Crichton, Calculus, Tridentate, Australian Light, and Zelenda, leaving 44 acceptors.

There was no betting worthy of record at Tattersall's Club rooms yesterday on the leading events of the Randwick summer campaign, and previous quotations were unchanged. The settling over the Moorefield November reunion passed off without complaint.

The half-dozen items on the card for the Canterbury Park December meeting attracted 134 nominations yesterday, of which the Hurdle Race was responsible for 22; Flying Handicap, 25; Park Stakes, 33; December Handicap, 14; Selling Race 13; and Welter Handicap, 26. The lists are published in another part of this paper.

A MOONEE VALLEY PROTEST.

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

Bullerana (late Kelton) won the Turkeith Handicap at Moonee Valley on the 4th November, the owner of Eldorado protesting on the grounds that the change of name had not been registered, and also that the horse was under disqualification in New South Wales. The Moonee Valley stewards dismissed the objection, but to-day the V.R.C. heard the appeal against that decision. They disqualified Bullerana and awarded the race to Eldorado.

LAWN TENNIS.

NEW SOUTH WALES FOUR V. SOUTH YARRA FOUR.

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The visit of the New South Wales lawn tennis team was brought to a conclusion to-day by a match between four of the New South Wales team, viz., Webb, Huntley, Wickham, and Crane and the South Yarra Club. The game was played on the asphalt courts of the South Yarra Club. The heat was intense, but notwithstanding this the play all round was good. South Yarra was represented by A. A. Chomley, R. Green, Cramond, and A'Beckett. In opening Cramond and A'Beckett had a very close match with Crane and Wickham, but owing to the time at the disposal of the visitors being short only two sets were played. Both sets went to the South Yarra men at 6-5, but on the other courts Webb and Huntley won two sets at the same figure. In the second round Webb and Huntley lost both sets to Cramond and A'Beckett, while Wickham and Crane won both theirs. The match resulted in a narrow win for South Yarra by two games. The New South Wales men left by the Sydney express.

CRICKET.

The following matches were played on Saturday:—

Pitt, Son, and Badgery played Clifford, Love, and Co. at Stanmore, the match resulting in a draw. Scores: Pitt, Son, and Badgery, 111 (A. A. Johnston 43, A. Day 19, H. Davis 14); Clifford, Love, and Co., four wickets for 82 (W. A. Kerrigan 27 not out, M. Wallis 23 not out, Jenkins 26). Kerrigan, five wickets, and Wallis, two wickets, bowled well for Clifford, Love, and Co.; while Wright secured the best average for Pitt, Son, and Badgery.

Manly A played Leichhardt at Leichhardt. Manly winning toss took the wickets, and after losing four wickets for 101 runs the innings was declared closed (F. Ridge 62, E. Ridge 19, and O. Rawson 10). Leichhardt having an hour to bat lost five wickets for 60 runs (C. Clement 12). Clement bowled best for Leichhardt, and A. Hayes for Manly.

Mount Lachlan and Botany Borough met on the former's wicket, the game ending in a draw. A strong wind blowing at the commencement of the game helped the Mounts, who batted first—their first two wickets falling for 83 runs. The wind now ceased, and in eight overs the remaining wickets were mowed down, the innings closing for 106 runs (H. Harrington 50, W. Grant 18, and R. Medcalf 16). Botany played out time, losing nine wickets for 94 runs (W. Radford 10, E. Dive 12, W. Wheeler 19, and A. Wheeler not out 25). Harrington, four wickets for 23, and Grant, one for 7, bowled best for Mount Lachlan. A. Wheeler, five for 25, and E. Dive four for 24, did the same for the visitors.

Petersham met and defeated Steadman Imperial on the Petersham Oval. Petersham declared their innings closed with three wickets down for 200 runs (A. Gelding played a free innings for 118 not out, and did not give a single chance, T. Spence 43, and Ashdown 12 not out); Steadman Imperial scored 39 runs, the bowling of J. Taylor (six wickets for 15) and Joe Gelding (four for 20) being almost unplayable. For the losers J. Stedman, T. Harper, and J. Cousens secured a wicket each.

I Zingari Second met N.S. Church of England Grammar School on the latter's ground on Saturday, the game resulting in a tie. Scores: I Zingari, 107 (Mant 33, M'Namara 13, A. Dickson 12, and Gorman 11); Grammar School, 107 (Kendall 32, Morson 18, G. Clarke 17, and Garnold 15 not out). W. Clarke and Morson bowled best for the School, as did M'Namara and A. Dickson for I Zingari.

Stanmore and Brooklyn played on the latter's ground at Croydon, the result being a win for the former club by five wickets and 115 runs. Scores:—Brooklyn, 68 (Williams 14 not out, Gibbs 18, and Brown 12); Stanmore, five wickets for 183 (Rowley 34, Mills 63 not out, and Murray 13). For Stanmore, M'Leod took five wickets for 27 runs, and Kennedy five for 41; and for Brooklyn, Nelson, Robertson, Gibbs, and Herborn divided the wickets.

Blackheath and Katoomba College played at Katoomba, and the match resulted in a win for Blackheath by five wickets. Scores:—Blackheath 52 and four wickets for 12 (Neate 29 and 6 not out); Pitt (15 and 10) batted best for Katoomba College. In the bowling, for the victors Erwin took 12 for 33, Rowe two for 20, and Woodhead five for 10; for the losers Pitt took seven for 29, and Copeland seven for 30.

Y.M.C.A. played Apsley the return match on the Belmore wicket, and it resulted in favour of the former. Scores: Y.M.C.A., 109 for seven wickets (C. Thornton 25, Lack 20, Ansell 10); Apsley, 44 (Iddles 28). Langley bowled well for Y.M.C.A., and Sparks and Williams for Apsley.

Arncliffe and Bexley commenced a two-day match at Arncliffe. Arncliffe batted first, and scored 155 (Barnes 37, Burgiss 33, Thomas 28, H. Chilcott 22). Bexley had lost two wickets for 4 when the stumps were drawn for the day.

The Glenwoods met and defeated the Suffields by seven wickets and 4 runs in a one-day's match on Wentworth Park. Scores: Suffield, 53 (Kemp 12, E. Deane 12, Newmarch 11, and W. Deane 10); Glenwood, three wickets for 57 runs (A. Mitchell 31, C. Diamond 13, and A. Diamond 12). Hadley, five for 30, and G. Paton, four for 23, did the bowling for the winners.

St. Ignatius College played the Sydney Grammar School at Riverview, and the match resulted in a win for the former team by 93 runs. The St. Ignatius boys batted first, and put together 120 runs (D'Arcy 20, Ryan 17, Rudd and Shearer 14 each). The Grammar School team then went to the wickets, but were disposed of for 27 runs. They followed on, but at the call of time had lost three wickets for 9 runs. Dynon and Heafy bowled splendidly for the winners, obtaining nine for 26 and three for 12 respectively. Donnan bowled best for the Grammar School, securing six wickets.

A match was played on the Randwick Recreation Reserve between teams representing the "John Williams" and "Unity" Masonic lodges. There were many spectators, including a number of ladies. The Tramway Service Band, under Mr. H. Boas, played capital music. Mr. Alcock captained the local team, and Mr. Butler the visitors. The John Williams team made 41 runs (Mr. Gale 15 runs, Mr. Coulter 11, and Mr. Moss 10). The Unity team scored 51 runs, thus winning the match, the second innings not being completed when time was called. Messrs. Coulter and Alcock were the bowlers for the local team, and Messrs. Howe, Trivett, and Butler, for the visitors. In the evening an entertainment was given in the Town Hall, the chair being taken by Bro. Hugh Stewart (Master of the local lodge), who was supported by Bro. Munro, Master of the Unity Lodge. The catering was well carried out by Mr. Saunders. Alderman Spring proposed the health of the "winning team," the Rev. F. T. Trivett and Mr. Bray (Grand Secretary), responding. Mr. Hugh M'Kinnon, M.L.A., proposed "the losers," responded to by Mr. Gale. The Mayor of Randwick (Mr. James Robertson), in responding to the toast of his health, said that a 20-acre park would shortly be available for cricket and other sports in the locality. A number of songs, recitations, &c., were given, Mr. Howe, organist of the visiting lodge, presiding at the piano. Presentations were made to the highest individual scorer, and to the captain of the winning team.

Waverley A played Strathfield Nomads on the Waverley Oval, and the match terminated in a tie. The Straths won the toss and sent the locals in the field, but they could make no headway against the bowling of S. Bethell and O. Precious. The former secured five wickets for 12 runs, and the latter three for 14 runs. The innings terminated for 26 runs. The locals also succeeded in getting 26 runs, Connell and Johnson taking the wickets. In the Strathfields' second essay five wickets had fallen for 60 runs when time was called.

Ivanhoe and I Zingari terminated their premiership match on the Rushcutter Bay Oval. The Ivanhoes managed to win by the bare majority of 6 runs. W. J. Camphin played a remarkably fine game for the winning team. Scores:—

Ivanhoe A and Balmain commenced their match for the first junior cup under very unfavourable auspices on the Agricultural Ground. The wind blew with terrific force, and the dust flew in clouds around the ground. The Balmains were dismissed for 92 runs, G. Corkhill making 23, T. Storey 23, and W. Kelk 13. R. Alderson bowled splendidly for Ivanhoe A, and secured six for 42, while J. C. Davis captured three for 15. The Ivanhoes have lost two wickets for 71, J. C. Davis having made 37 not out, and W. MOSS VALE, MONDAY.

A cricket match was played on Saturday between the St. John's Recreation Club and the Robertson Cricket Club. It resulted in a win for the latter team by 11 runs.

CYCLING.

The Sydney Bicycle Club committee met at Milthorpe's Hotel on Friday evening, when there were present:—Messrs. W. R. George (chairman), H. A. Fry, C. A. Marshall, R. Harvey, S. J. Wyatt, J. Wilkes, D. M. Wilkes, and J. C. Heighway, hon. secretary. The following new members were elected:—Messrs. J. T. Pearson, H. Peach, W. M'Lean, and W. J. Taubmann. Mr. J. H. Murray was elected a life member. A challenge was received from St. Leonards B. C. to row a four-oar boatrace during January next, and it was decided to accept it.

THE NATIONAL REGATTA.

Although only one meeting has been held for making arrangements for the holding of the National Regatta, there is already strong opposition against this long-established fixture. Last Anniversary Day, it will be remembered, that in consequence of the exclusion of the coloured sail boats from entering, the owners of these craft held an opposition regatta on their own account. The Coloured Sail Club has now collapsed, and it was naturally thought that for next Anniversary Day no exception would be taken to the regatta. Opposition, however, is manifested from a quite unthought-of quarter. The Rowing Association, it is understood, will refuse at any regatta to allow crews from the associated clubs to compete with crews from the non-associated clubs. The association can see that at a public regatta, like the one held on Anniversary Day, it would not have the power to exclude the non-associated clubs, and it has therefore decided to hold a regatta on its own account. Towards this object a prominent sporting man has promised £200, if a like sum is raised by subscriptions.

BALMAIN SAILING REGATTA.

A large gathering assembled at Leach's Commercial Hotel, Balmain, last night, to witness the presentation of the prizes won at the regatta which took place at Johnstone's Bay on the 9th instant. It will be remembered that owing to the annual sailing and rowing regatta usually held on the anniversary of the Prince of Wales' Birthday falling through, a number of sailing enthusiasts, principally members of the Johnstone's Bay Sailing Club, met and arranged a sailing programme, with the result that the undertaking proved a great success. Mr. W. Garden presided at last night's meeting, and handed over the prizes to the successful competitors. After the presentation, a vote of thanks was accorded to those gentlemen who had assisted on the committee, special mention being made of Messrs. Leach and Garden, the former for his success in obtaining subscriptions, and the latter for his efforts in securing a flagship free of cost. Mr. Garden suitably responded, congratulating all interested on the success of the regatta, and specially referring to the kindness of Captain Joss, of the Romanoff, in placing his ship at the committee's disposal.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY EVENING.

For ordinary investment stocks on the Stock and Share market to-day there was very little inquiry, and only two transactions are mentioned. Business in mining stocks was also less active than last week. In banks no transactions were reported, and the quotations for all of them were about the same as on Friday evening. Steam stocks were neglected. Port Jackson were a trifle dearer. United Insurance were quitted at the previous sale price, quotations for other insurance being as before. Australian Gaslight were dealt in, and the market closed a trifle firmer. No business was done in breweries, Tooth's being a trifle easier. Miscellaneous stocks were dull of sale. Colonial Sugar were rather lower; others were about the same. Investment and Land and Building were unaltered, no business being reported.

On the Sydney Stock Exchange the following sales were reported to-day:—At 1 o'clock: United Insurance, 63s; Australian Gaslight, 13¾. The closing quotations were:—

On the Stock Exchange of New South Wales there were no sales reported to-day. The following are the closing quotations, except those corresponding with the figures of the Sydney Stock Exchange published above:—Australian Joint Stock Bank, seller 20½; Bank of North Queensland, seller 57s 6d; Federal Bank, seller 17s; Bank of New South Wales, buyer 59½; Royal Bank of Queensland, seller 88s; City Mutual Insurance, seller 2s; Mercantile Mutual Insurance, buyer 6s; Tooth's Brewery, buyer 16s 9d; Colonial Sugar, 20 paid, buyer 26¼; Emu Gravel, buyer 12s 6d; Shale and Oil, buyer 7s 6d; Broken Hill Water Supply, buyer 7s 9d; Mont de Piété, buyer 22s; Equitable Building, seller 55½; Industrial Provident Building, seller 16½; Sydney Freehold Building, buyer 12s 3d, seller 13s 3d; Sydney Permanent Building, seller 5s.

The steamer Alameda, which sailed to-day for San Francisco, via ports, took gold specie shipped by the Bank of New Zealand valued at £100,000.

The Government is now offering £500,000 4 per cent. Treasury Bills, half the balance of the authorised issue, the price of issue being par. If interest is given to the investor from October the absolute yield of the bills cannot be said to exceed 99½. The issues of Treasury Bills by the Government in England have been as follows:—

—	Amount.	Currency Years.	Price of Issue.
January, 1892	£1,250,000	2	99½
May, 1892	1,000,000	3½	100½
November, 1892	500,000	4	100

It would seem that the colony cannot now borrow money in England for a short period under about 4½ per cent., the result being little if anything better than that of the issue on January last. It is evident there is no large market for short-dated colonial securities. It was never thought that any appeal of this kind would be made for such considerable sums on these bonds as £2,750,000 in a year. Securities of this class are supposed to be raised for emergency purposes, and to be limited in amount. But with the present sum of £500,000, the English issue alone, amounting to £2,750,000, would amount to about £2 5s per head of the population, all obtained within a year. What would be thought if the Government of England proposed to issue £85,000,000 of Treasury bills in a year? Yet that is the amount that would be required on a population basis to parallel the issue of this colony. The total amount of British Treasury bills current at the latest mail was only £9,546,000. In the circumstances it is perhaps not very surprising to be told that the effect of the issue of a further batch of these Treasury bills has been the reduction of the quotations for colonial stocks by ¼ per cent.

The proposals of the American representatives at the Monetary Conference are substantially comprised in bi-metallism, with a ratio fixed, both metals being full legal tender. It appears that the representatives of France, Holland, Spain, and Mexico support these proposals; other Powers having reserved their views. What the English proposals will be we have yet to learn; but it is expected that they will be submitted forthwith. How, otherwise than by bi-metallism or by more silver in our token money, a larger use of silver can be effected it is difficult to see. The proposal to abolish bronze coinage, suggested by the South Australian delegate, would create inconvenience. Silver halfpennies would be very small and inconvenient coins, and yet the requirements of trade could hardly be met without a coin of the same value. A suggestion made that the half-sovereign should be abolished, and a silver certificate used in its place, would require the use of more silver; but it would be an awkward and singular feature in our monetary system. The Government of Great Britain will no doubt act in the country's interests, going as far as it possibly can, no doubt, to serve the interests of its great Indian possessions. And if the proposals of its representatives conform to that end they may be acceptable, but not otherwise. England will practically govern the conference; and the utmost that is likely to come out of it is the larger use of silver in the currency which she may be disposed to concede. For that the silver-producing countries will have to be thankful.

The seventh annual report of the North Queensland Insurance Company, for presentation to the shareholders at a meeting to-morrow (Tuesday), states that the year's premiums amounted to £47,827; commission received, £304; interest, £2181; and previous balance, £862; making a total of £51,176. On the other side losses had absorbed £22,587; charges, £10,394; reinsurances, £11,847; return premiums, £1544; bad debts, £20; leaving a balance of profit, including £862 brought forward, of £4782. It is now proposed to pay 5 per cent. dividend on the capital of the company, absorbing £2671; to add £1500 to reserve fund, making a total reserve of £6500; and to carry forward the balance of £611.

In our special advertisement columns it is announced that a dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum will be paid by the London Chartered Bank of Australia, on the 1st December.

IMPORT MARKETS.

The trade of the day disclosed no new feature. Buying was confined chiefly to small lines of goods for the requirements of the day. The breadstuffs market is unaltered. The European markets have an easier tendency. The American market is said to have an upward movement, though the price of 77½ cents for red winter wheat at New York is half a cent lower than the quotation of last week. The business done in tea was of no great importance. For low tea 5½d is the bottom quotation, while most holders quote 5¾d. Of the cargo of the Airlie (s.), which consists of 14,000 packages, about 4000 are for Sydney; in all, less than 600 tons, chiefly good common to medium qualities. Foochow advice to 5th November is to the effect that 363,216 chests congou had been settled, against 385,765 at the corresponding period of last year; but the stock on hand was reduced to 10,284 chests, against 51,735 chests last year. The quantity of scented tea settled was 36,618 boxes, against 44,505 last year, and the stock amounted to 4382 boxes, as compared with 5495 boxes at the like period of 1890. Messrs. Bathgate and Co., from whose circular these particulars are copied, report as follows on the state of the Foochow market:—

We last had this pleasure on the 13th ultimo, and in the interval that has elapsed about 20,000 chests congou have been settled at prices ranging from 10tls. to 23tls. o.b. Low to mean common congou is scarce, and has been freely dealt in at advancing prices. At the close the lowest quotation is 11tls. o.b. for low common tea with blackish infusion. Medium second-crop panyongs have been taken to the extent of about 3800 chests at from 15tls. to 17tls. o.b. The stock is now reduced to a small compass, and the figures for panyongs are about—First crop, 2000 chests; second and third crops, 2000 chests. The first-crop teas from the Saryune, Seu Moo, Toong Hing Tong, Yong How, and Suey Cut districts have been all cleared from the market. There still remains on hand about 2600 quarter-chests first-crop paklin and about 3000 quarter-chests first-crop buds, the balance of our stock consisting of about 5000 chests low district and Foochow packed teas. The export to Europe is 16½ million lb.; and with the prospect statistically of an improvement in the London market, the balance of the season's supply may easily be settled by London buyers, leaving almost nil for Australian requirements. Quotations are: Dust siftings and broken leaf, 9d. o.b. to 10tls. o.b.; low common to good common, 10tls. o.b. to 13tls. o.b.; good common to medium, 13tls. to 17tls. o.b.; good medium, 22tls. to 25tls. o.b. Scented orange pekoes: Settlements for the months are 3820 boxes at 15tls. to 23tls. o.b. Scented caper is finished for the season. The supply has been 2600 boxes. Exchange is steady. The closing rate is 2s 10½d for six months' sight credits. Freights: The Airlie takes about 1800 tons. Rates are unaltered.

In dried fruits the business of the day was done at the rates current last week. The sugar market remains very firm. Concerning the Brisbane market the Courier of Friday says:—"Respecting the sugar market there is little to say. Scarcely any alteration has taken place in prices, although the agents for special makes of whites are holding out for slightly higher values. The stocks of good quality whites are plentiful, consignments coming to hand regularly, and from £18 10s to £19 10s is asked. Second whites are still scarce, and anything quoted below £17 10s is readily taken up. For second whites of good quality purchasers can easily be found, as a large quantity is required for manufacturing purposes. Yellows in short supply; good samples of yellow crystals bring £16 to £17. Locally the demand for rations is very small, but there have been inquiries from the South for ration sugars, and parcels have been quitted to Southern purchasers at satisfactory prices." English hams are moving off from 12d. Stearine candles from 5½d in large parcels. The demand for liquids is decidedly slack for the time of the year. Geneva and rum are both rather easier, though not quotably lower. Good parcels of blasting powder have been sold at 5½d. Kerosene oil in brisk demand at from 1s 3d for high-test, rather less being accepted for forward delivery. From Manila under date 3rd October, Messrs. Warner, Blodgett, and Co. report that 876 bales of hemp had been cleared for Australia, making 12,084 bales to date from 1st January, against 16,128 bales to the corresponding period of last year. They report on the market as follows:—

Hemp.—Immediately after the departure of the last mail buyers commenced operating, parcels changing hands at 10·80dol. to 10·75dol. per picul, but buyers were afterwards compelled to withdraw owing to dealers' pretensions being too high. However, during the past three days, in spite of the decline in the United Kingdom, some 5000 bales ordinary cargo have been placed at 10·87½dol. per picul. The future of prices depends upon the action of the province dealers, who will ultimately give way if exporters' requirements are not too urgent. We quote current at 10·87½dol. per picul, or, say, at exchange, 3s 1½d—£30 0s 4d per ton f.o.b.

Messrs. Harris and Ackman advertise for sale by auction to-morrow (Tuesday) morning colonial and Queensland sugars, coffee, sultanas, condensed milk, English malt, pickles, and other oilmen's goods.

The Customs revenue received to-day amounted to £9103 14s 1d. The principal items were:—

EXPORT MARKETS.

At the local wool sales to-day the favourable news from London gave a further impetus to business. Buyers who had previously been purchasing freely at higher prices in the full belief in an advance now competed even more eagerly for the wool offered. To-day's catalogues comprised no less than 8633 bales, and almost everything offered was sold at prices rather in excess of those previously paid. Some wool was quitted privately, and the total quantity reported as sold was 9258 bales. The following details have been supplied by the selling brokers:—

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report:—For our weekly sale to-day we brought forward a catalogue of 5129 bales wool, being the largest offered this season. The selection included clips from all parts of the country, and although some were of the class which commands highest market prices, as a whole, the assortment was quite up to the average, and contained many lots of more than ordinary merit. The opening of the sales in London at an advance of 5 to 7½ per cent. in values has had very little effect on values here. For some time buyers have been expecting that the home market would show a marked improvement, and they have been buying here at advanced rates in consequence. Now that anticipations have been confirmed a more settled feeling has been engendered, and under the influence of most spirited competition from all sections of a numerous concourse of buyers, rates to-day were very firm at the highest level attained this season. Half-circle over JF, from the Young district, of fine quality, and carrying good weight, sold at 8¾d. Shiel, from Carcoar, a fine free wool, carrying good weight, made 8d. MBros over Colombo Chace, a good shafty bright wool, carefully prepared, sold at 8½d. B over Moonbie, from Forbes, a fine wool, dry, and slightly burry, sold at 7¾d. WIG over Main Camp, from Aberdeen, a fine wool, rather heavy in condition, sold for 7¾d. JE over Balowra, of fine quality and bright, from Young, realised 8d. The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, report:—At to-day's sale our catalogue of 3057 bales, which included an excellent assortment of wools from the Southern district, Upper Hunter, Coolah, and other districts, met with capital competition, the encouraging news from the London saleroom having served to create a larger amount of confidence in the future of the article. Late rates were consequently well supported in the case of all descriptions, but those who looked for the establishment of a higher range of values than that previously current as a result of the rise in prices in the home market were doomed to disappointment, as buyers operating here have for some weeks past been fully discounting the advance now being paid in London. The latter market will therefore have to take a further upward movement in order to warrant any material change in sellers' favour being made in Sydney. Should the slightest sign of greater firmness in Europe become apparent the local market would undoubtedly be immediately benefited. Competition to-day came freely from the continental trade, the bulk of the wools disposed of being secured by French and German buyers. United States buyers were, however, to the fore taking several lines of superior southern greasy fleece in light condition, while the speculative element, which was so conspicuous at the company's sale a week ago, was less striking to-day. Yorkshire operators keenly contested the sale of a large proportion of the offerings, and secured the bulk of the scoured wools sold. Since last reporting, the company's sales, which include one or two large clearances by private treaty, total 3111 bales. In greasy wools the pride of place was taken by the GM over Ravensworth clip, from Murrumbateman, near Yass. This wool opened out in grand order, being shafty, bulky, sound, and free, and perfectly even in quality throughout. Though not heavily skirted, everything had been taken off the fleeces that it was desirable to remove, and the whole of the fleece (54 bales) realised 9½d per lb., while 11 bales secured pieces and bellies brought 1½d, thus making together, perhaps, the highest average secured by any grower in this market this season. The CR over Yeumburra—a clip which stands high in the estimation of buyers—also from Yass, sold at 9½d for fleece and 8d for pieces. This wool, though a very attractive parcel, lacked its usual brilliancy, and was also a trifle short in staple, owing to an adverse season. Both these wools were taken for United States use. From Yass the R over anchor over Cavan mark, which this year bore evidence of trying times, sold at 8½d, the same figure being paid for the DIW over Gowang clip, from Coolah; for the D&M over Bulgandramine clip from Dubbo; and for the Sandiwell over C mark, from Young. From the latter centre some large lines of the well-known Memagong brand, a fine, well-bred wool, were disposed of at 8½d. One of the most attractive clips submitted was the A in circle, from Burrowa, a sound, light, free, but not heavily-skirted wool, which was placed at 8½d for all fleece. The CB over Wallan Billan, a dry fine sound-stapled wool, from Dubbo, realised 7¾d for fleece and 7½d for first pieces. The R in diamond clip, a dry shafty sound wool, from Barmedman, brought 8d, a similar figure being secured for well-bred lightly-skirted parcel, marked Goonoo over ST, from Wellington. The following is a list of the company's principal clearances:—Greasy: JP over Warrigan, 148 ewes and wethers at 7d, from Coonamble; WS over Doonside, 20 hoggets, wethers, and ewes at 8d, from Burrowa; Dale over JB, 13 hoggets and ewes at 8d, from Dubbo; FCG over Alamein, 30 first hoggets, wethers, and ewes at 8d, 35 second hoggets, wethers, and ewes at 7¾d, 1 first pieces at 7½d, from Dandaloo; JMG over Rosewood, 8 ewes and wethers at 8d, from Parkes; DIW over Gowang, 146 wethers and ewes at 8½d, 30 short fleece at 7½d, 10 first pieces at 7½d, 9 second pieces at 6½d, from Coolah; CH over Yeumburra, 20 hoggets and wethers at 9½d, 15 first pieces at 8d, from Yass; JR conjoined CB, 37 A hoggets and ewes at 7¾d, 4 B hoggets and ewes at 6½d, 18 first pieces at 6½d, from Goodooga; D&M over Bulgandramine, 40 A at 8½d, 10 C at 7½d, 7 first pieces at 7d, 8 second pieces at 6d; 18 second lambs at 6½d, 10 third lambs at 5½d, from Dubbo; TB over DUN, 22 hoggets and ewes at 7½d, from Dubbo; Ravensworth over GM, 54 hoggets, wethers, and ewes at 9½d, from Yass; RR over Narwonah, 48 hoggets, wethers, and ewes at 7¾d, 12 ewes at 7½d, 18 pieces at 7d, 6 bellies at 4½d, 6 lambs at 6½d, from Narromine; JEN over W. Messrs. J. C. Young and Co. report:—At the wool sales room, the Exchange, this afternoon, we submitted a catalogue of 447 bales. There was a large and representative gathering of buyers, and biddings came freely. The improvement noted in the London market of Friday last was fully anticipated here last week, and excepting for good medium wools, which in most cases were a farthing per lb. dearer, no improvement worth noting was experienced at to-day's sales. Certainly the buyers seemed more anxious to do business for the lots in our catalogues, but beyond this we think the market must be reported as being firm, and values, excepting in the instance already mentioned, on a par with those ruling last week. The second portion of the JKF in oblong over Ulah mark, from Walgett, again attracted considerable attention, and elicited spirited bidding, the combing making 7½d, clothing 7¾d, and second combing and clothing 7½d. The next important line was that marked [illegible], from the Molong district, a very lightly skirted wool, for which 7½d was obtained for the fleece, 4½d for pieces, and 2½d for locks. H. Butler over Lagoon over Perth made 7½d for fleece, 4½d for bellies, and 2d for locks. At auction and privately we sold 470 bales, the following being the principal sales:—Reo over Beri, from Warne, 82 bales fleece at 8d, 12 pieces at 4¾d, 5 bellies at 4½d, 3 locks at 1½d; DVS over Wahwoon, from Hay, 10 at 7d; B over [illegible], from Molong, 64 at 7½d, 8 pieces at 4½d, 4 locks at 2½d; JKF in oblong over Ulah, from Walgett, 21 first combing at 7½d, 20 first clothing at 7¾d, 15 second combing and clothing at 7½d, 8 first lambs at 6½d, 12 second lambs at 5½d, 5 third lambs at 4d; H. Butler over Lagoon over Perth, from Bathurst, 41 at 7½d, 6 bellies at 4½d, 4 pieces and locks at 2d; S&L over Invernay, from Collarendabri, 10 at 7½d; R over Hollywood, from Parkes, 15 at 7½d; B&McF, from Bathurst, 10 at 7d; JML over R over Perth, from Bathurst, 6 at 7½d; BF, 5 at 7½d; WL over Wellington, 5 at 7½d; JNM over R sky, from Dubbo, 11 crossbred at 7½d, 4 at 6½d; MM over B, from Brewarrina, 27 combing at 6½d, 22 clothing at 6d, 8 pieces at 5d, 4 bellies at 4d, &c.

Dalgety and Co., Limited, report as follows from Melbourne:—At our wool sale to-day we offered a good catalogue of 4450 bales to a full muster of buyers. Competition was exceedingly brisk for everything but the high-priced Western district wools, which, owing to the protected change in the American tariff, are temporarily neglected. For medium and lower qualities, however, the market is very strong at last week's values, with an occasional advance of a farthing. Our anticipations expressed last week of a rise in the London November sales has been fully borne out, and this intelligence has given confidence to buyers, though the advance was mostly already discounted. We sold to-day about 4000 bales, good merino fleece ranging to 10½d, and pieces to 8d, good crossbred fleece and lambs to 9½d, medium washed to 12½d, and medium scoured to 14½d. Our sales at Geelong on Friday passed off very satisfactorily. Nearly all the catalogue was sold at full prices, super greasy merino realising up to 13½d.

PRODUCE MARKET.—MONDAY.

This morning the accumulation of the receipts of forage since last Friday at the Redfern railway terminus amounted to 43 trucks. The principal portion of the consignments consisted of chaff, which included a very limited proportion of good produce. This was sold readily at high prices, but other qualities were purchased sparingly at a somewhat low range of values. There were large consignments of newly-made oaten and wheaten hay. Bright-coloured thoroughly dry lines commanded fair attention. There was one truckload of oaten and wheaten loose sheaves from the Wagga district. Lucerne hay was in moderate request. Straw was in very small supply. Derrick-pressed realised 2s 9d per cwt., and bundled wheaten straw 2s 6d. The particulars of the business transacted are as follow:—

Hay.—The supply available amounted to 20 trucks. Lucerne in bales, from Tamworth, sold from 2s 6d to 3s per cwt.; trusses, Windsor, 2s 9d to 3s 1d; derrick-pressed oaten and wheaten hay, Mudgee, 3s; wheaten hay, bundles, 3s 9d; old, 2s 9d; oaten, 3s to 4s 6d; loose new wheaten sheaves, Windsor, 1s 10d; new oaten and wheaten, in bundles, from Raglan, 4s to 4s 2d; loose oaten sheaves, 2s 11d; loose oaten and wheaten sheaves, from Wagga, 3s 9d.

Straw. Two trucks were available. Straw in bundles was disposed of at 2s 6d per cwt.; derrick-pressed, 2s 9d.

Chaff.—The amount received was 23 truckloads. Oaten and wheaten chaff realised from 3s 6d to … per cwt.; superior lines, 5s 3d to 5s 6d; oaten straw chaff, 2s 5d to 2s 6d; lucerne chaff, in bags, 3s 2d; lucerne and oaten mixed, 3s 7d.

Potatoes.—New potatoes from East Maitland sold at 4s 9d per cwt.

At the wharfs another very quiet day passed. The principal feature of interest was the firmness of the maize market, notwithstanding that outside supplies, especially of New Zealand maize, had been received. Additional supplies of oats have also come to hand, and Saturday quotations of the best lots may be repeated. There was no improvement in the inquiry for bran. Sales of pollard were mostly of a retail character. Stocks of intercolonial chaff have been replenished, and the demand was confined to bright dry green lines at about the closing figures of last week. Victorian onions were dull of sale, and lower rates are anticipated. Further shipments of Hunter and Clarence Rivers were available, as also were some Queensland lines. Locally grown red skin river potatoes in marketable order were saleable at £5 per ton. Early rose seed quoted at £4 15s. New Zealand potatoes were purchased in very limited quantities up to £3 10s. Butter was still plentiful, and export orders to the extent of 3235 boxes were sent away to-day by the steamer Oceana. Good well-matured cheese was in fair request. Eggs were saleable at 9d per dozen. Fresh consignments of poultry were received. Young birds sell readily. The wholesale quotations were:—

Wheat.—Victorian was quoted to 4s 4d per cwt.

Flour.—Steady inquiry. South Australian roller-made was worth £10 15s to £11 per ton; New South Wales and Victorian, £10 5s to £10 10s; stone brands, £9 10s to £10.

Bran worth 9½d per bushel.

Pollard.—Fair inquiry. Quoted at 10½d per bushel.

Bacon.—Dull of sale. Hand-cured was quoted from 6d to 6½d per lb.; machine-cured, 4d to 5d; middles, to 9d; colonial hams, 8d to 10d; English, 1s.

Eggs.—Brisk inquiry. Northern eggs were valued at 8d per dozen; southern, 9½d to 10d.

Poultry.—The ruling figures were as follows: 2s 9d to 3s 6d per pair for fowls; to 4s 6d if young and choice; 3s to 3s 6d for ducks; 5s 6d to 7s geese; 5s to 10s turkeys.

FAT STOCK SALES.

At the Homebush fat stock sales yesterday 997 head of cattle were yarded. The market ruled firmer. Best beef worth about 14s per 100lb. Prime bullocks averaged £6 6s 5d per head; others from £4 18s 4d; cows, £3 9s 1d to £4 6s. 16,645 sheep were penned. The market was much better, and sales closed very firm. The best lot of merino wethers sold at 12s per head; others from 5s; ewes, 2s 9d to 9s 2d. Quotations for lambs ranged from 3s 4d to 8s 2d. The following sales are reported:—By Messrs. GREAT COBAR COPPER MINE.

The adjourned special general meeting of the Great Cobar Copper Mining Company, Limited, was held in the Mercantile Mutual-chambers, Pitt-street, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Russell Barton, chairman of directors, presided, and there was a large attendance of shareholders.

A preliminary discussion took place as to whether Mr. Williams, late manager of the mine, should be allowed to be present. The chairman said that Mr. Williams, having been manager of the mine for many years, would be able to answer questions which the directors perhaps could not. Objection was raised to Mr. Williams's presence, but the chairman asked him to remain, so that he would be able to answer questions. In reply to a question, the Chairman said: "As chairman of this meeting I elect that Mr. Williams shall stay here and give any information required."

Mr. HOGAN moved,—"That the meeting dissents from the ruling of the chairman, and that Mr. Williams be excluded."

The CHAIRMAN said he would not put it to the meeting.

Mr. HOGAN asked the chairman to note it. In a certain high-handed manner the chairman had ruled the mine for a number of years, and now that his management was under investigation, the meeting should not be smothered by his friends. It was a shareholders' meeting, and he could not see any justification why the chairman should go against the wishes of the shareholders.

The CHAIRMAN: It is not the wish of the shareholders.

Mr. HOGAN: It is the wish of this meeting.

The CHAIRMAN: This meeting does not represent the shareholders.

Mr. HOGAN: Then it represents a considerable section of the shareholders, and that section is entitled to respect. If you will not put the motion I ask you to note it.

The CHAIRMAN said that the objection having been noted they would proceed to business.

Mr. KEMP, chairman of the shareholders' committee of investigation, read the report, which stated that the committee had met almost daily, and had to thank the officers of the company for the courtesy and facilities afforded in the inquiry. Time had not enabled them to make as thorough an investigation as they could have wished, and it was necessary to call in the assistance of James Robertson to examine the accounts. Except in one or two particulars it had not been possible to go further back than the last three years. By clause 41 of articles of association the consent of a special general meeting was required before any sale of the company's land was contracted for, nevertheless the directors had assumed to sell some of the company's land, a block of 40 acres having been subdivided into 97 allotments and offered for sale; 69 had been assumed to be sold for £2193. The portion offered was the most valuable for its area in the company's estate, and the time chosen was inopportune. However, the committee thought the most judicious course would be to sanction those sales, but at the same time enjoin that no more should be made. The eastern lode had been very cursorily referred to in the last three half-yearly reports. The committee considered that the lode was of considerable richness, and as this was known to the directors they were unable to understand why further attempts had not been made to test its capabilities more fully to ascertain the possibility of reopening the mine. In regard to directors' fees, in the last profit and loss account there appeared on the debtor side an item—£1604 5s. Of this amount, £1375 was claimed by the directors for fees for the period from the 30th September, 1889, to the 30th June, 1892. The rates at which they were calculated was £100 per annum for each director. During that period 44 meetings of directors were held, but only 40 were regular. Giving the directors credit for every meeting the fees claimed by them on account of each meeting amounted to £31 11s 8d, or slightly over £6 6s each director per sitting. In a number of instances the minutes were left unsigned. If the board could not show that it had fulfilled the duties imposed by the articles there could be no reasonable claim for the full fee. The committee recommend that a special general meeting be called to alter the articles of association in regard to directors' fees, by inserting the words "and not otherwise" after the word "meeting," and in other ways. The committee also considered that the payment of £64 12s being paid for a gold watch to present to the late mining manager was an improper use to make of the funds. During 1889 £600 was paid to Mr. T. H. Kelly, one of the directors, as commission for sale of copper taken by the French Bank. The committee had been unable to ascertain very clearly what justification there was for these payments, which called for a full explanation from the board. In September, 1889, £4000 was deposited with the Mort's Dock and Engineering Company for six months at call. It represented almost the whole of the working capital of the mine. It did not appear that any interest was drawn on account until 10 months afterwards, when arrears were paid up to the close of the preceding half-year. A period of 18 months was then allowed to elapse without any more interest being drawn; £1000 of the principal was repaid during last year. The committee submitted for consideration whether these facts exhibited prudence and care. In conclusion, the committee expressed the conviction that a fuller investigation should be made, and recommended that their powers be continued, and they be called upon for another report at the next half-yearly meeting. They found that the directors had disregarded the articles of association in important matters, had sold the pick of the company's land without warrant and not to advantage, had been frittering away the funds by lavish and improper expenditure, had made exorbitant demands for remuneration, and had shown a lack of prudence and activity in the management of affairs. Mr. Kemp concluded by moving the adoption of the report.

Mr. KELLY said that his name had been most disingenuously mentioned in the report. He explained at length the circumstances concerning his purchase of the copper, and pointed out that the commission which he was alleged to have received was simply for remittance to London to satisfy charges of commission with the French copper syndicate, which was formed in France four years ago to control the copper of the world. He had heard some rumour of this reference being made to him by the committee, and he had taken a member of the committee, Mr. Moore, to his office to satisfy him as to the circumstances. He thought he satisfied Mr. Moore as far as he could. The gentlemen of the committee themselves admitted that they were not satisfied with the investigation, and yet they drew in his name in this way. If they would elect any respectable man with a knowledge of business, he would satisfy him from his own books with regard to the transaction in five minutes.

Mr. HOGAN said he would not vote for the report, because it was not strong enough. As regards the sale of part of the company's property, he contended that the sale was illegal, and stated that, as a shareholder, he would lodge a caveat against the certificate of title, and leave the directors to fight it out. He considered that the articles of association should be amended.

Dr. SLY said that Mr. Hogan had referred to him having given some advice. He did not give any such advice regarding the sale of the land. In all articles of association that he drew up he authorised the directors to sell at discretion. He did not draw up these articles, which were rather peculiar ones, and under them perhaps a special meeting ought to have been held.

Captain BROOMFIELD referred to strictures passed on the lending of money to Mort's Dock Company, and justified that proceeding, asking the meeting to point out any other place where the money could have been deposited at 6 per cent. at call.

Mr. RANDLE spoke condemning the manner in which the charges had been levelled at the directorate, and in opposition to the adoption of the report.

Mr. KELLY said that there never was any very unanimous desire on the part of the board to take these directors' fees, but they were brought forward as a matter of course, in accordance with a clause in the articles. Personally he did not think that when a mine was hung up fees should be paid, and had the matter been approached in a decent manner all this trouble might have been avoided. Naturally a plucky man when he was struck would strike back. After the expression of opinion he would not touch a penny of the fees.

The CHAIRMAN said that those who were simply interested as shareholders, and had no other interest or feeling outside that, must by that time know the value of the accusations. Their solicitor did not advise the directors that they had power to sell under the articles of association. He presumed that in this instance the solicitor, as in all others, had simply been asked to draw out the conditions of sale in accordance with the articles of association. In 1878, sixty acres of the company's land was put up for sale. At that time the then solicitors were asked in the usual way to draw up the conditions of sale, and they did not advise the directors that they had not power to sell. Had they done so, the directors would have taken the proper steps. The sale went on, no exception was taken to it, and since then the directors had been in the habit of thinking that they were empowered to sell land for the benefit of the company, and they had on many occasions since that put up land for sale. There was the whole mare's-nest in reference to that. Mr. Hogan might upset the title to some piece of land, but as the board of directors they took the responsibilities, and were relieved of them in a legal way. They had acted in the interests of the shareholders. Having had experience of the Cobar district from before the time when there was a house upon it, they had worked patiently and persistently, and the mine had paid some £150,000 in dividends. In reference to the Eastern lode, they had given in the reports all the information that they had to give. They had inquired from time to time in reference to the lode. There was a lode, and in that lode were certain stones of ore, but there never was a lode sufficient to authorise the directors to open it. The directors' fees were not paid weekly for the amount of work done in that week. He had been responsible for enormous overdrafts on the company without any security. There was nothing in the articles of association to force the directors to attend more meetings than they considered necessary. The directors had worked the mine for many years with great success. He had done his best to work the mine for the interest of the shareholders—not for Cobar, he admitted. When the late manager left the mine he had a legal right to several things, which he waived; he had been in the mine for a number of years, and the directors felt under a considerable obligation to him. In financial companies it was quite usual to place from £1000 to £10,000 with Mort's Dock, and draw it out as it was wanted. What was the use of the directors if the company was not to profit by their experience? With regard to the sale of ore to Noumea, the directors learned that a class of low-grade ore they could supply was required for flux, and they sold this ore with the prospect, if the trial was a success, of a payable contract. This was not made public, because it it had other mining companies would have been able to supply the same ore cheaper, and what they had gained by bringing this forward was the competition of other mines. After what had occurred, he intended to have his fees to the last farthing.

The motion for the adoption of the report and its recommendations was put to the meeting and carried, and it was also decided that the report be printed and circulated.

The debate, which was very heated and very general in character, was continued for some time, and motions were suggested, made, withdrawn, or postponed. Ultimately the gathering dispersed.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

MUDGEE, MONDAY.

At the Log Paddock, near Mudgee, good progress is being made by the contractors, who have in hand the work of sinking the main shaft. They are now down about 50ft., and have struck the water. They are now slabbing. The machinery is expected to arrive next week. Boring operations are also going on apace.

TUMBERUMBA, MONDAY.

The results of the washing-up at the Tumberumba Flat Sluicing Company is startling, and causing some excitement. The average return so far is about 3oz. to 12ft. square of wash, which is dipping and getting richer towards the western bank, the slate side of the country. Teams left to-day to bring on the new machinery from the Wagga railway station.

GUNDAGAI, MONDAY.

Very good accounts are coming to hand of the alluvial gold mining at Tumbarumba. One of the directors of the Tumbarumba Flat Sluicing Company has just finished an inspection of the company's claim. On the 22nd instant he witnessed the first wash-up, which produced between 3dwt. and 4dwt. gold per square yard, which yield eclipsed all expectations. The result was considered exceedingly encouraging by the directors, who hold hopes of the claim eventually returning handsome dividends. The claim, which is worked by a Sydney syndicate, covers a space of 2½ miles in length and 4 chains in breadth, which ground it is intended to thoroughly test.

The usual monthly gold escort from Adelong left for Sydney yesterday, carrying 226oz. 6dwt. 15gr. from Adelong, 40oz. 8dwt. from Tumut, and 95oz. 6dwt. 17gr. from Tumbarumba.

FLYING-FOXES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of to-day appears a letter from Mr. Angus Mackay, F.C.S., "To Destroy Flying-Foxes." He suggests the spraying of fruit trees with Paris green, 1lb. to 100 gallons of water. Now, if the native fig trees are still bearing fruit, it would be a good opportunity for the Government to experiment on them in the parks and the large tree near Mort's statue. It could be done at a small cost by some of the unemployed. I would recommend that those who are suffering from the pest should at once bring the matter before the proper authorities before the fig season is over.

THE LABOUR QUESTION.

MEETING IN THE PROTESTANT HALL.

A meeting that was described as the awakening of giant labour was held in the Protestant Hall, Castlereagh-street, last night; but the attendance was not large, not more than 70 or 80 persons occupying the spacious galleries, and the body of the hall contained many vacant chairs.

The Rev. G. Walters occupied the chair, and in addition to several members of labour organisations there were on the platform Messrs. T. J. Houghton, W. F. Schey, G. D. Clark, J. H. Cann, Ms.L.A., and a number of ladies.

The CHAIRMAN said that as there were not many members of Parliament present there should not be much difficulty in maintaining law and order. (Laughter.) According to some of the advertisements that had appeared recently the giant, labour, was supposed to be waking up that night. From the events of the last few years one would have hardly supposed that the giant, labour, had been asleep; but it probably meant that labour was beginning to awake to the realisation of the fact that strikes and locks-out were not the best and only remedy for the ills that had overtaken society. Labour was waking up to the knowledge that every kind of warfare was more or less a relic of barbarism, and a conflict between labour and capital was nearly as costly as a conflict between two nations—costly to the victor as well as to the vanquished. He did not say that strikes had never been necessary, or circumstances might not justify them even now, but they all knew—some of them perhaps too well—the misery and destitution that accompanied strikes, even as accompanied the devastating march of an invading army. In a country like that, where the ground was almost begging for cultivation, it was a shame that there should be so many seeking for work. It only required a little ordinary common-sense or a little political wisdom to devise some means to put upon the land those who were willing and anxious to cultivate it. (Hear, hear.) With such a superabundance of wisdom as they knew to be enshrined in a certain assembly in Macquarie-street, it was shameful to themselves as well as the governing powers that there should be a large army of unemployed while there was also such an extent of country uncultivated. (Cheers.) He was quite in sympathy with the desire to alleviate labour, and it should be separated from party politics and raised out of the rank of mere conflict between capital and labour. (Hear, hear.) That night they were to have the new aim of the labour party expounded to them by men who had established their right to speak in a representative capacity—more especially by the energetic and enthusiastic Mr. Spence. They were not compelled to agree with those views beforehand, and he had cheerfully accepted the invitation to preside at that meeting, because it was their duty to give impartial consideration to any and every scheme which seemed to promise a departure from the old and barbarous conflicts between labour and capital, and help on co-operation. (Cheers.) He could not believe, as an evolutionist, in any violent reconstruction of society; but he believed that much could be done to alleviate the present condition of affairs by careful consideration and an earnest desire to do their duty to society. (Cheers.)

Mr. SPENCE said that all over the world at the present day the great question was how to relieve the poorest and most distressed. If they could feel the suffering which was caused by the apathy of men in this respect they would not rest a moment while the present state of things existed. There was no need for a single unemployed man to be in Australia at the present time. (Hear, hear.) There was quite sufficient to be obtained not only to keep alive every man, but to gratify every desire of humanity. He would wish that one man owned the whole of Australia, and that he was a great tyrant; but instead of this, what had they? A number of men had seized the rights of the country, and had set up that they could deny the right to any person to live by denying him employment. They had the unemployed in this colony, and they were increasing in number. What were they to do with these men? It was essential to change the old tactics and adopt new methods. The most powerful unions in Australia had gone down one after another, and it had become abundantly evident that something else was required to be done. They should endeavour to educate public opinion and set up one aim and one object, and that was co-operation, to which definite expression would be given in the resolutions about to be proposed. Their object was to secure homes and work for all, and that was a matter in which everyone should join. Labour was at present divorced from the land. It was no use stating that the people could go on the land, because such was not the case. There were powerful financial syndicates which at present held the ground of the country, and the evil was becoming more and more every day. The fight would soon cease to be a fight between employers and employed, and would develop into a struggle between the pastoralists and the farmers and such like, and the banks. (A voice: "The pawnbrokers.") Yes; the pawnbrokers, if they liked to call them so. If the opportunities were properly used there was plenty of room to absorb the unemployed, and if there were no unemployed there would be no strike. But without dealing with the land question they could not make a start. (Hear, hear.) Of course they had all heard that Parliament would settle this matter, but no Government had ever touched the question except to make it worse. Much good, however, could be done by repealing unjust laws which were now in force. When the English first came to this country the inhabitants could live in it, but now men could not do so except on sufferance—blackfellows could obtain fish to live on in the old time, but under white men's laws the rivers were preserved to certain individuals, and they could prevent anyone else from even giving their horses a drink of water from them. The lines under which trades unions had been carried on in the past were good, but in the future those lines would have to be made broader, and the workmen must no longer, as in the past, rely upon the Government doing everything. The labour organisations had the machinery to carry out what was proposed in the way of forming co-operative settlements upon the land. The men were not asking for charity, but for an opportunity to work. (Hear, hear.) This was not a mere labour question, but was a matter which concerned every one in the community. (Hear, hear.) Organised labour must deal with this subject, because no other body would trouble itself about it. (Hear, hear.) The fiscal question was merely a factor in this matter, it was not a solution—(hear, hear)—for the land question was the basis of all economic problems. No matter what fiscal faddists said, neither freetrade nor protection would give any solution of the problem. What they wanted was to escape from employers altogether. (Applause.) They wanted mates, and not masters. Trades-unionists had showed energy and unity in the past, and now he asked them to exercise this energy and show this unity in forwarding the matter which was brought before the meeting that night. The scheme proposed would do away with the idle unemployed, who were a constant menace to unionists, and who even apart from this deserved to be looked after. The present Parliamentary labour party were gathered together hastily, and therefore, as was naturally to be expected, there was a certain percentage of failures amongst them, but the workers should not be disheartened by that. If unionists were easily disheartened they would have been beaten long ago. Of course he knew that the press would object to what he had put forward—the newspapers would say that he had given absolutely no details of the scheme—but if he had given the details they would object to those details. He trusted that when the people in Macquarie-street fell out the labour party would be able to secure a majority. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. J. C. WATSON, president of the Trades and Labour Council, moved,—"That in view of the alarming increase in the number of honest workers who cannot secure employment, whilst at the same time we have an immense field of unused natural resources, this meeting holds that there is a pressing necessity for such reform in our land and other laws as will render it possible to secure homes and work for all, under such economically sound conditions as will be lasting and progressive." (Cheers.) He said that for a number of years extensive public works had been going on in the colony, and these had attracted a large number of people who, without training, were unable to turn their hands to any other class of work. It was therefore impossible for these people to go on the land without capital, and useless for the Government to say "There is the land, they can take it up." He denied that any labour leader fattened on strikes, and said that he knew from experience that they frequently had great difficulty in restraining the men. (Hear, hear.) The machinery of politics was slow moving, and they would have to wait a long time before they could gain their ends by that means. They must, therefore, keep the unions intact, ready to take advantage of every opportunity that presented itself to benefit the position of the workers in the colony. Sir George Dibbs had put aside money, without the authority of Parliament, for many purposes, and when a question affecting so many people as the placing of them on the land had been brought before him, he should have done the same, but it was in the interests of the monopolists who ran the Government that there should be a large number of unemployed—(hear, hear)—that the whole of that meeting should be walking about without a meal to look forward to, and without sixpence in their pockets, so that when the time came that they wanted men at 6d or 1s a day less, the men would be compelled by their starvation and poverty to accept it. (Hear, hear.) They had already some of the machinery required to inaugurate the scheme outlined by Mr. Spence in the labour electoral leagues, and considering the time that they had had at their disposal before the last election they had done wonderfully well, much better than they could have anticipated. (Hear, hear.) They had succeeded in checking many of the monopolists' schemes, and more labour measures had been introduced into the House than ever before in the history of New South Wales. (Cheers.) He appealed to the workers to say whether they would by their inaction allow the incapables who at present managed the affairs of the colony to remain in office or rise up and by one mighty effort alter the existing state of affairs, and ensure to future generations a competency and the opportunity to live. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. WILSON, an ex-president of the Trades and Labour Council, seconded the motion. He said that he knew of no one who said that strikes were desirable, but the thing was to do away with the necessity for striking. (Hear, hear.) He believed that the people of the colony were at one that there should be an amendment of the land laws of the colony, and it lay at the root of the difficulty between capital and labour. (Cheers.) Party Government, as it existed in New South Wales, was a menace to labour, and they had to reform it, and see that men did not go into the House to maintain the privilege, not the rights, of monopolists. (Hear, hear.) The press had charged them with clamouring for class legislation. He said they were clamouring to do away with class legislation, which had existed from the time of the establishment of responsible Government in New South Wales, and the result had been the enriching of the few at the expense of the bulk of the masses, hence the unemployed difficulty they had to face. (Cheers.) The present Government had existed long enough, but little was to be gained by shifting them until they had one of their own construction to take their places. (Cheers.) They should, therefore, unite, and see that the interests of labour were not betrayed by members they put into the House, and he was sure that if the workers did their duty the time would not be long in coming when they would have labour properly and adequately represented. (Cheers.)

The resolution was carried without dissent.

Mr. W. G. HIGGS moved the second resolution as follows:—"That this meeting, representing various shades of thought in connection with the labour movement, realises that in order to attain success, it is absolutely essential to unite our forces and present an unbroken front to endeavour to secure the accomplishment of the aim set forth in the previous resolution." He said that he hoped the party would no longer be led away by the delusions of freetrade or protection. In the past it had been Parkes putting out Dibbs and Dibbs putting out Parkes, and the country going to the dogs all the time. The question now was, Would they pursue the shadows of freetrade and protection and fail to secure the substance which lay at their feet? What they wanted was a radical reform to do away with the unemployed question and in some measure effect the emancipation of the working classes.

Mr. PETER M'NAUGHT seconded the motion. He said that the object of the labour party was to prevent the rich robbing the poor. That was the crux of the question. He knew that no labouring man would ever demean himself in asking for anything which was not his own in virtue of his own work and ability. They had trades unions in the past, but this which was now proposed would bind them all closer together than they ever had been in the past.

The motion was put and unanimously carried.

On the motion of Mr. Lusk, seconded by Mr. Stuart, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the chairman, and Mr. Walters, in replying, said that if the labour party was to do any good for the country they must do it as a united body. (Cheers.)

The meeting then terminated.

WHITE BAY RECLAMATION.

Captain Jackson, the Government wharfinger, paid an official visit to the White Bay reclamation, Balmain, yesterday, with the view of reporting upon the wharfage facilities for the timber trade of Balmain. There were present the Mayor of the borough (Alderman J. J. Wheeler), with Mr. James Johnston, M.L.A., Alderman H. B. Swan, Mr. William Langley, manager of the Federal Timber Company, Mr. C. Petersen, and Mr. John Goodsir, borough engineer. It was stated that the Minister had advised Mr. Johnston that Captain Jackson, of the Works Department, should be seen relative to this matter, which had been done, with the result that this visit was the outcome. It was also explained that it would be a decided advantage to have this reclamation converted into a bond and storage yard for timber. The situation, it was pointed out, was most suitable in view of the fact that a large number of the most important timber yards and sawmills in the electorate were situated around the reclamation, and the cargo could be landed with great natural facilities. It was also explained to Captain Jackson that in Blair's storage yard in Melbourne importers could have their goods loaded on the spot, and could finance upon them, as in bonded stores in Sydney. If what was suggested were carried into effect, it would benefit a lot of merchants in Sydney as well. At present about £1200 or £1500 had to be planked down by local men to obtain the necessary facilities. It was suggested that the best plan to make this reclamation most economically available, as regarded berthing space and expense, would be to run out a jetty nearest the Glebe Island side 150ft. into deep water and 25ft. wide. It was also represented that 10 years ago the Government wharfs were bringing in about £10,000 per annum, whereas now they were returning something like £60,000 per annum to the Government. Mr. Petersen, one of the largest property-owners round the reclamation, offered to contribute towards the cost of the work of constructing the jetty. Mr. Langley said that he had about 2,000,000ft. of timber stored at the present time, and he did not know where he could put it, if Mr. Lyne's scheme were carried out. It would be better to put this valuable site to this purpose, as a temporary expedient at all events, than have it lying idle. The late Mr. John Sutherland had promised that this site should be converted into a wharfage and timber yard some seven years ago. The whole of the work required could be carried out in a month. It was also explained that it would be much better to construct a jetty out into deep water rather than a wharf right across the water frontage of the reclamation. Blackwattle wharf, too, would take one half the wharfage of the districts adjacent to it. Importers would save 3d in the ton per cargo on this reclamation, which was a consideration where timber was concerned. Captain Jackson said that he would prepare a report upon the matter, and that it remained now for those interested to take action. Mr. Johnston, M.L.A., promised to see the Minister, and apprise those present of the result.

THE CADET ENCAMPMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—With regard to a letter re lads fasting for 14 hours, in your issue of this morning, I trust you will allow me to correct one or two misconceptions under which your correspondent—presumably a medical man—is labouring. It is, indeed, true that "the boys are expected to take their supper at 5.30 p.m., to rise at 5.15 a.m., and then to perform parade and company drill before their breakfast, which will be served at 8 a.m." Had your correspondent only inquired at the proper quarter, he would have learnt that, practically speaking, the parade referred to is but an early morning dip in the waters of the harbour, and the drill little more than a roll call, and of short duration. Notwithstanding your correspondent's alleged experience in professionally attending many a boy who has "overdone it" (i.e., an ordinary day's drill), it is strange that he should have profited so little, and especially so in forgetting that a boy's appetite is almost invariably satisfied in camp by the contents of sundry picnic baskets, &c., and quite independently of any hours officially set apart for meals.

For a weak stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the liver they act like magic, and a few doses will be found to work wonders on the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action with the rosebud of health the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are facts testified continually by members of all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the nervous and debilitated is, BEECHAM'S PILLS HAVE the LARGEST SALE of any patent medicine in the world.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

I'd all sorts of troubles my spirits to vex,
My watches would stop—couldn't see through my specs,
When at last an old friend I happened to meet
Who took me to Saunders's great shop in George-street.
I purchased a watch, which has proved most reliable,
And a pair of 4s 6d specs there are none more desirable.

BEAD and REED BLINDS.
This pretty fashion finds ample exposition in our furnishing section. You will be surprised at our prices, because they are so different from other people's. We quote for 6ft. long and 3ft. 6in. wide, FOUR SHILLINGS each, and at that price we offer the pick of the market. They are the same as the down-town folks are asking three half-crowns for, and the difference is the middleman's profit. That's where it comes in.
WE BUY DIRECT,
and our contemporaries don't. Please make a note of it. The same rule applies to BLINDS of every description. What we do not make ourselves, we buy FIRST HAND, and the benefit comes out in the prices.
